The Red Ruby!

Starring...

Johnny Thunder and Pippin Read

Travelling the world in search of lost treasures!

Mr Hates and Slyboots

Sneaky bad guys out to steal the Adventurers' discoveries!

Pharaoh Hotep's Mummy

Ancient Egyptian guardian of the legendary Red Ruby!

Deep in the Egyptian desert...

Look, Johnny! We've found the Temple of Anubis!

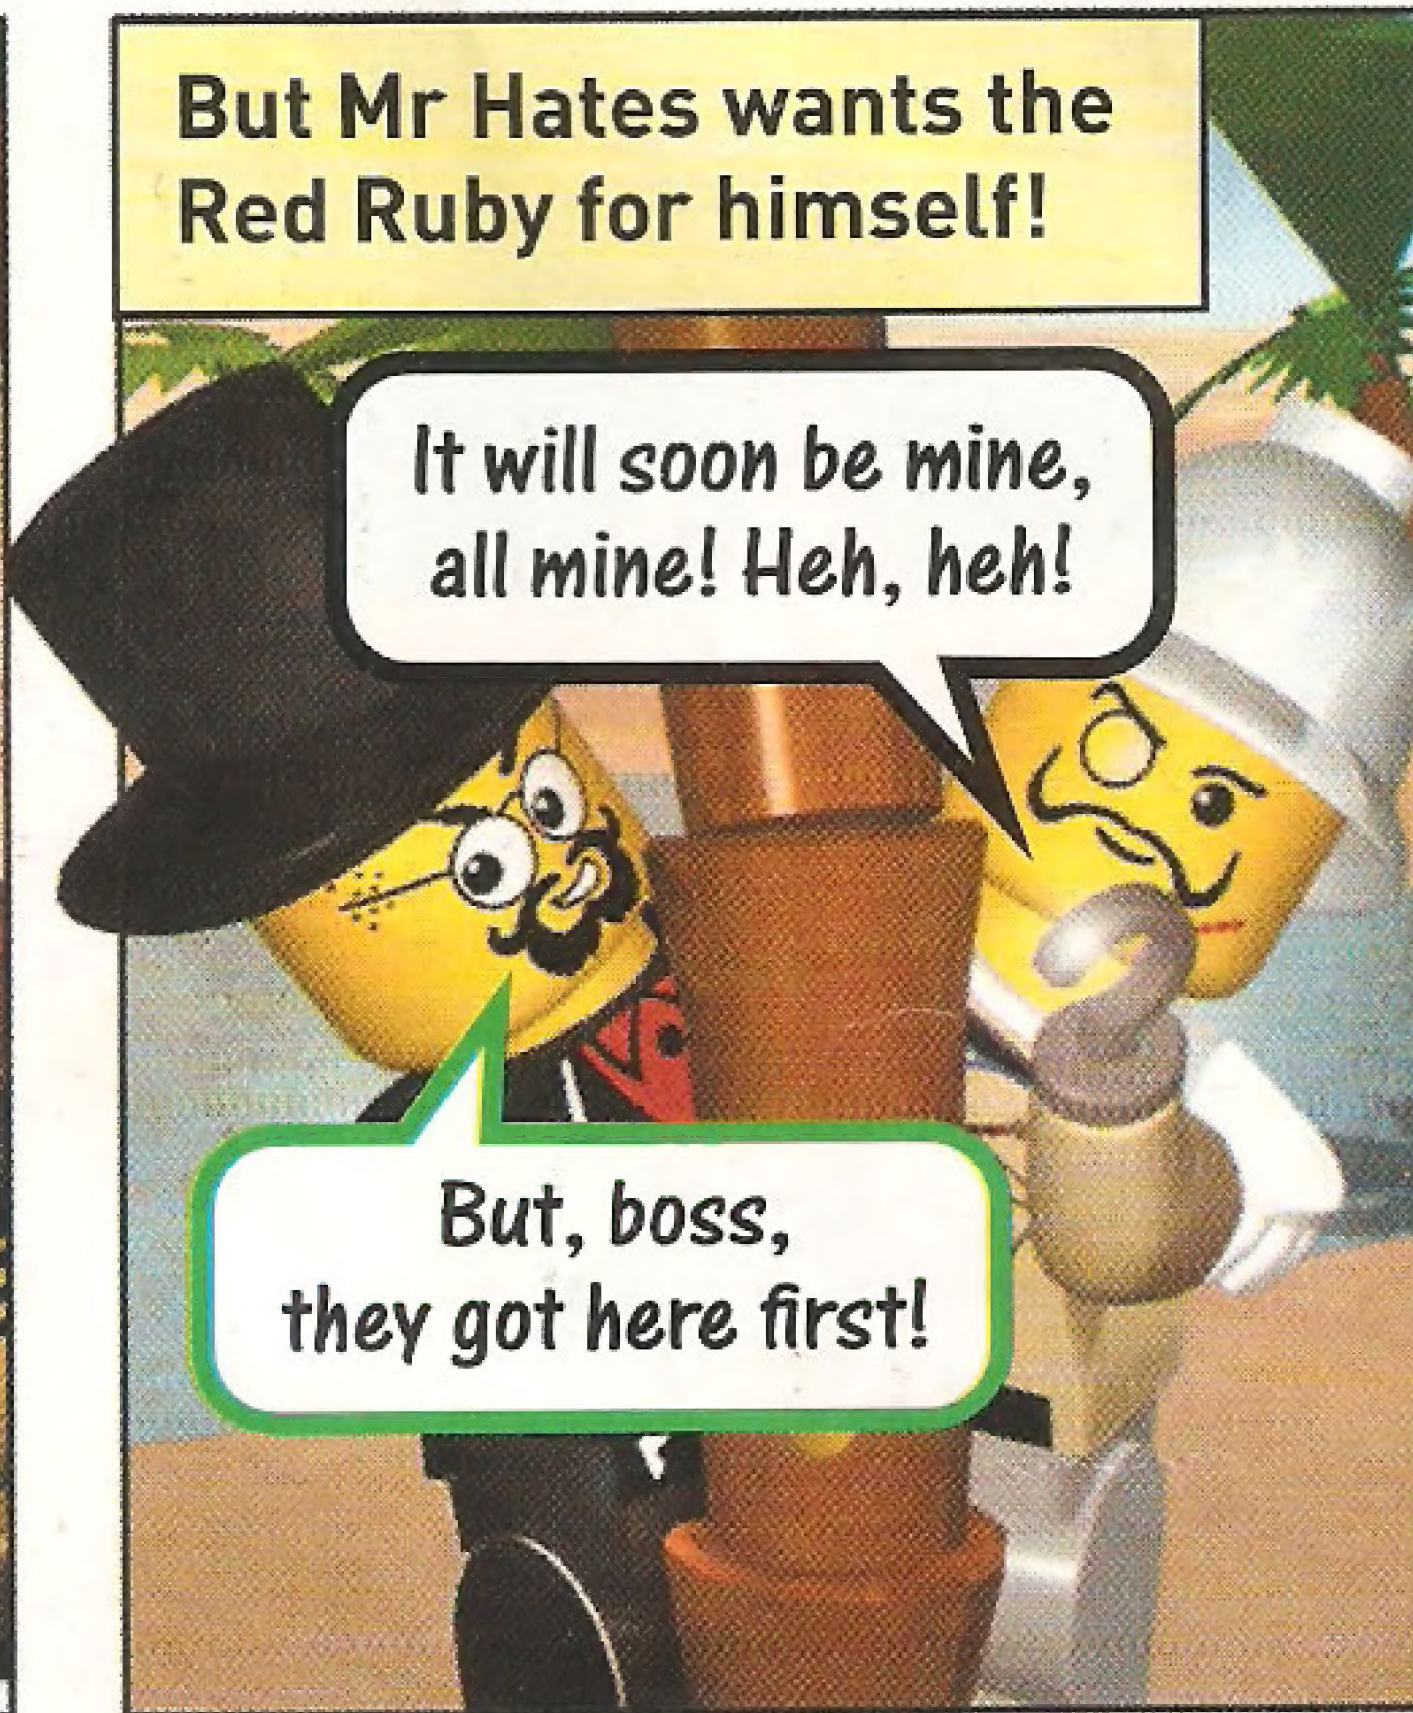

At last! Let's hope the Red Ruby is still inside, Pippin!

It's the biggest, most precious one in the world!

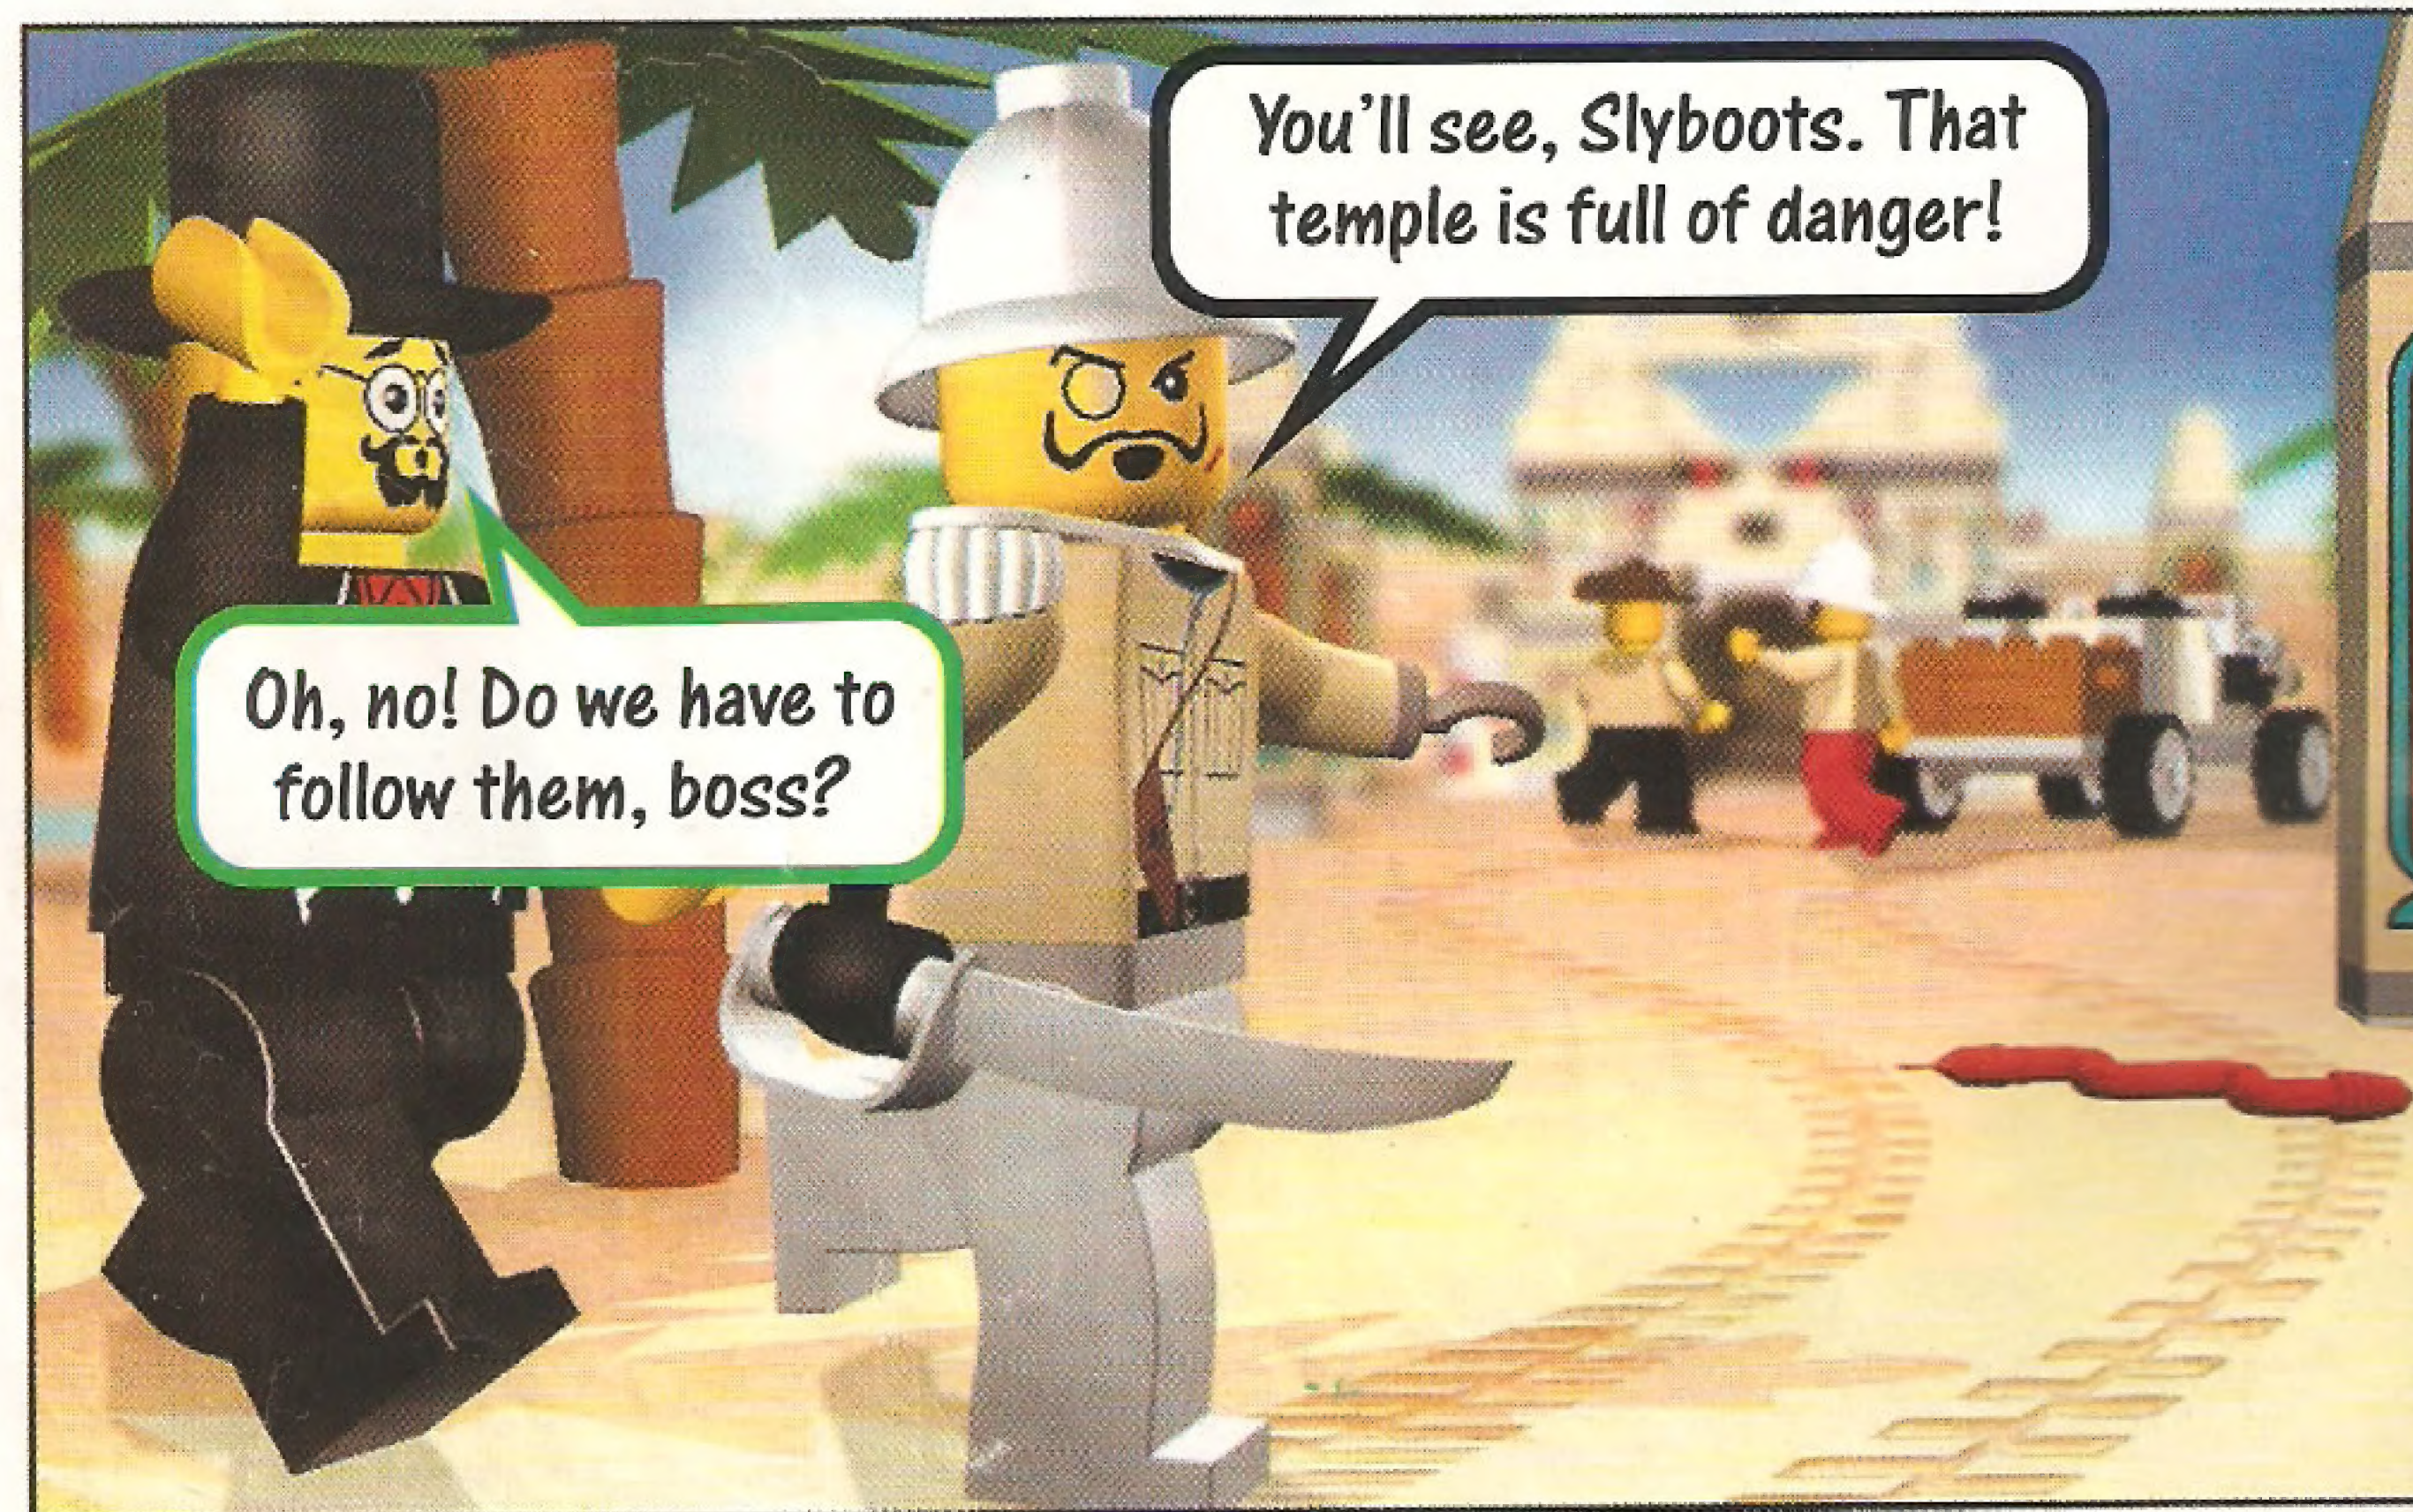

We'll study it carefully!

But Mr Hates wants the Red Ruby for himself!

It will soon be mine, all mine! Heh, heh!

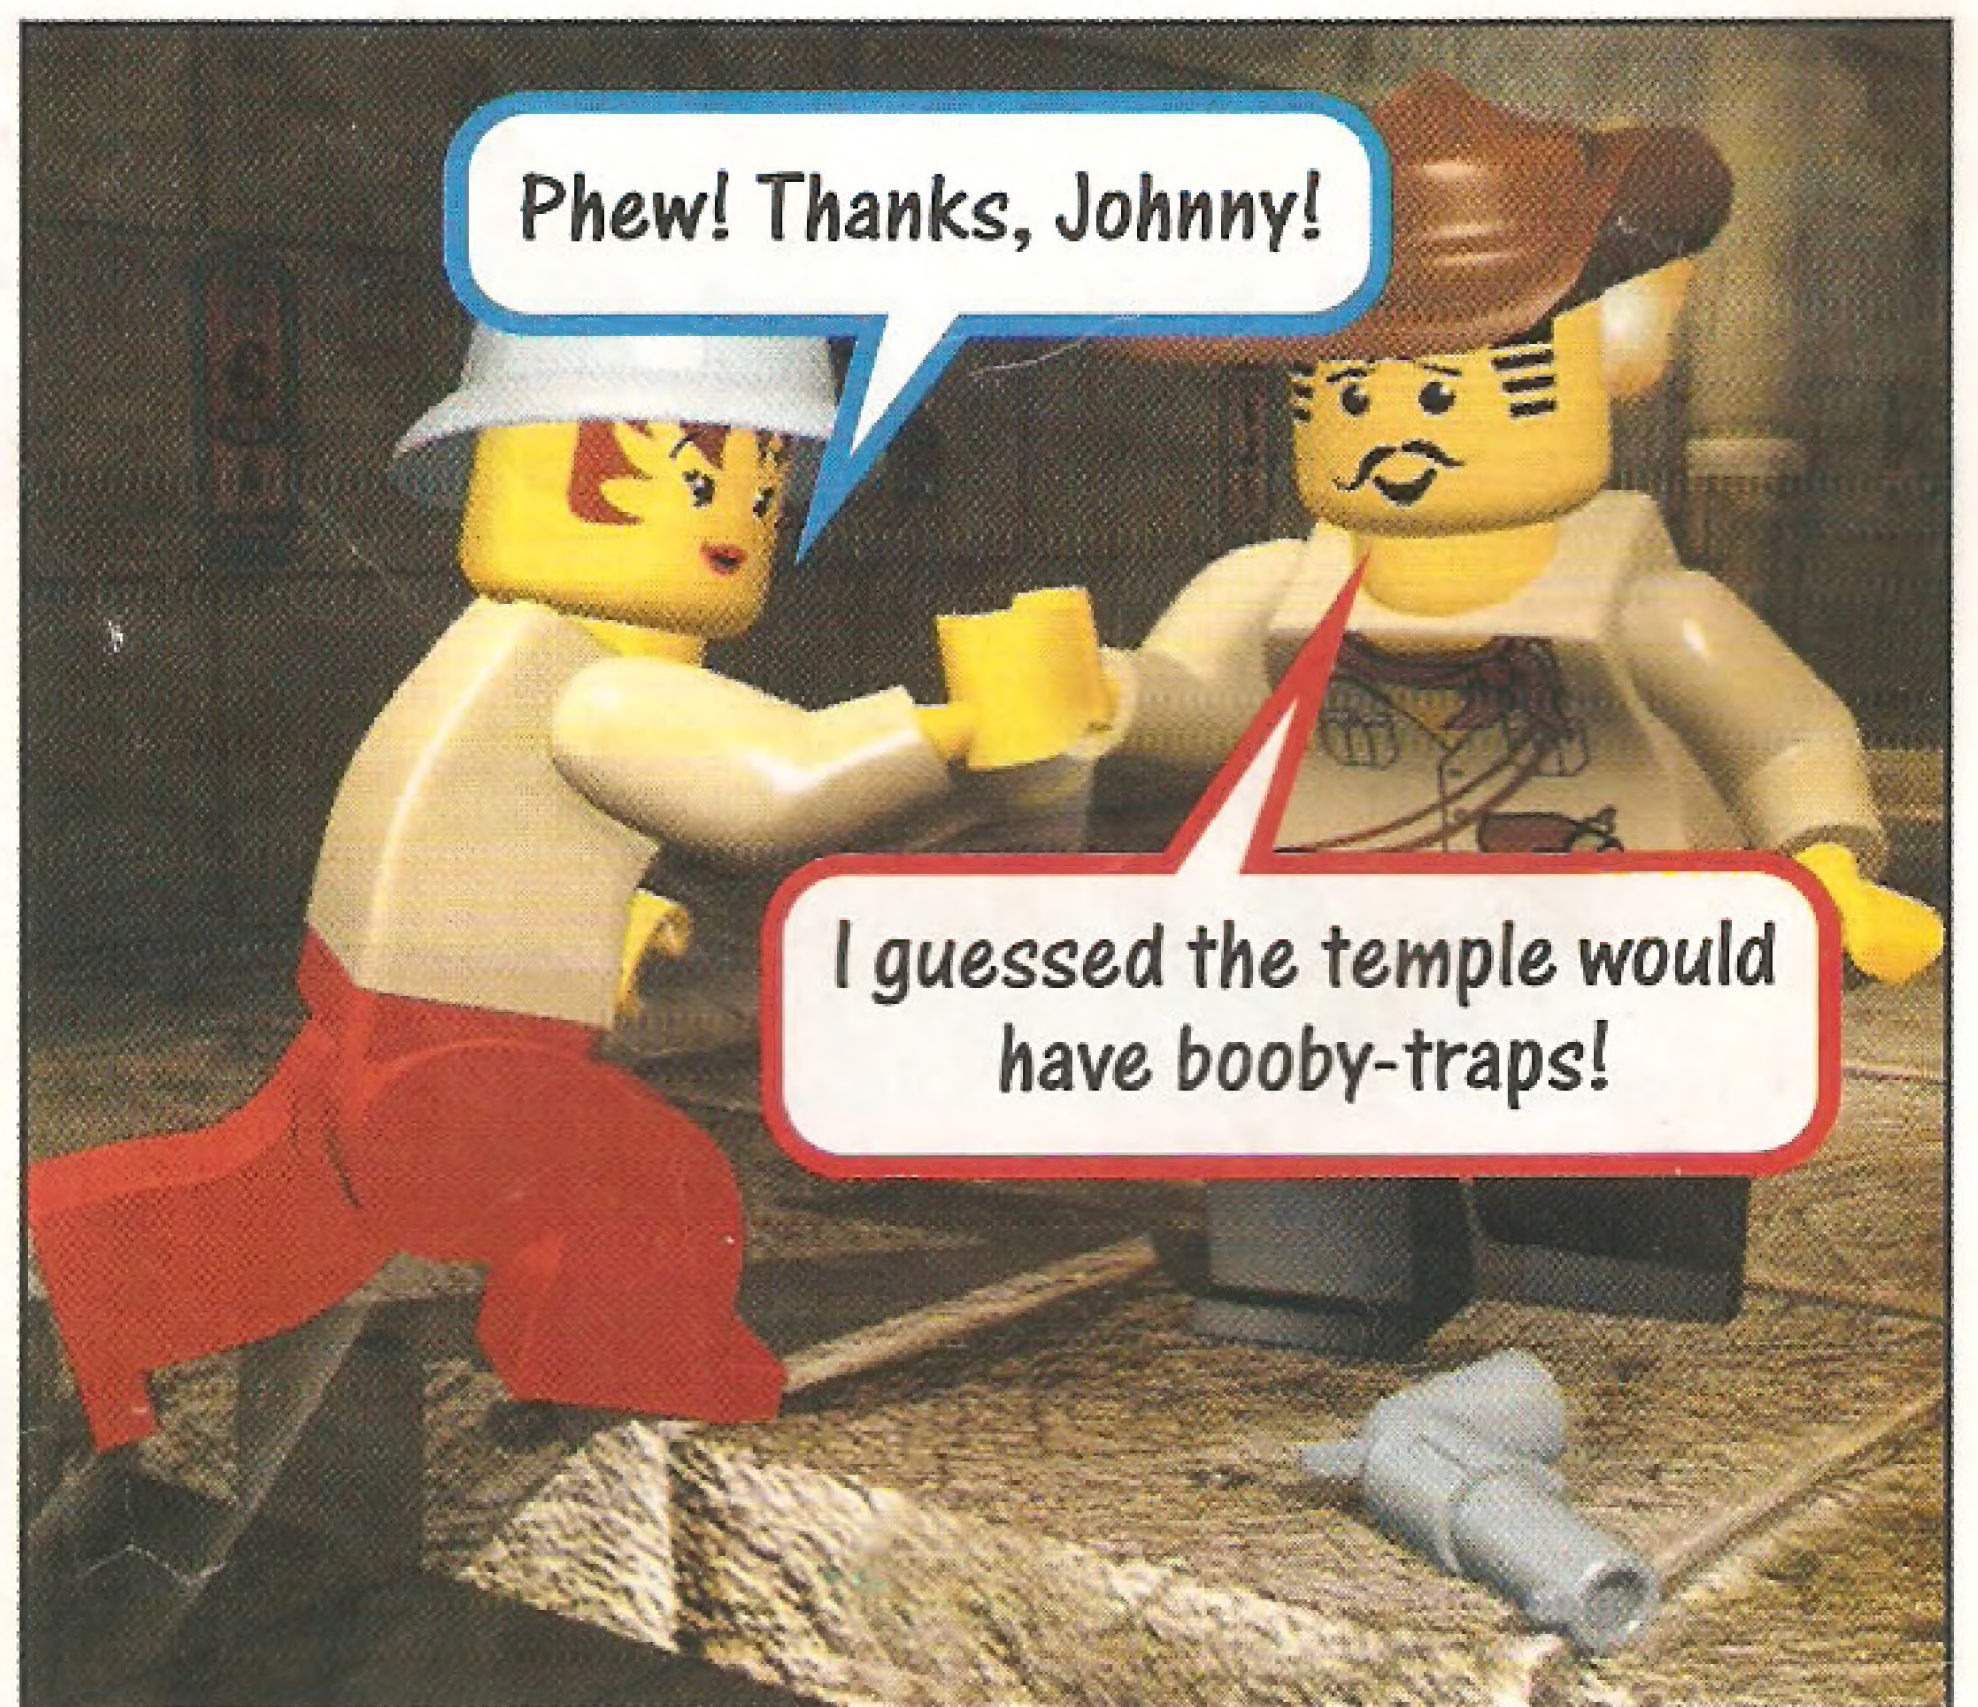

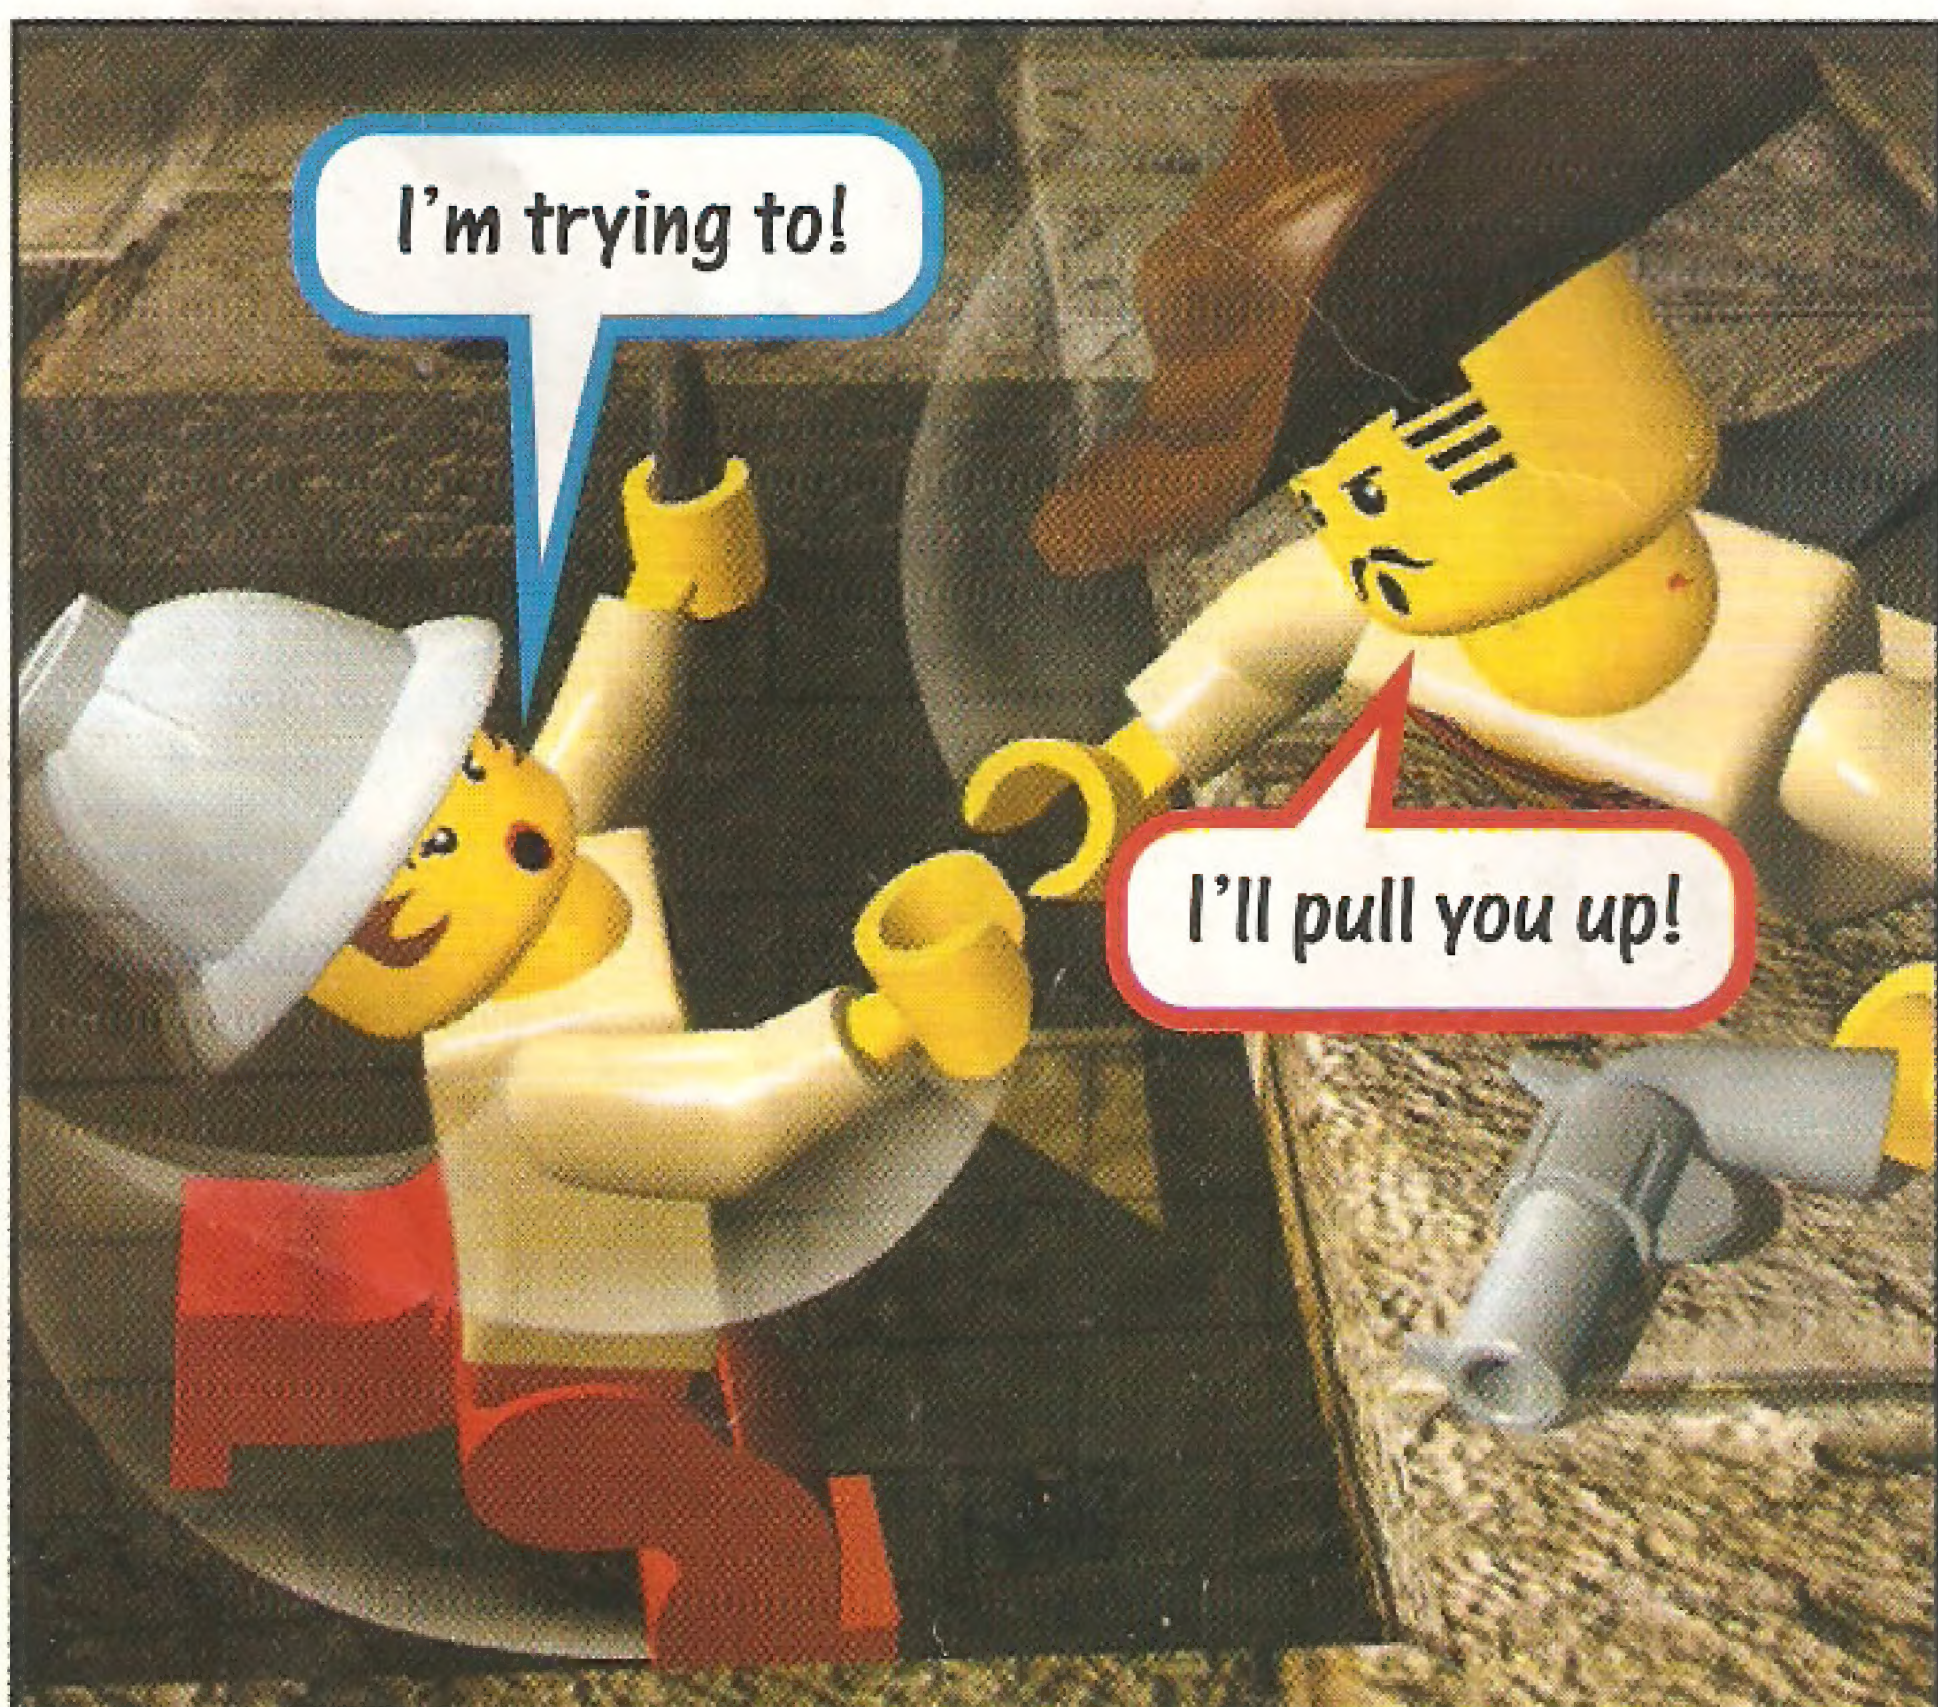

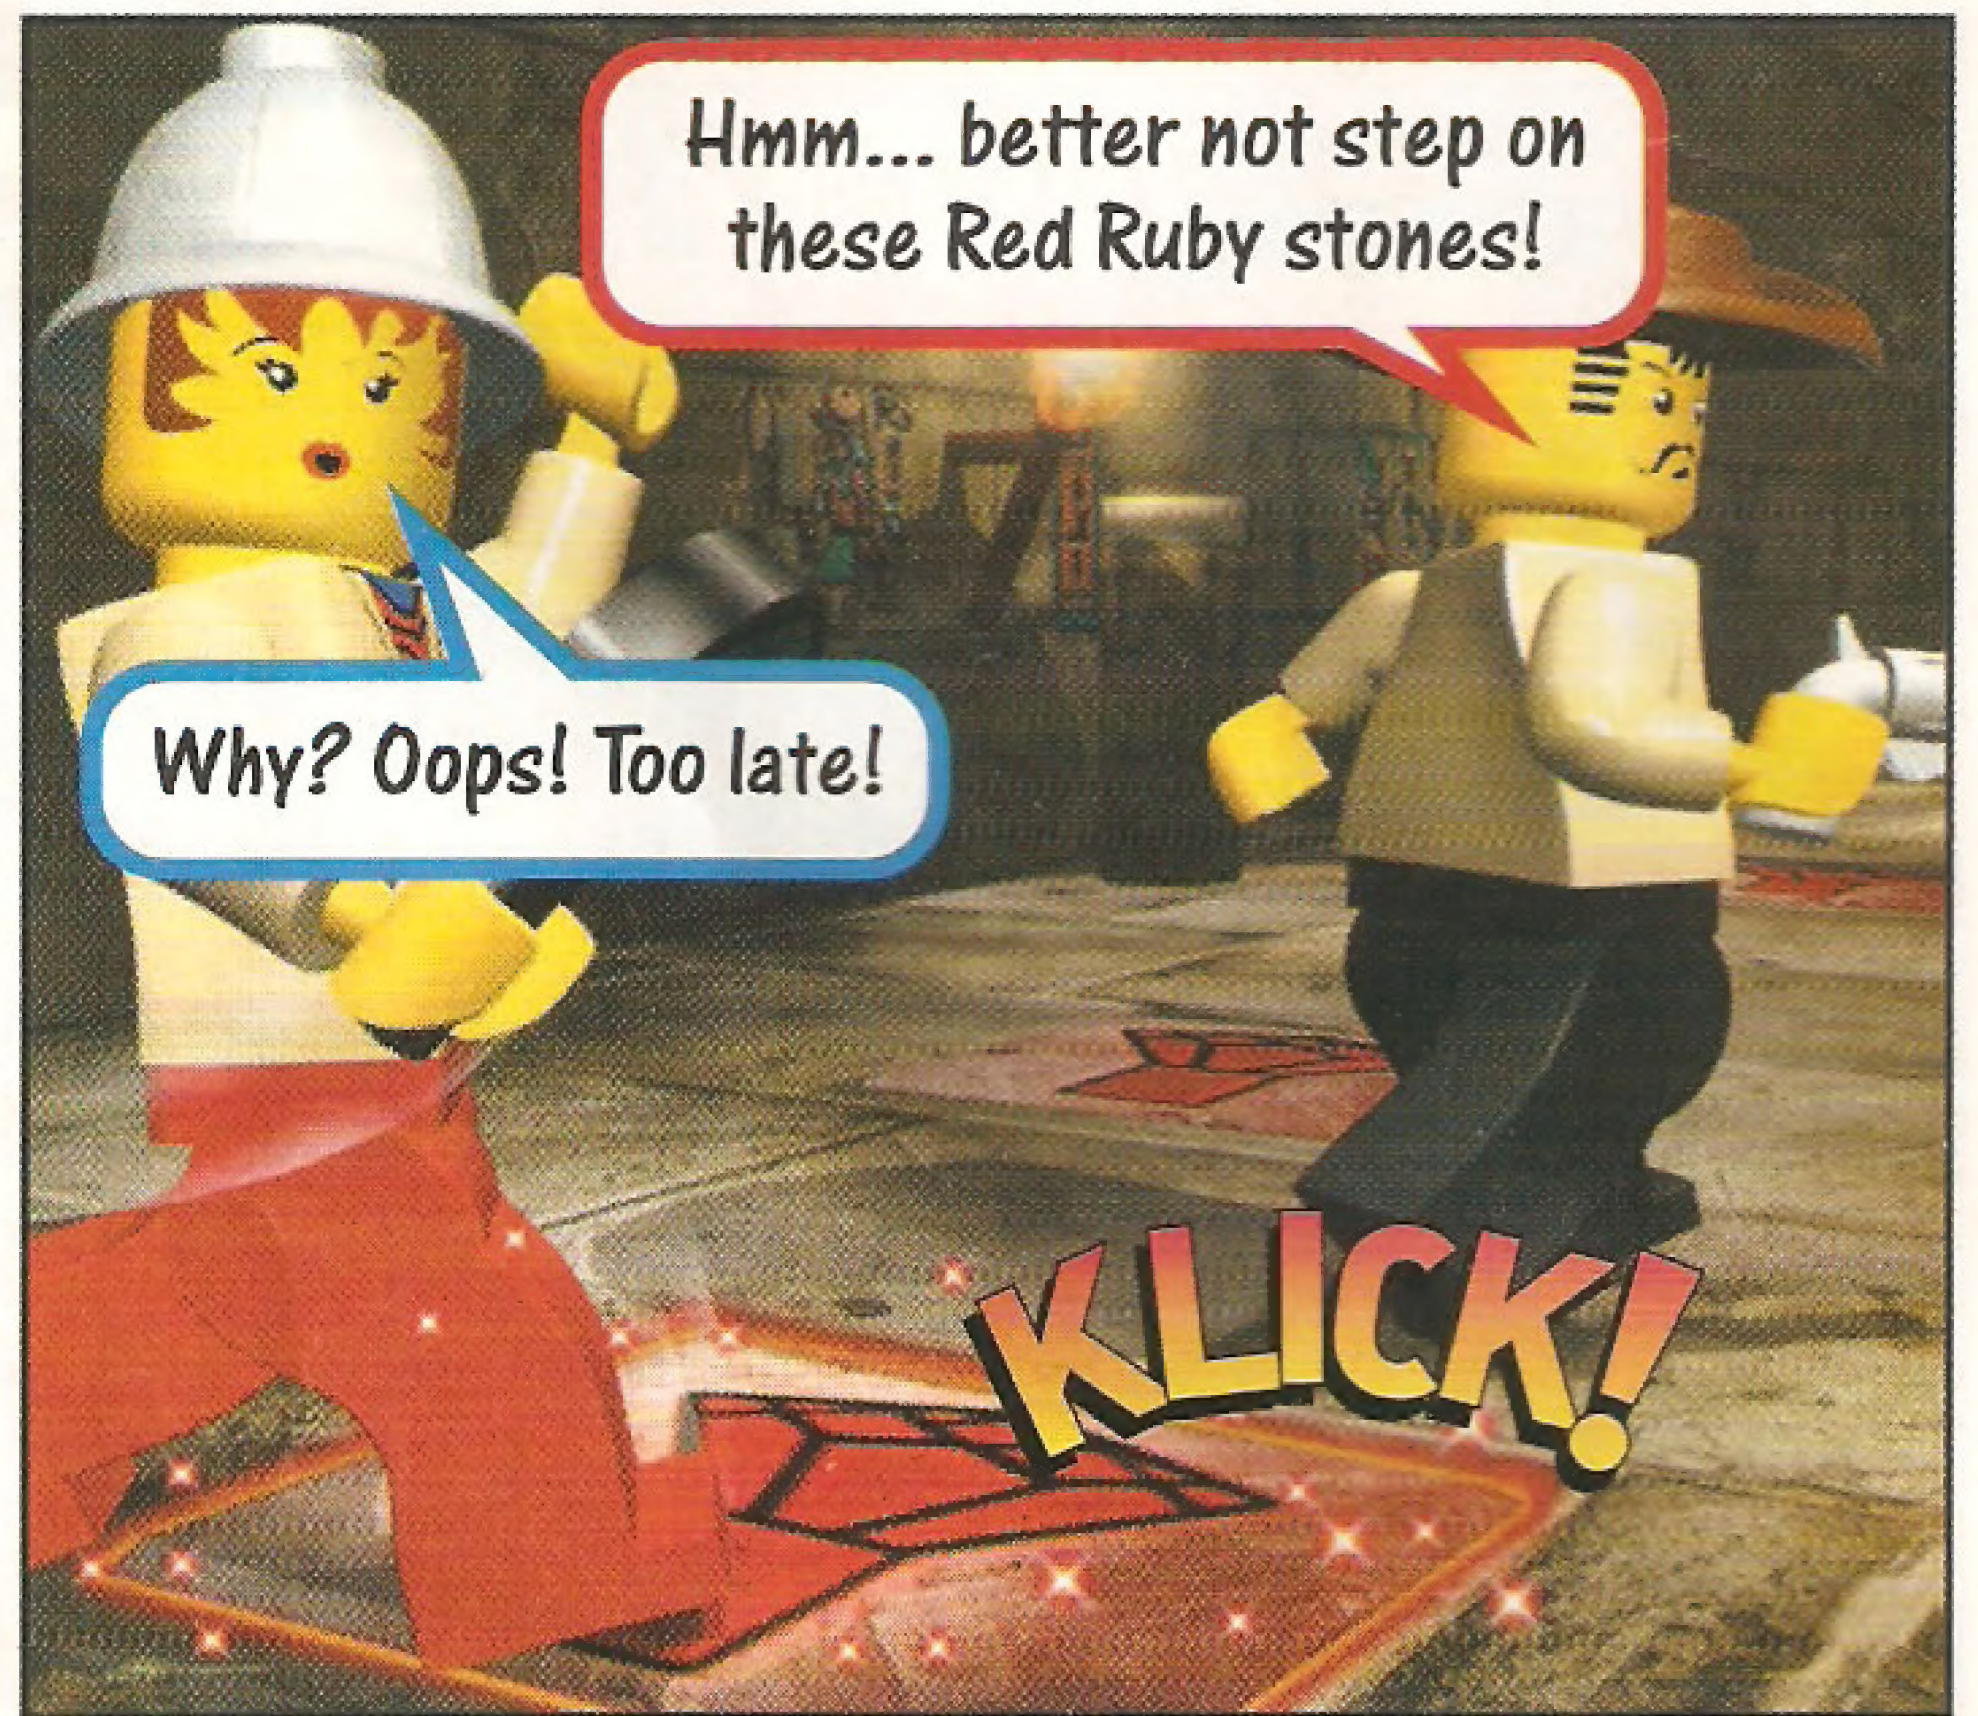

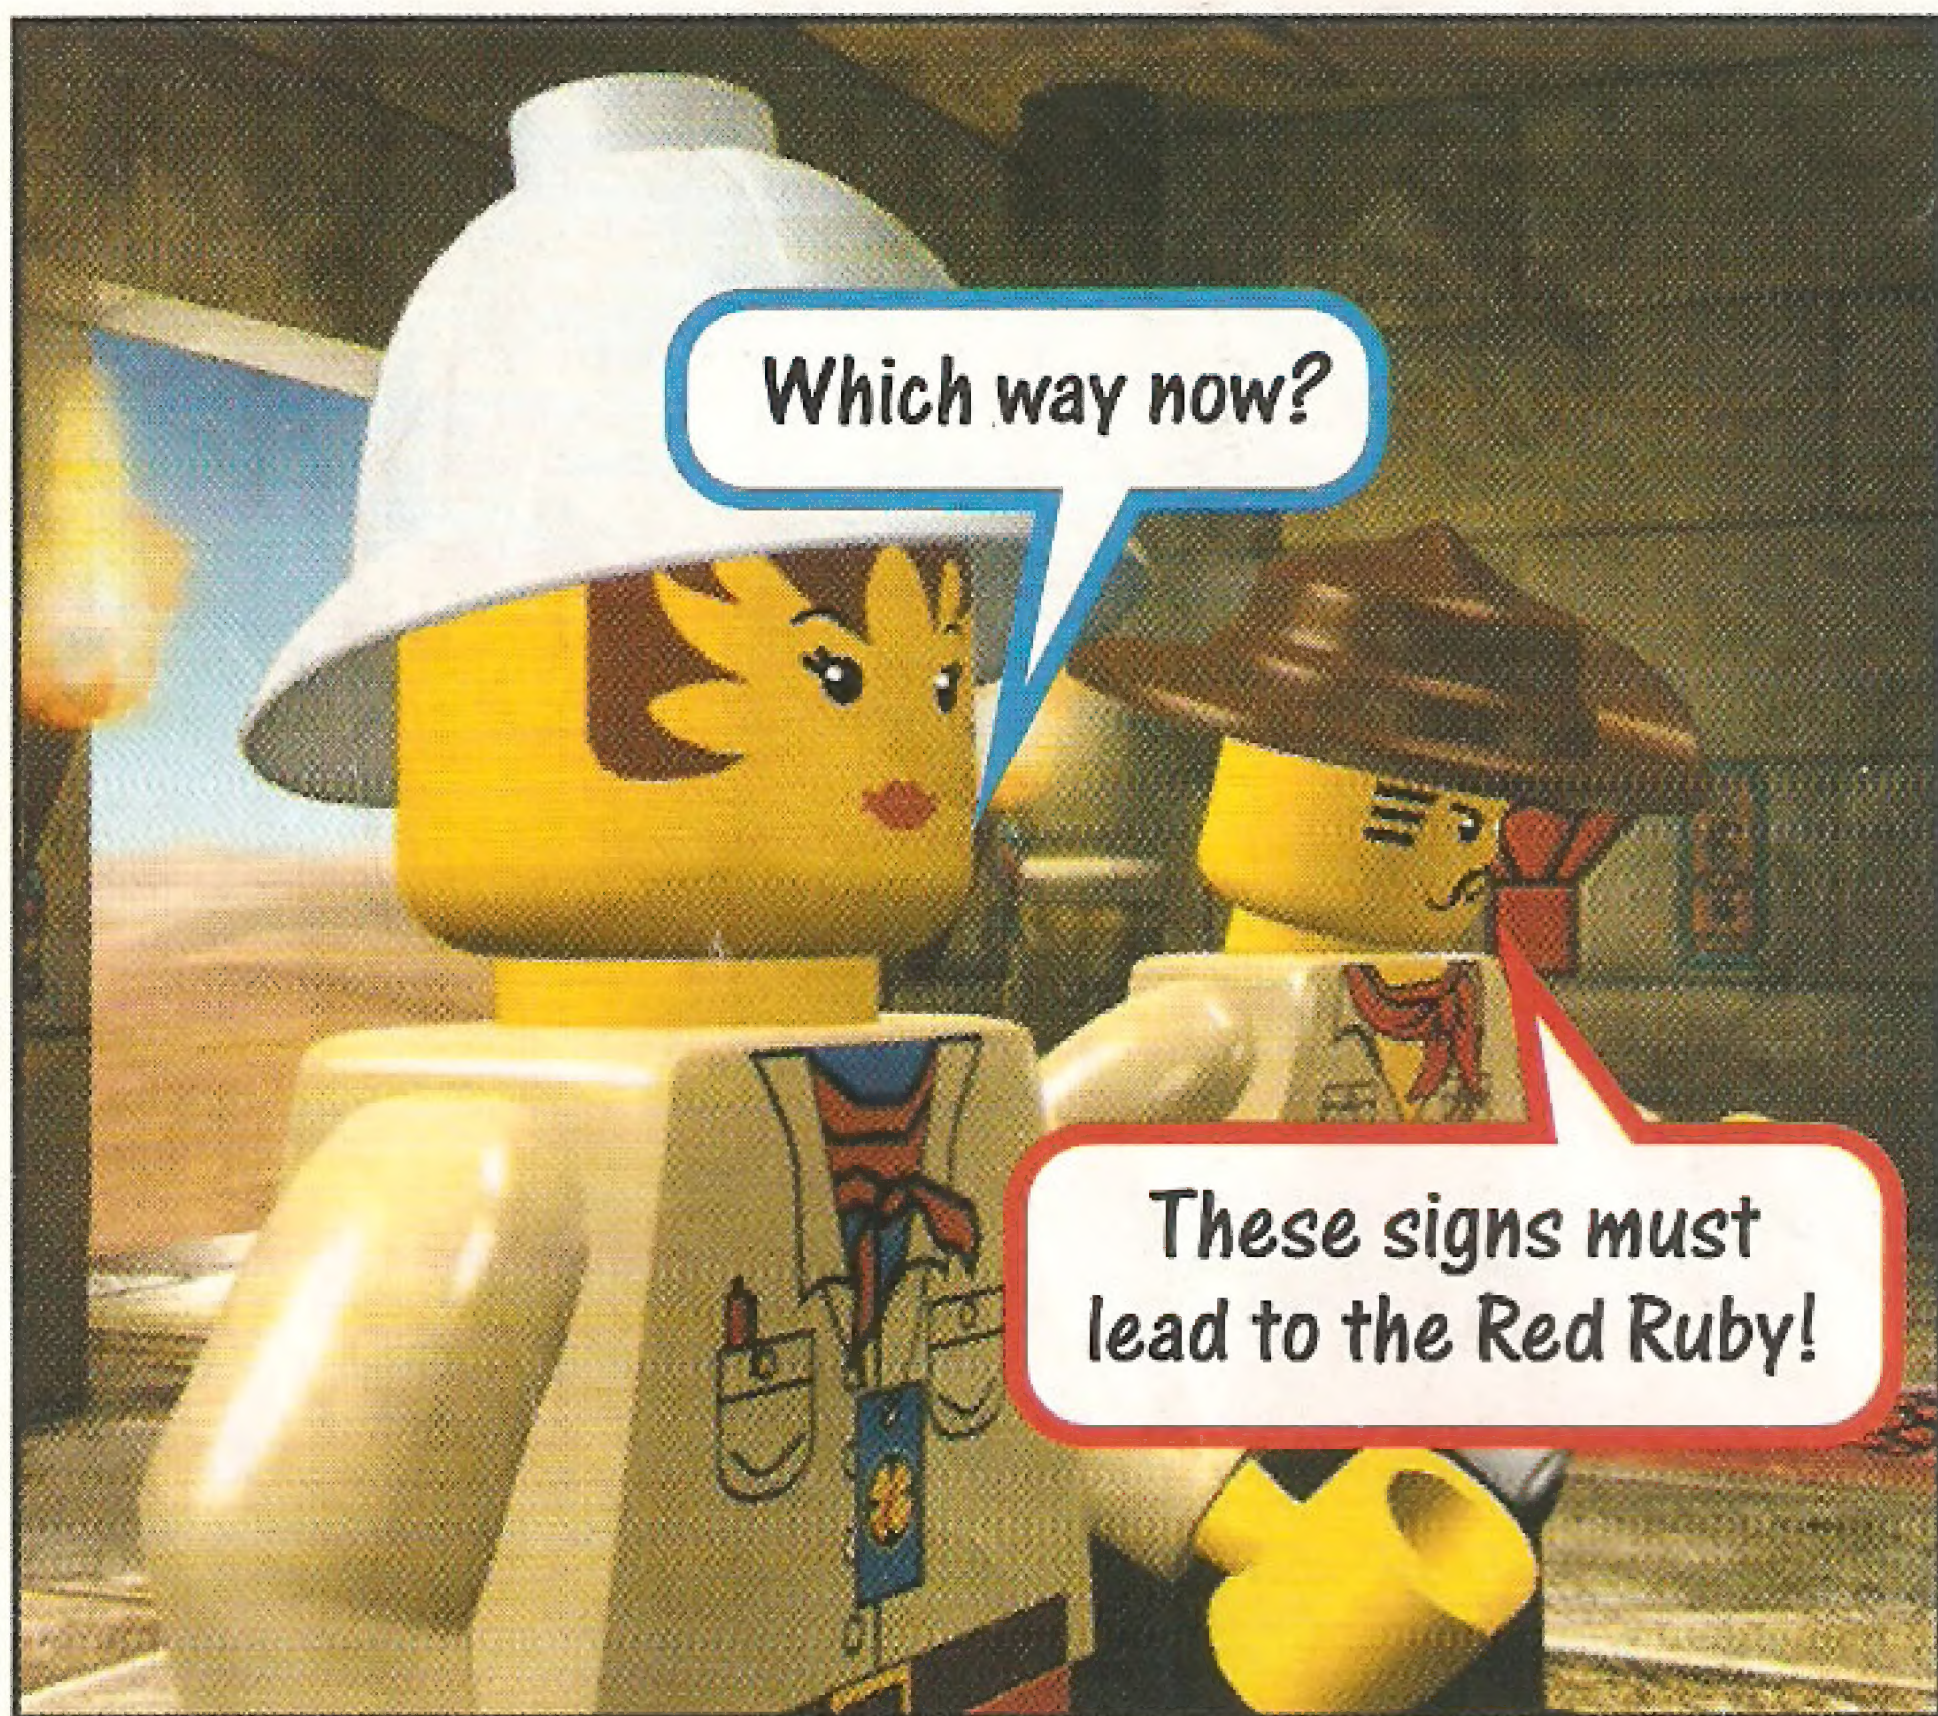

But, boss, they got here first!

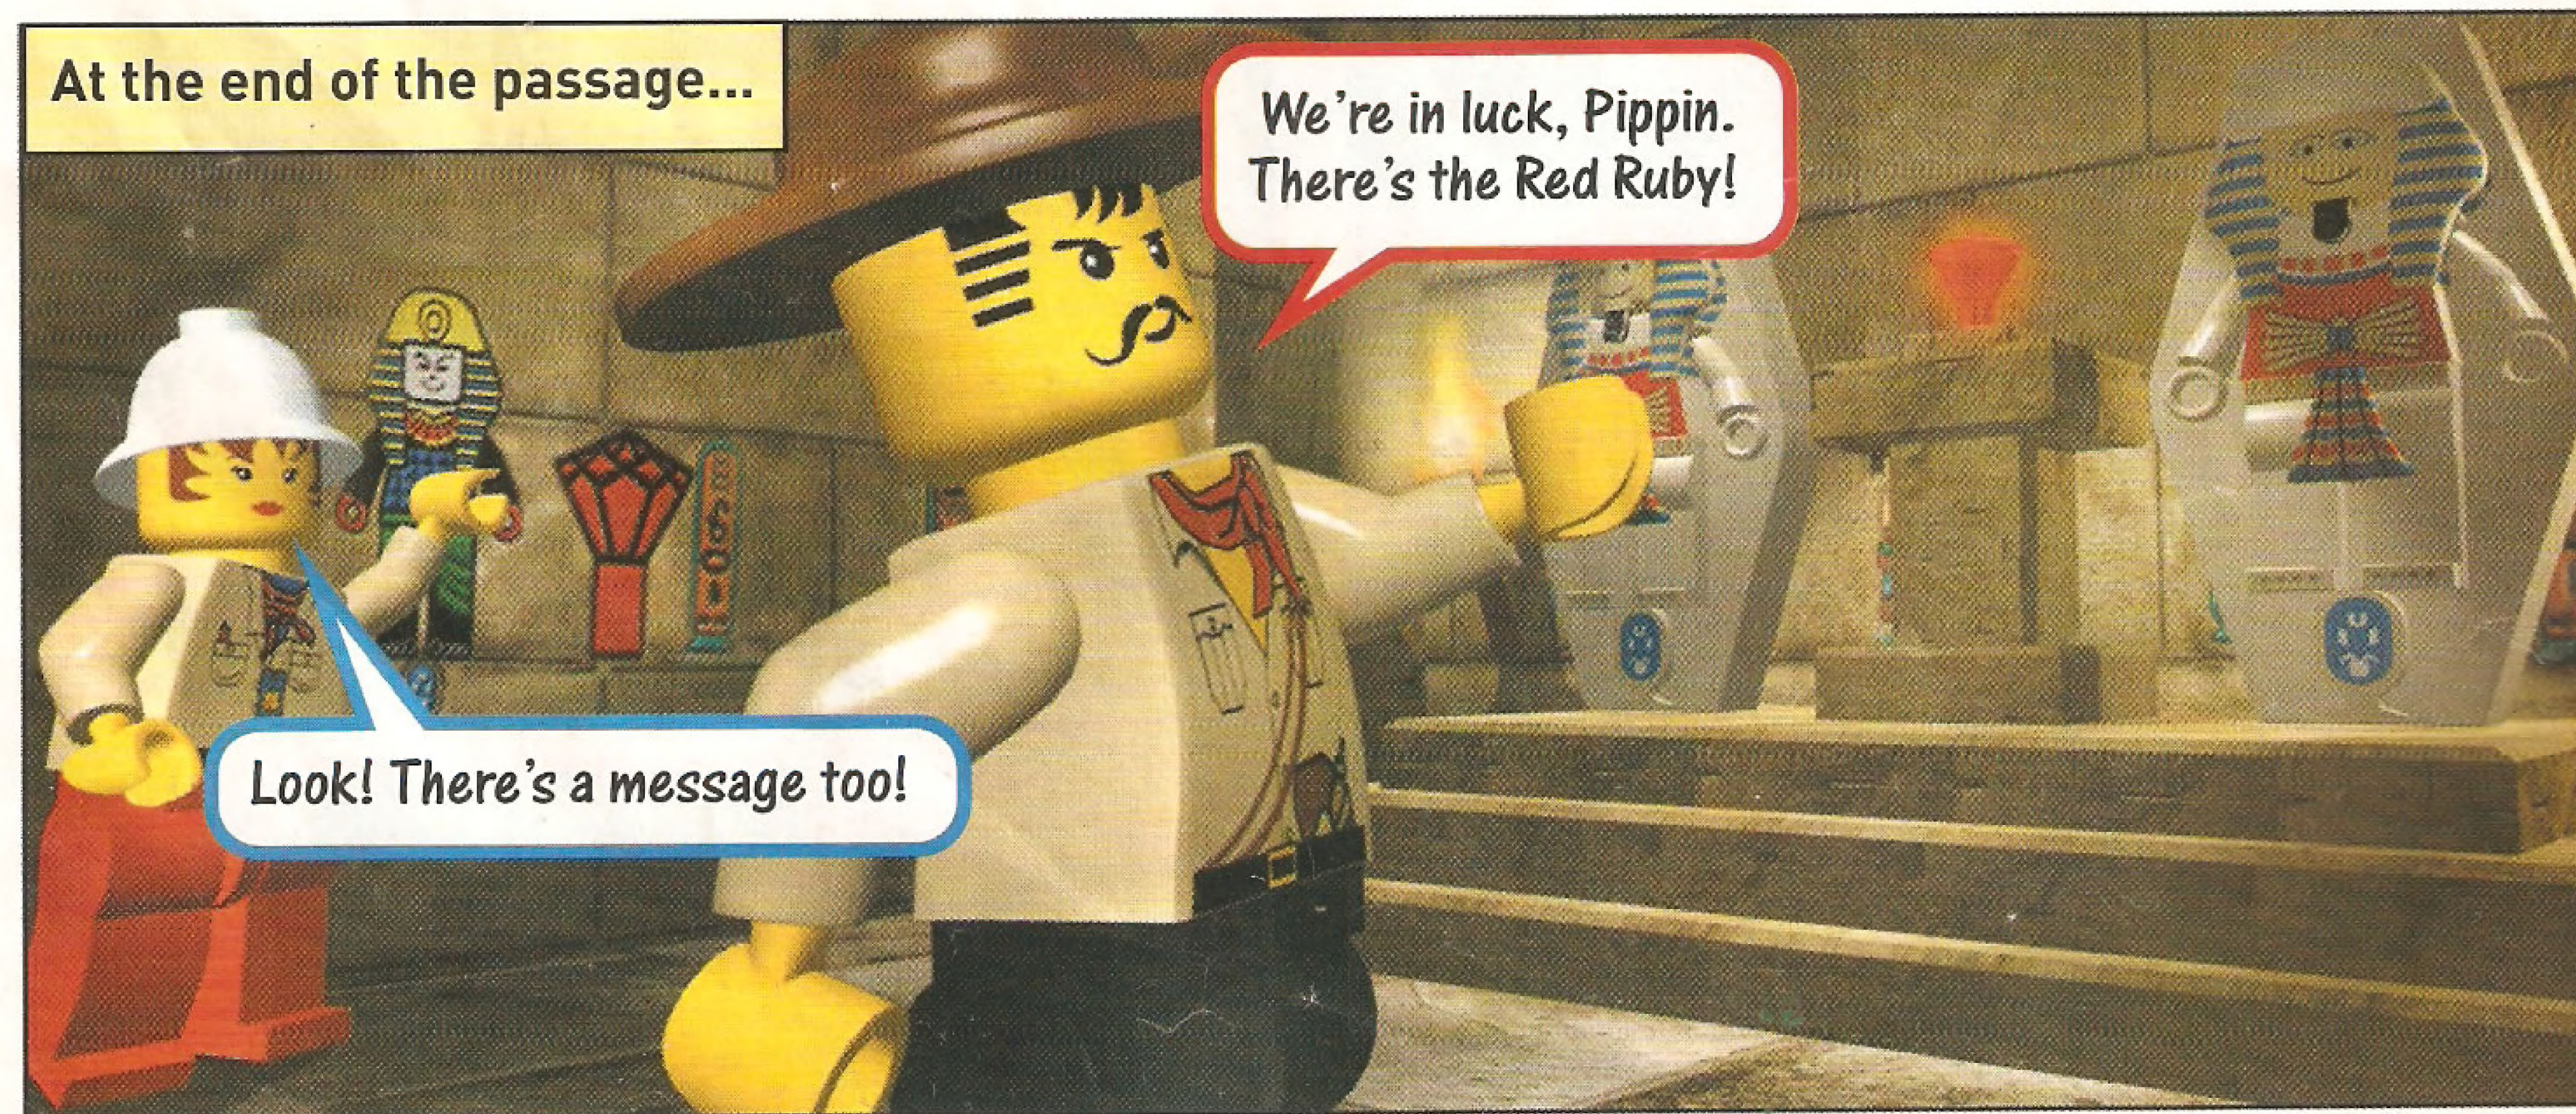

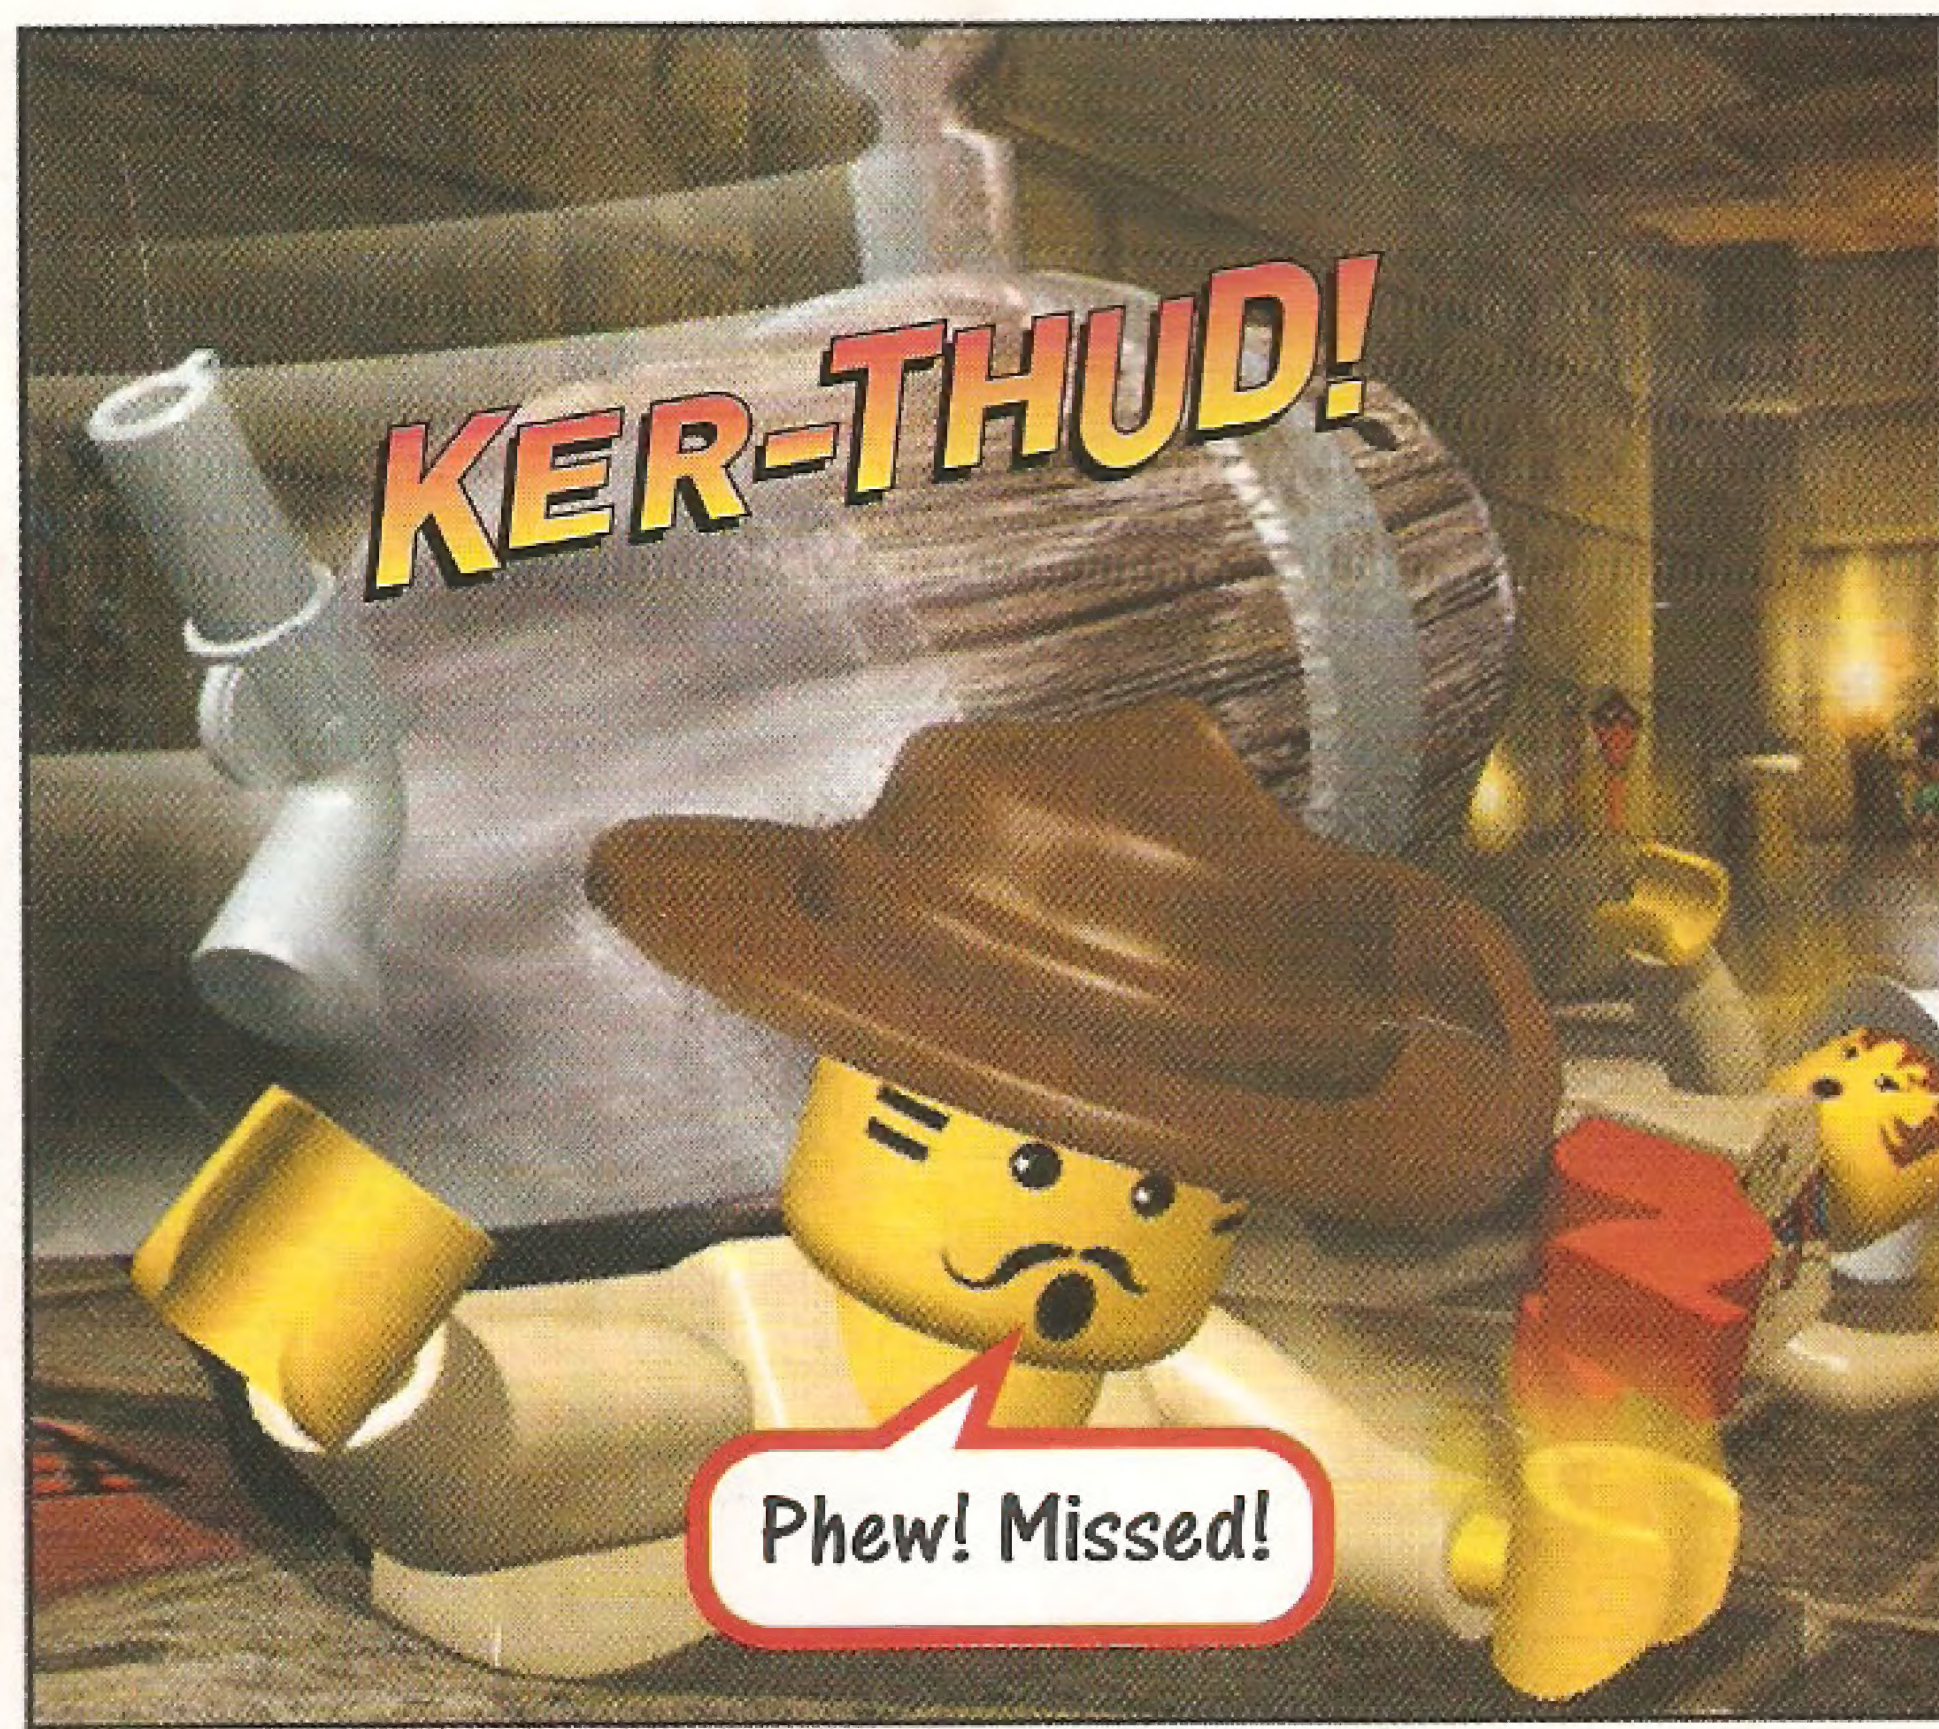

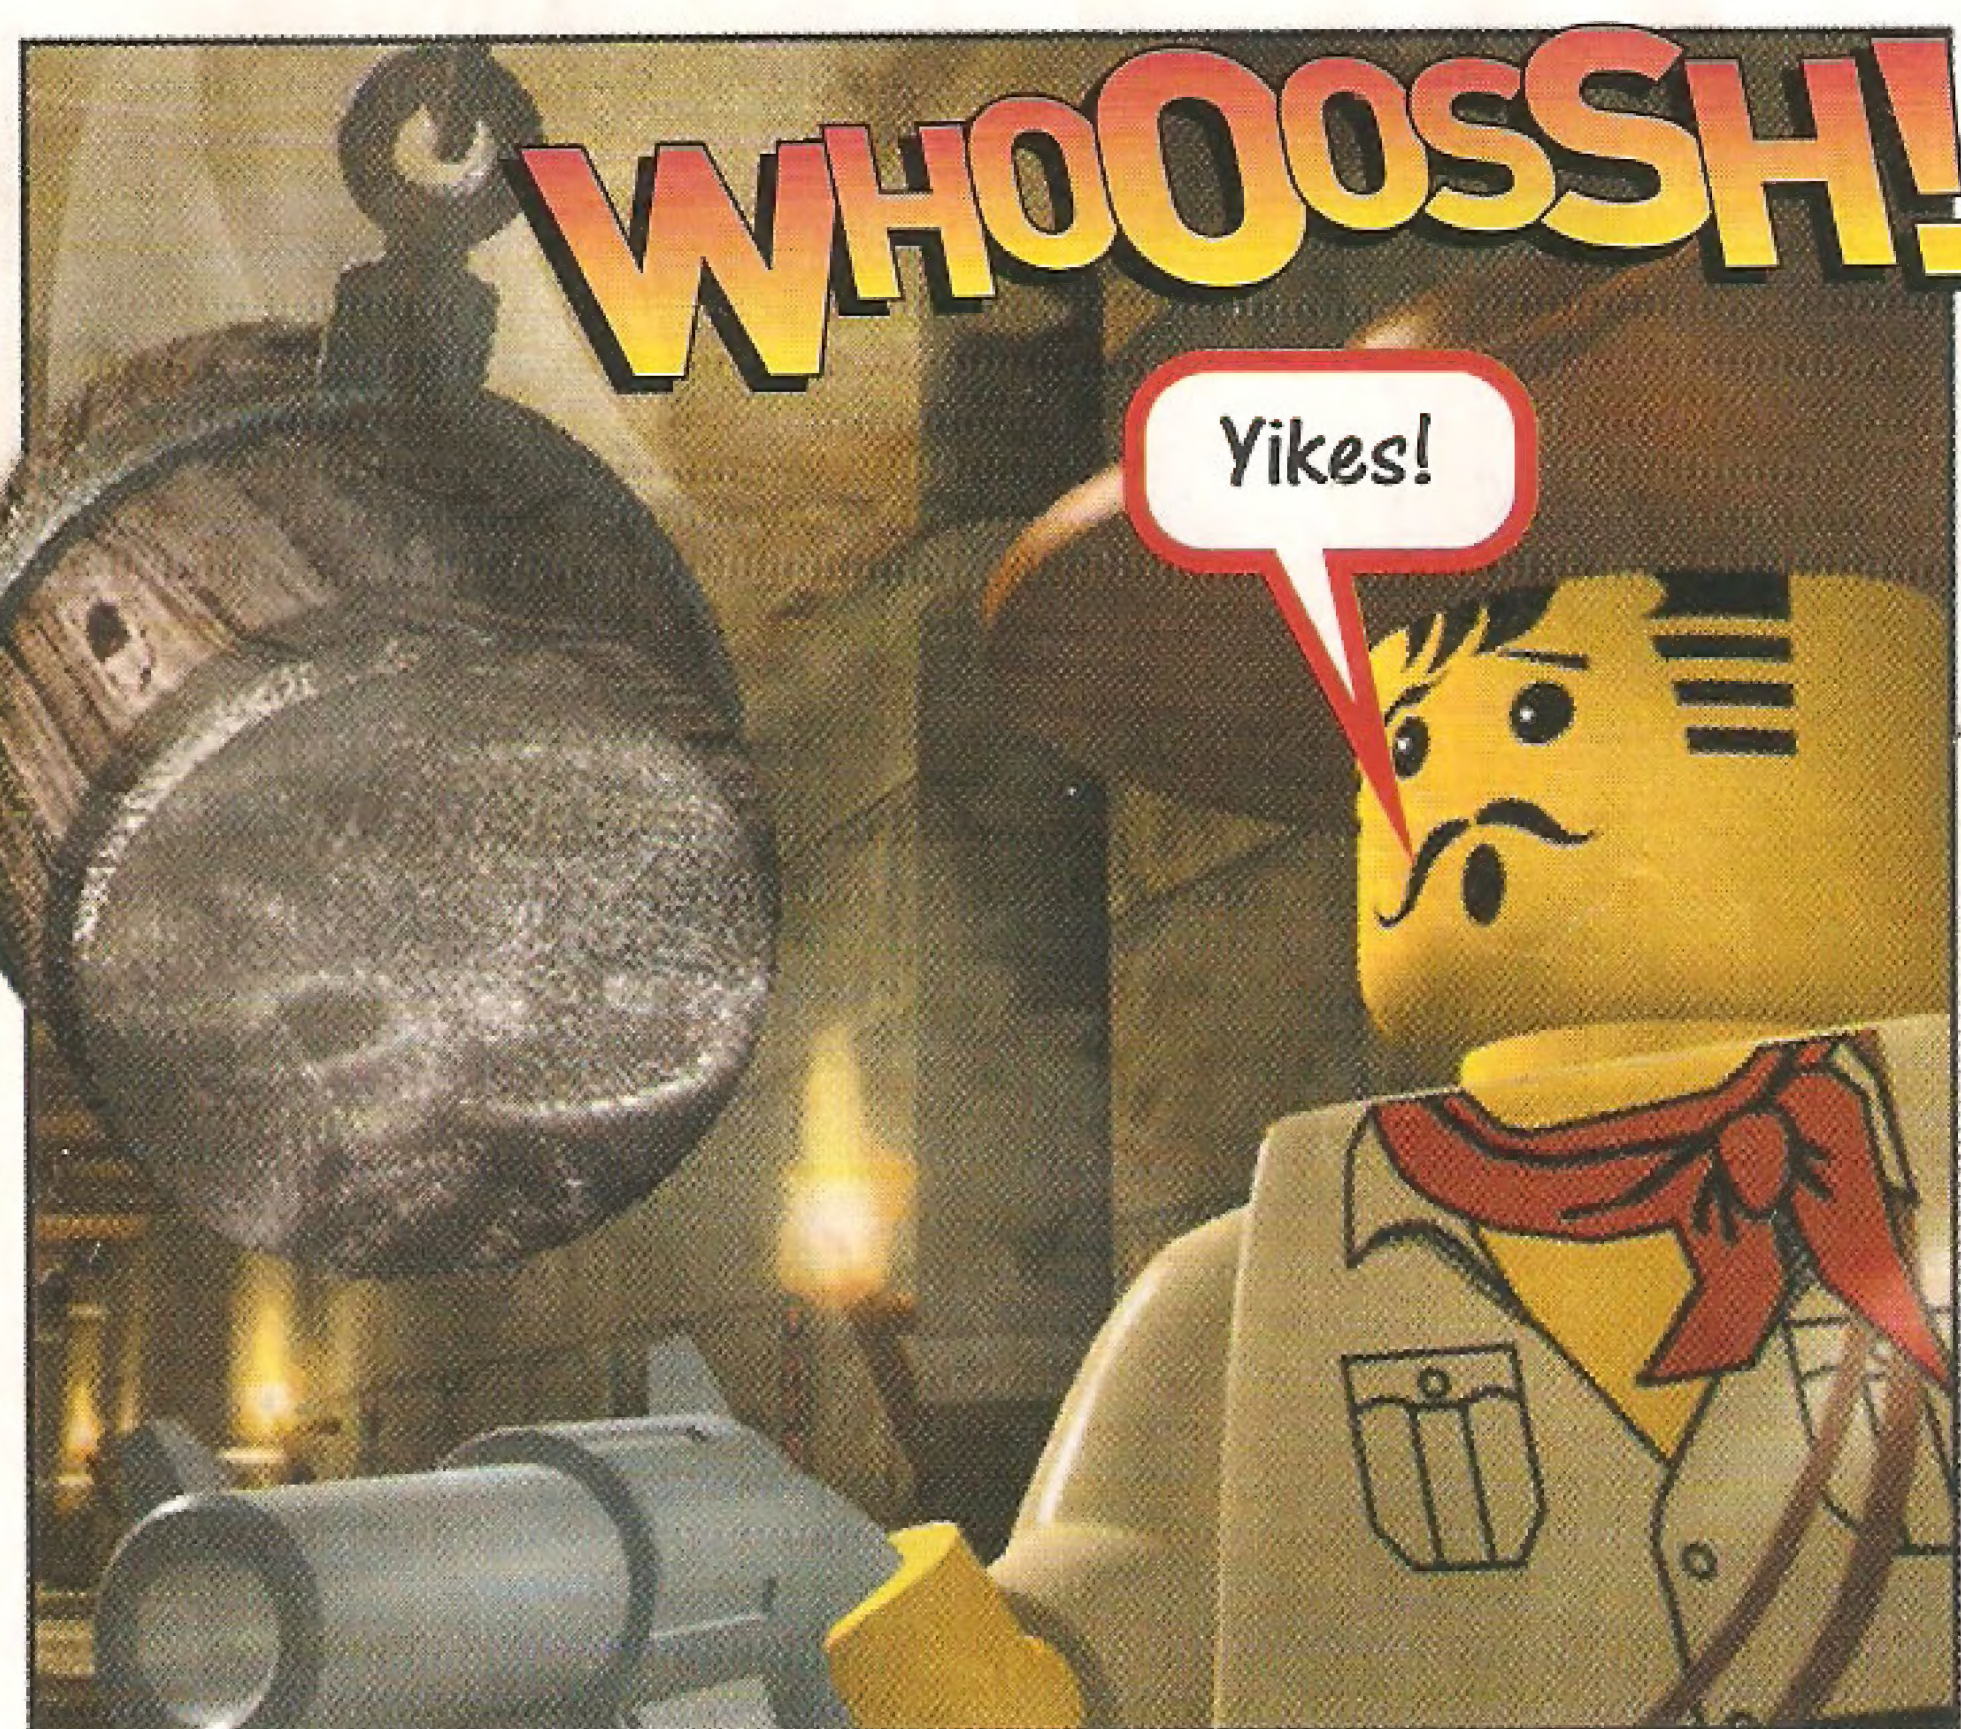

You'll see, Slyboots. That temple is full of danger!

Oh, no! Do we have to follow them, boss?

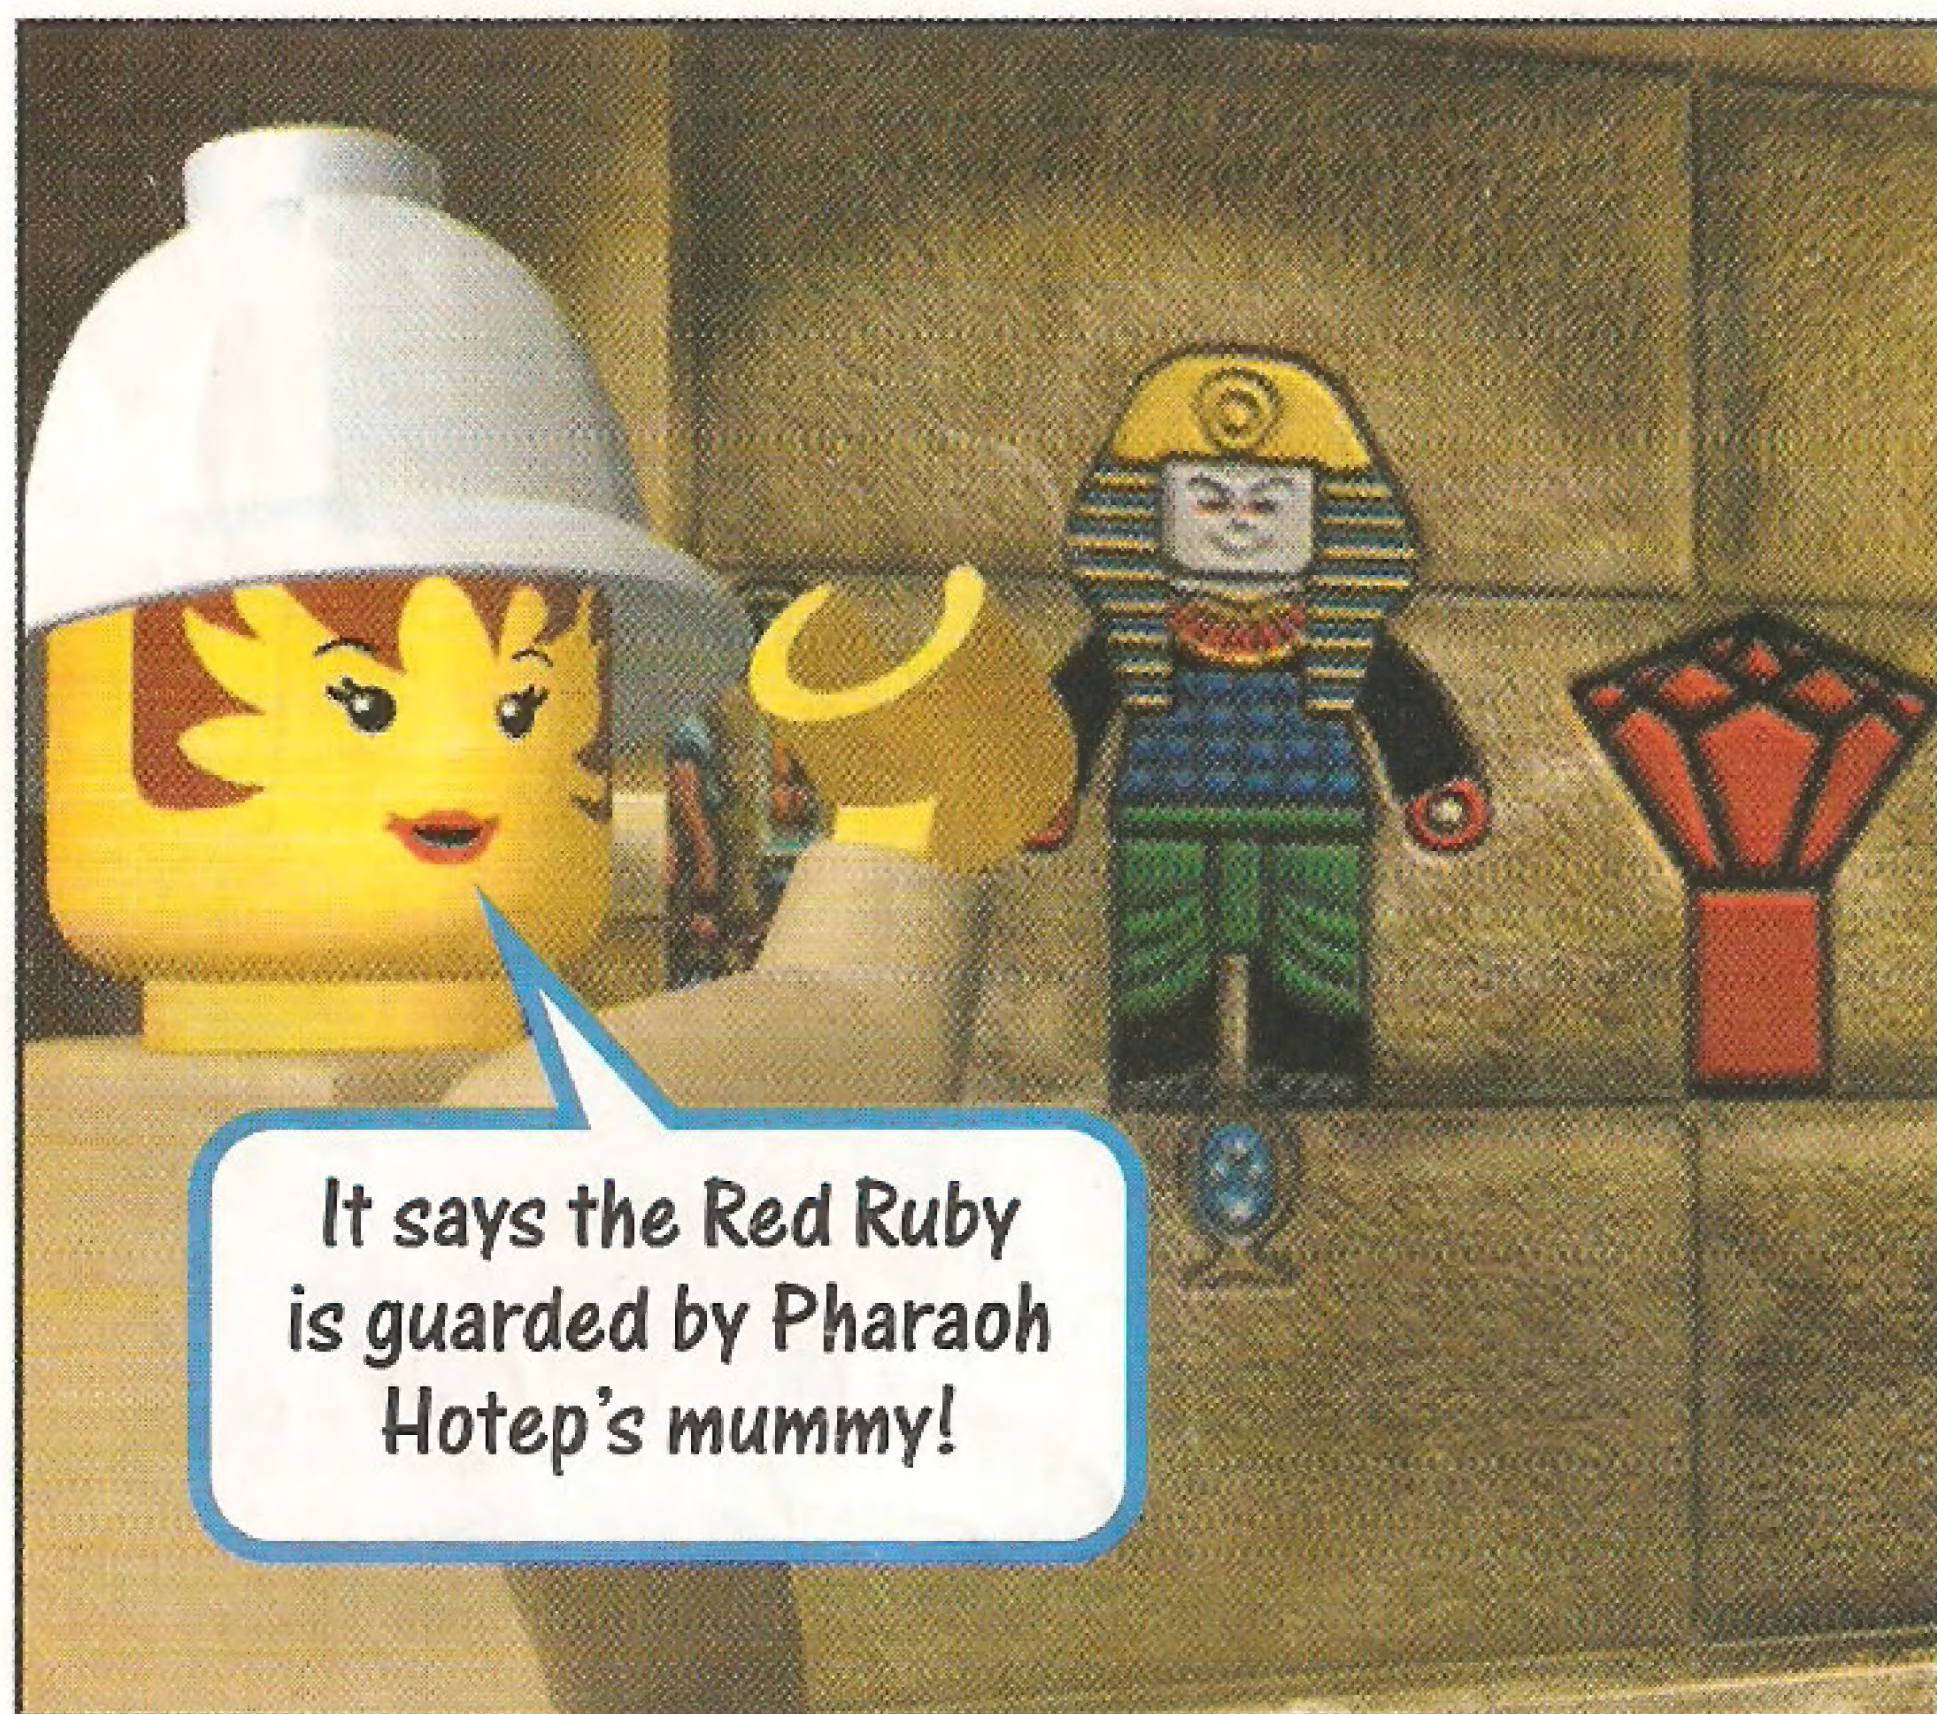

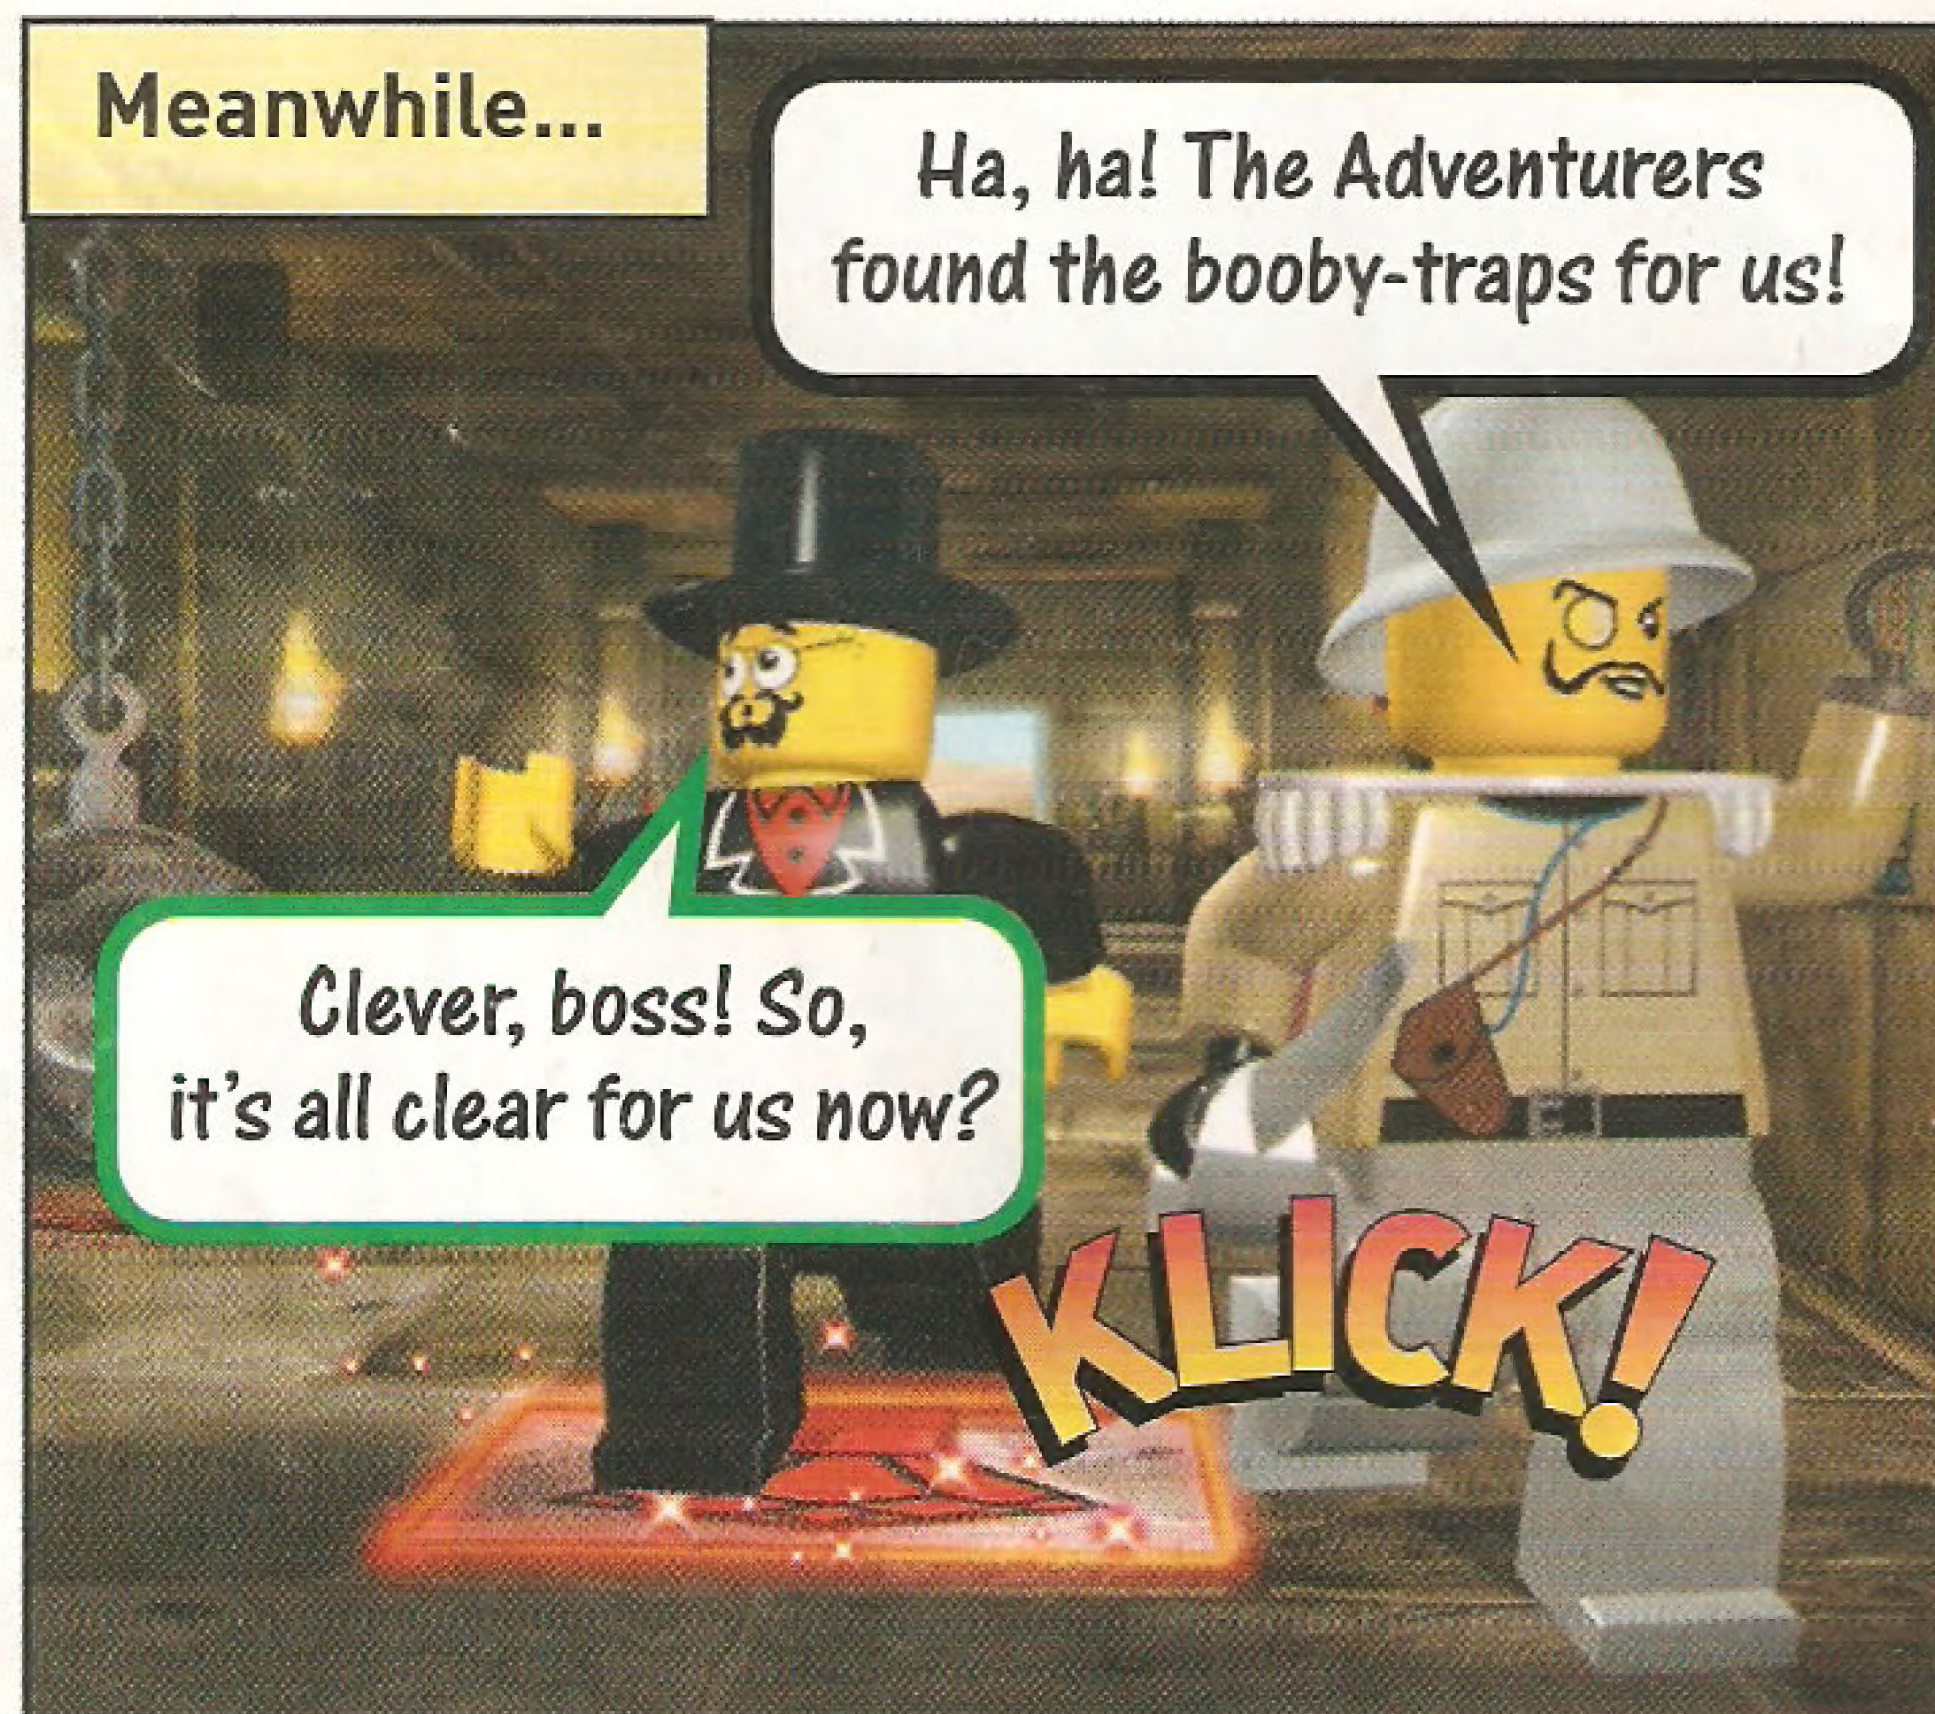

It says the Red Ruby is guarded by Pharaoh Hotep's mummy!

Meanwhile...

Ha, ha! The Adventurers found the booby-traps for us!

Clever, boss! So, it's all clear for us now?

KLIKK!

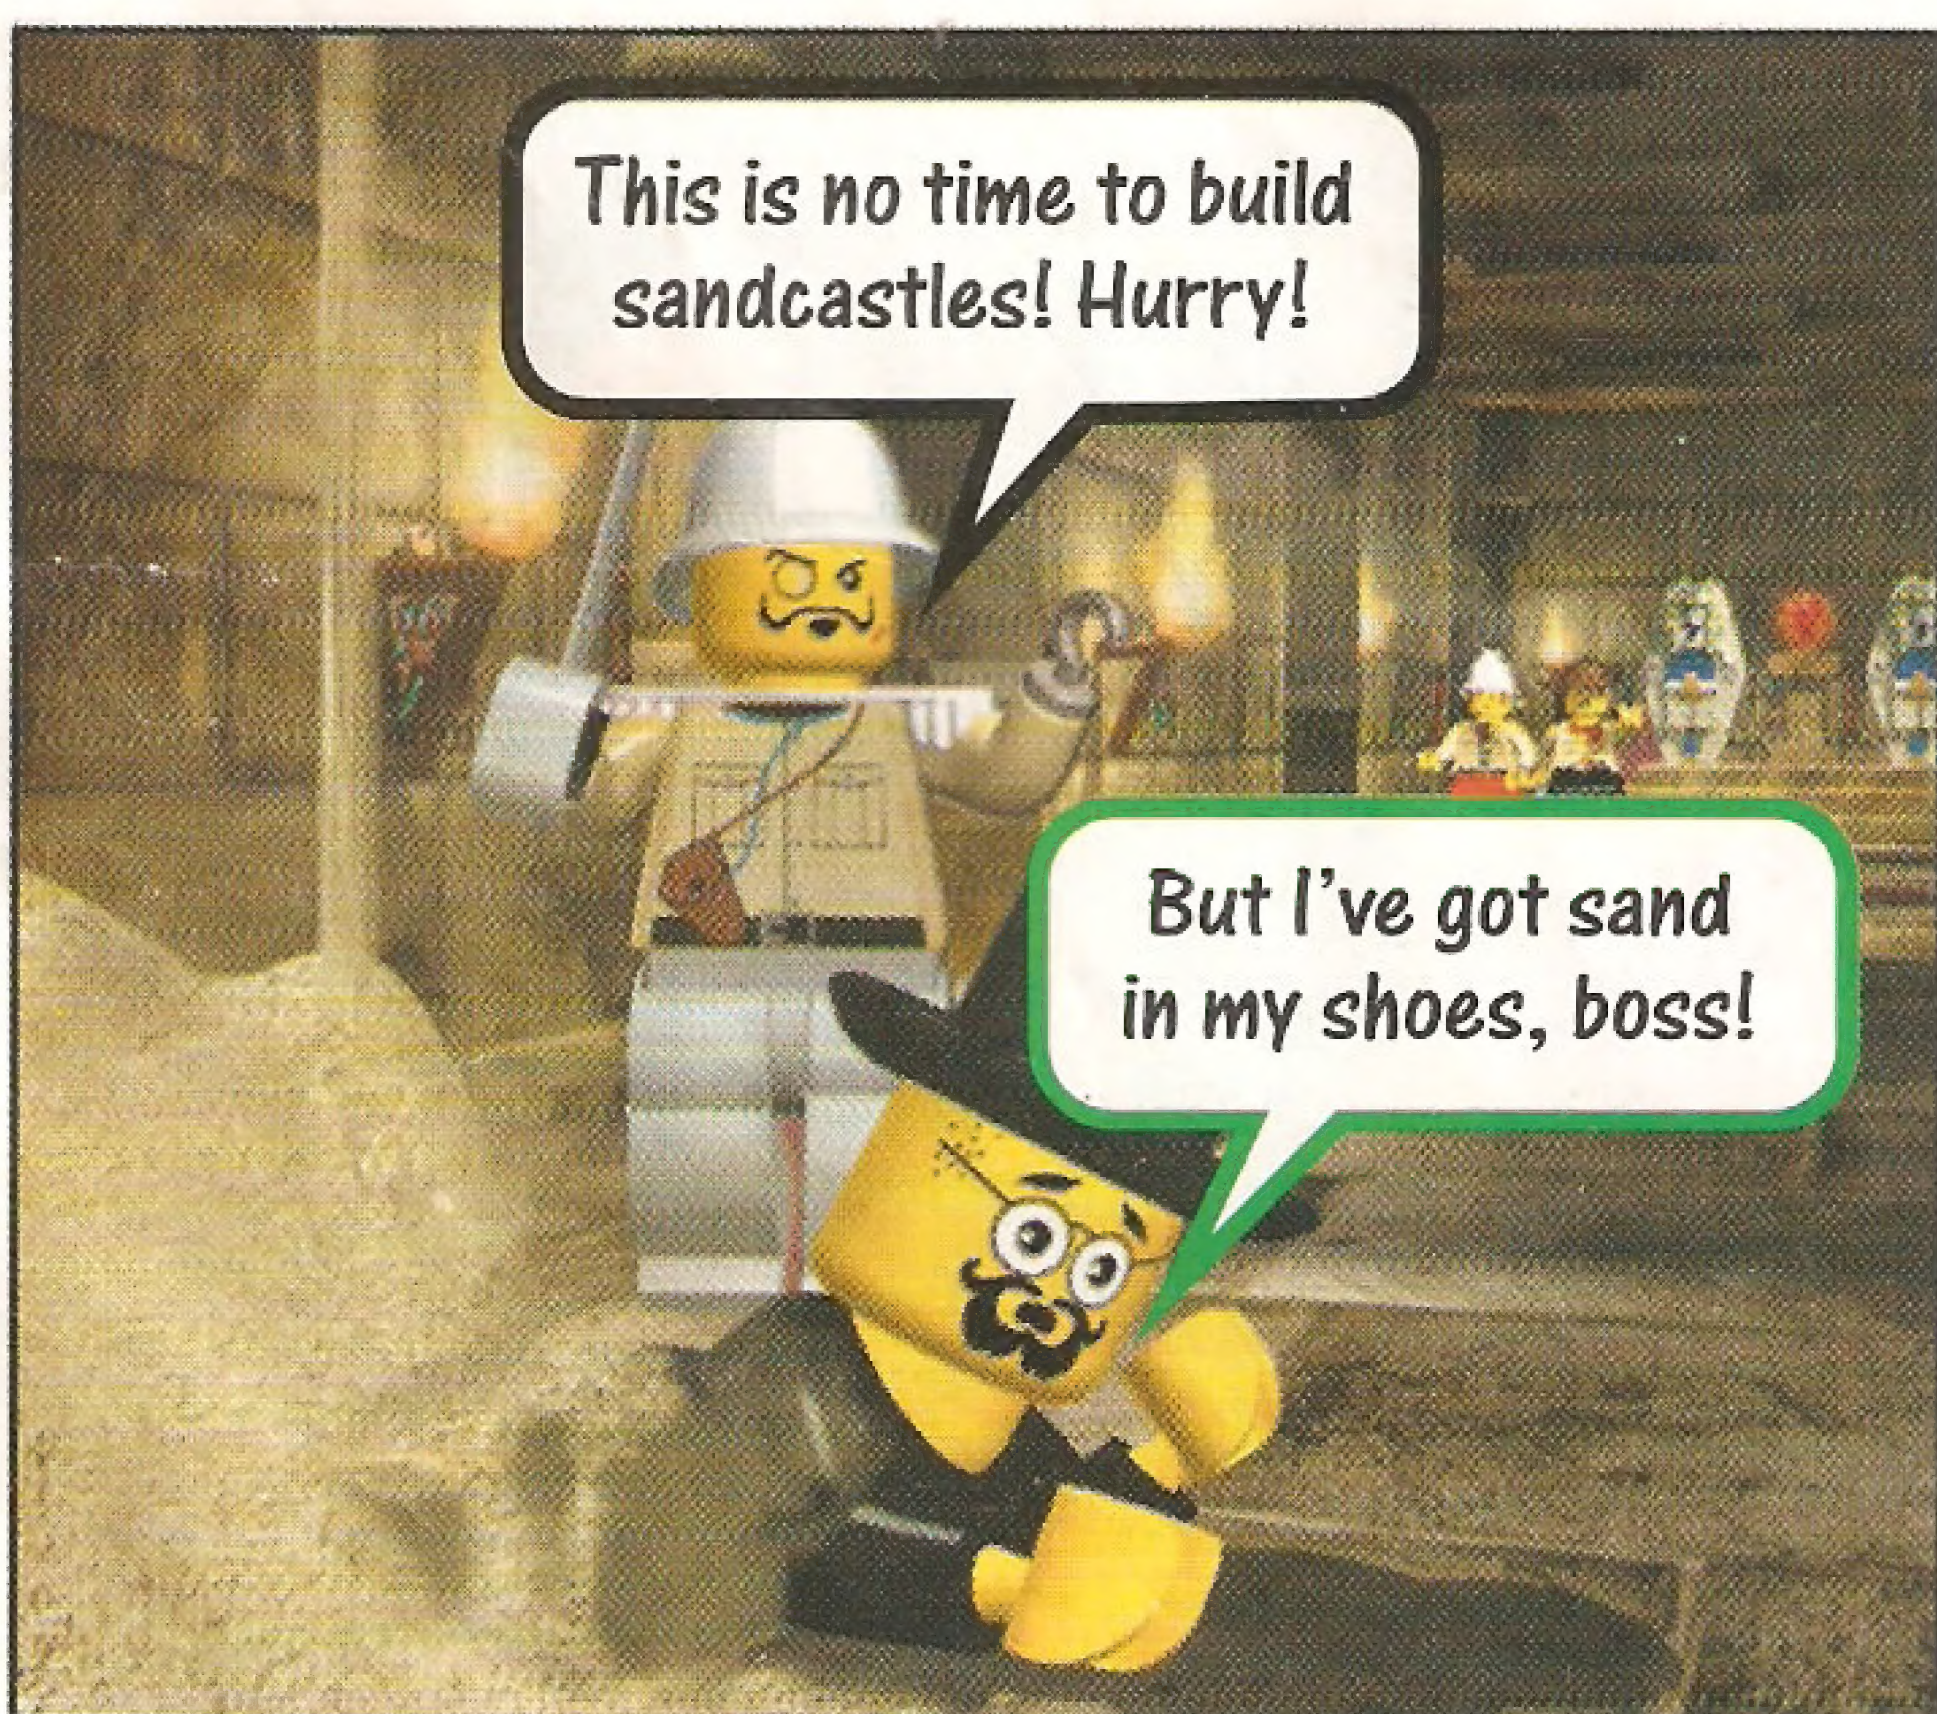

Suddenly...

WHOOOSSH!

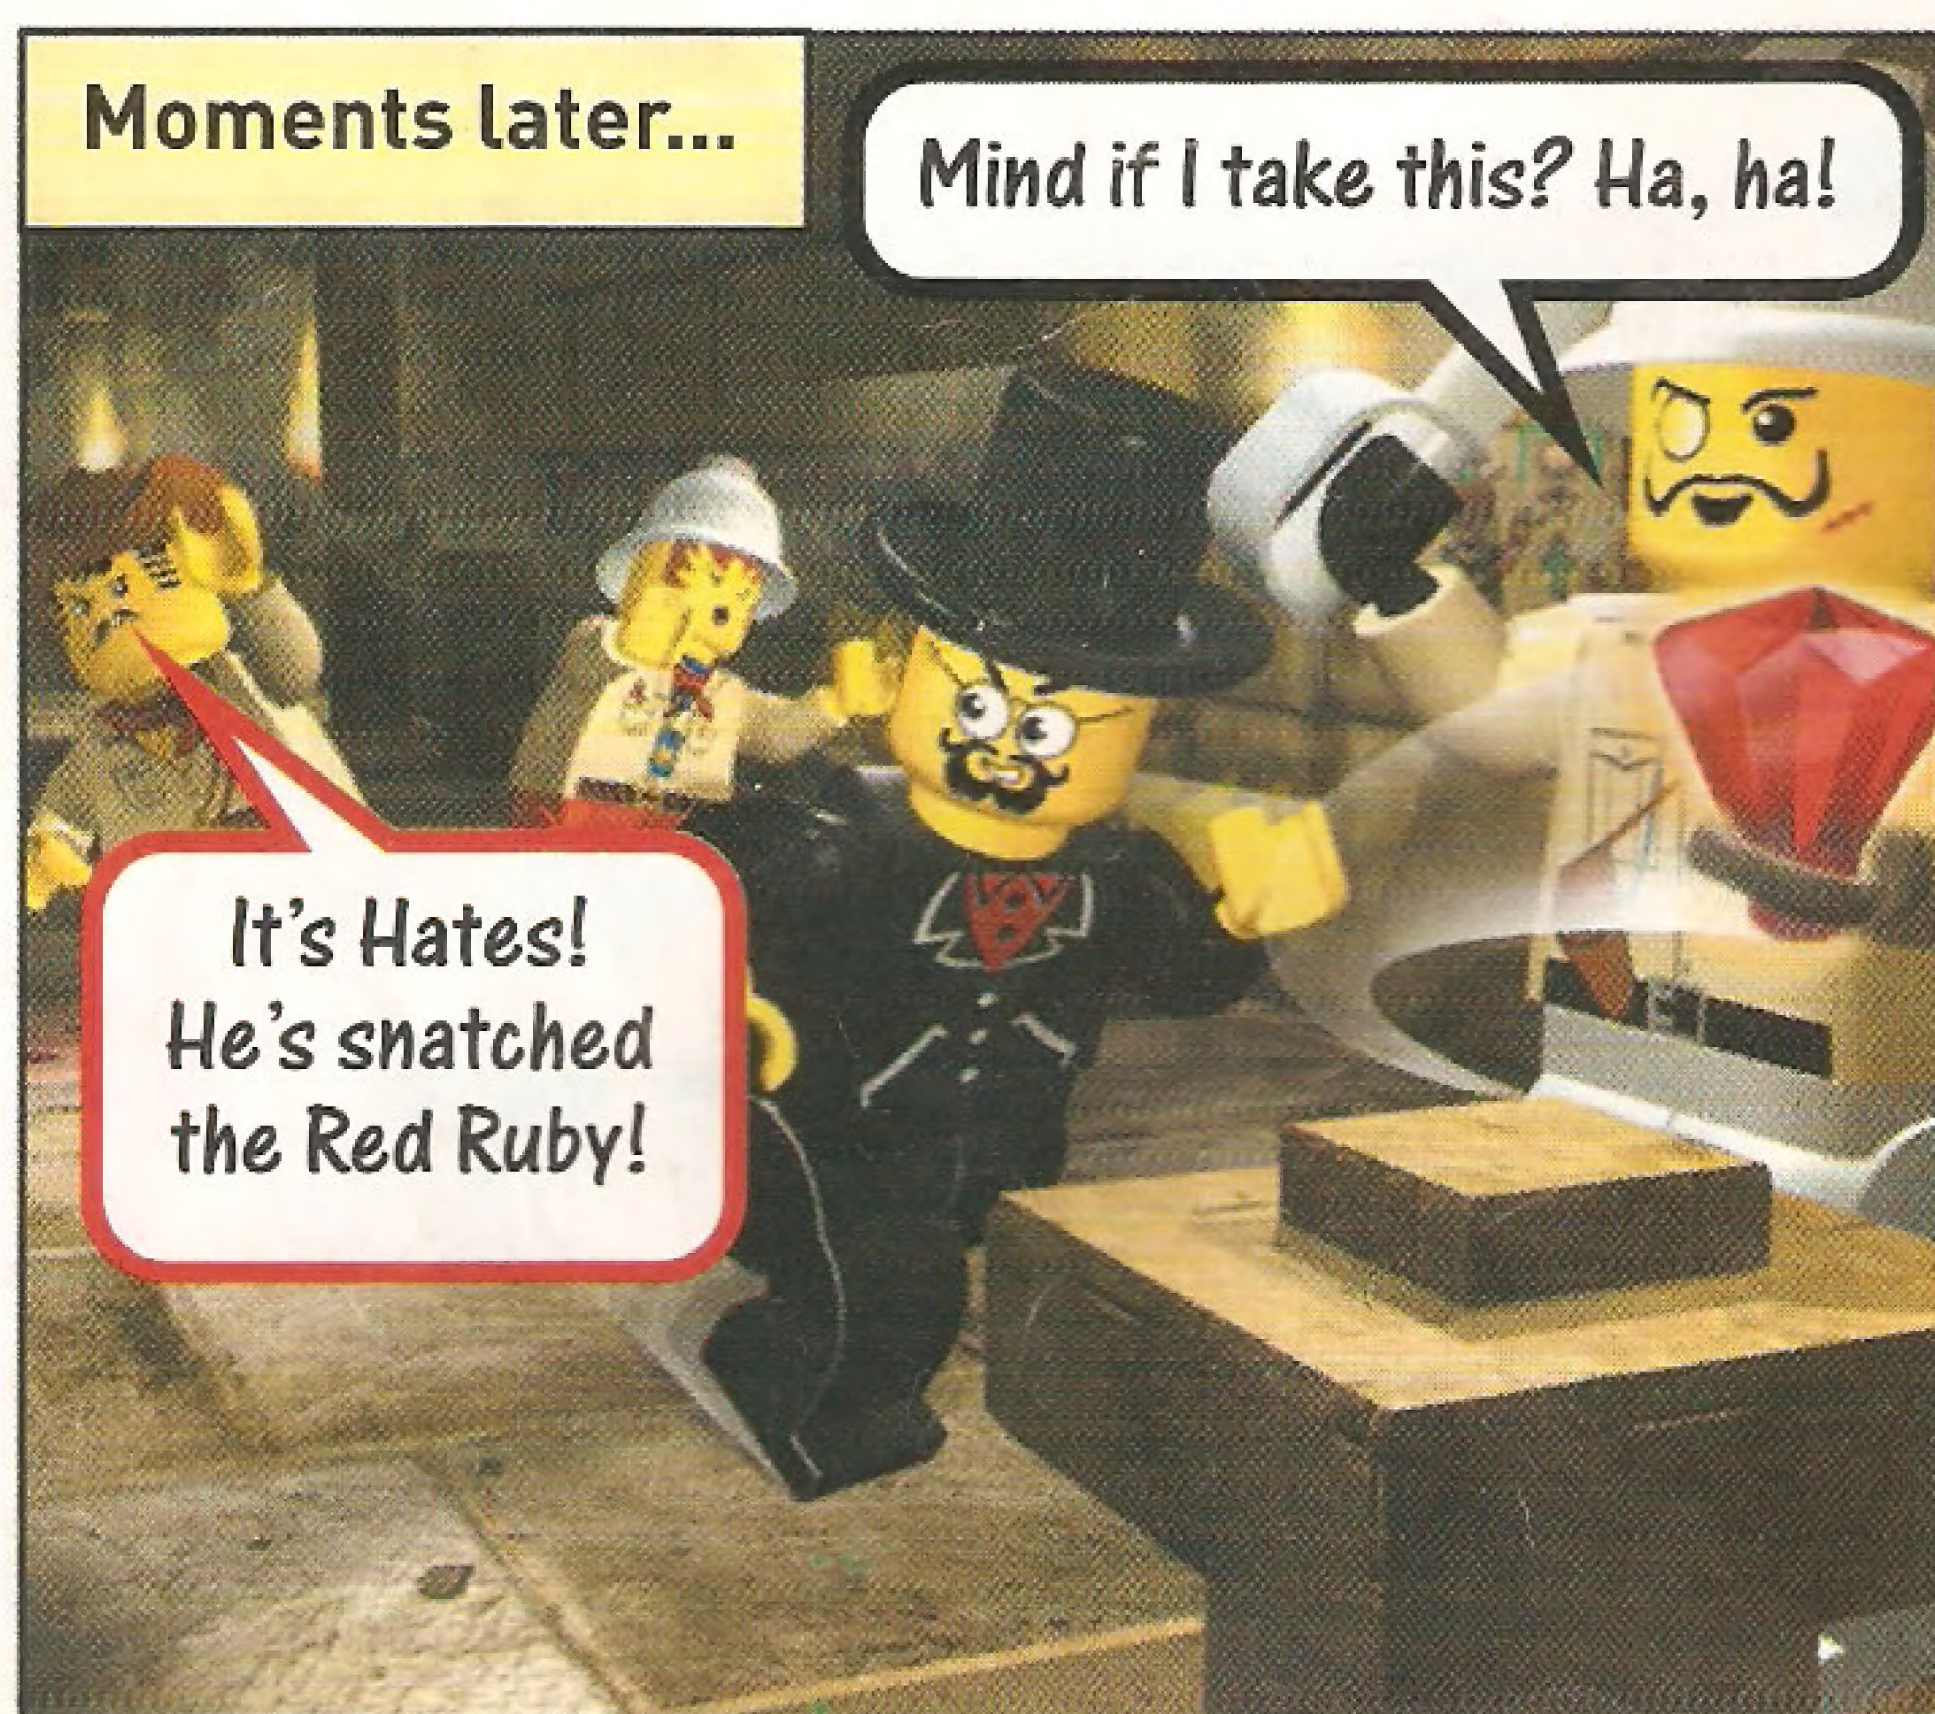

Waaagghh!

Not quite, you idiot!

This is no time to build sandcastles! Hurry!

But I've got sand in my shoes, boss!

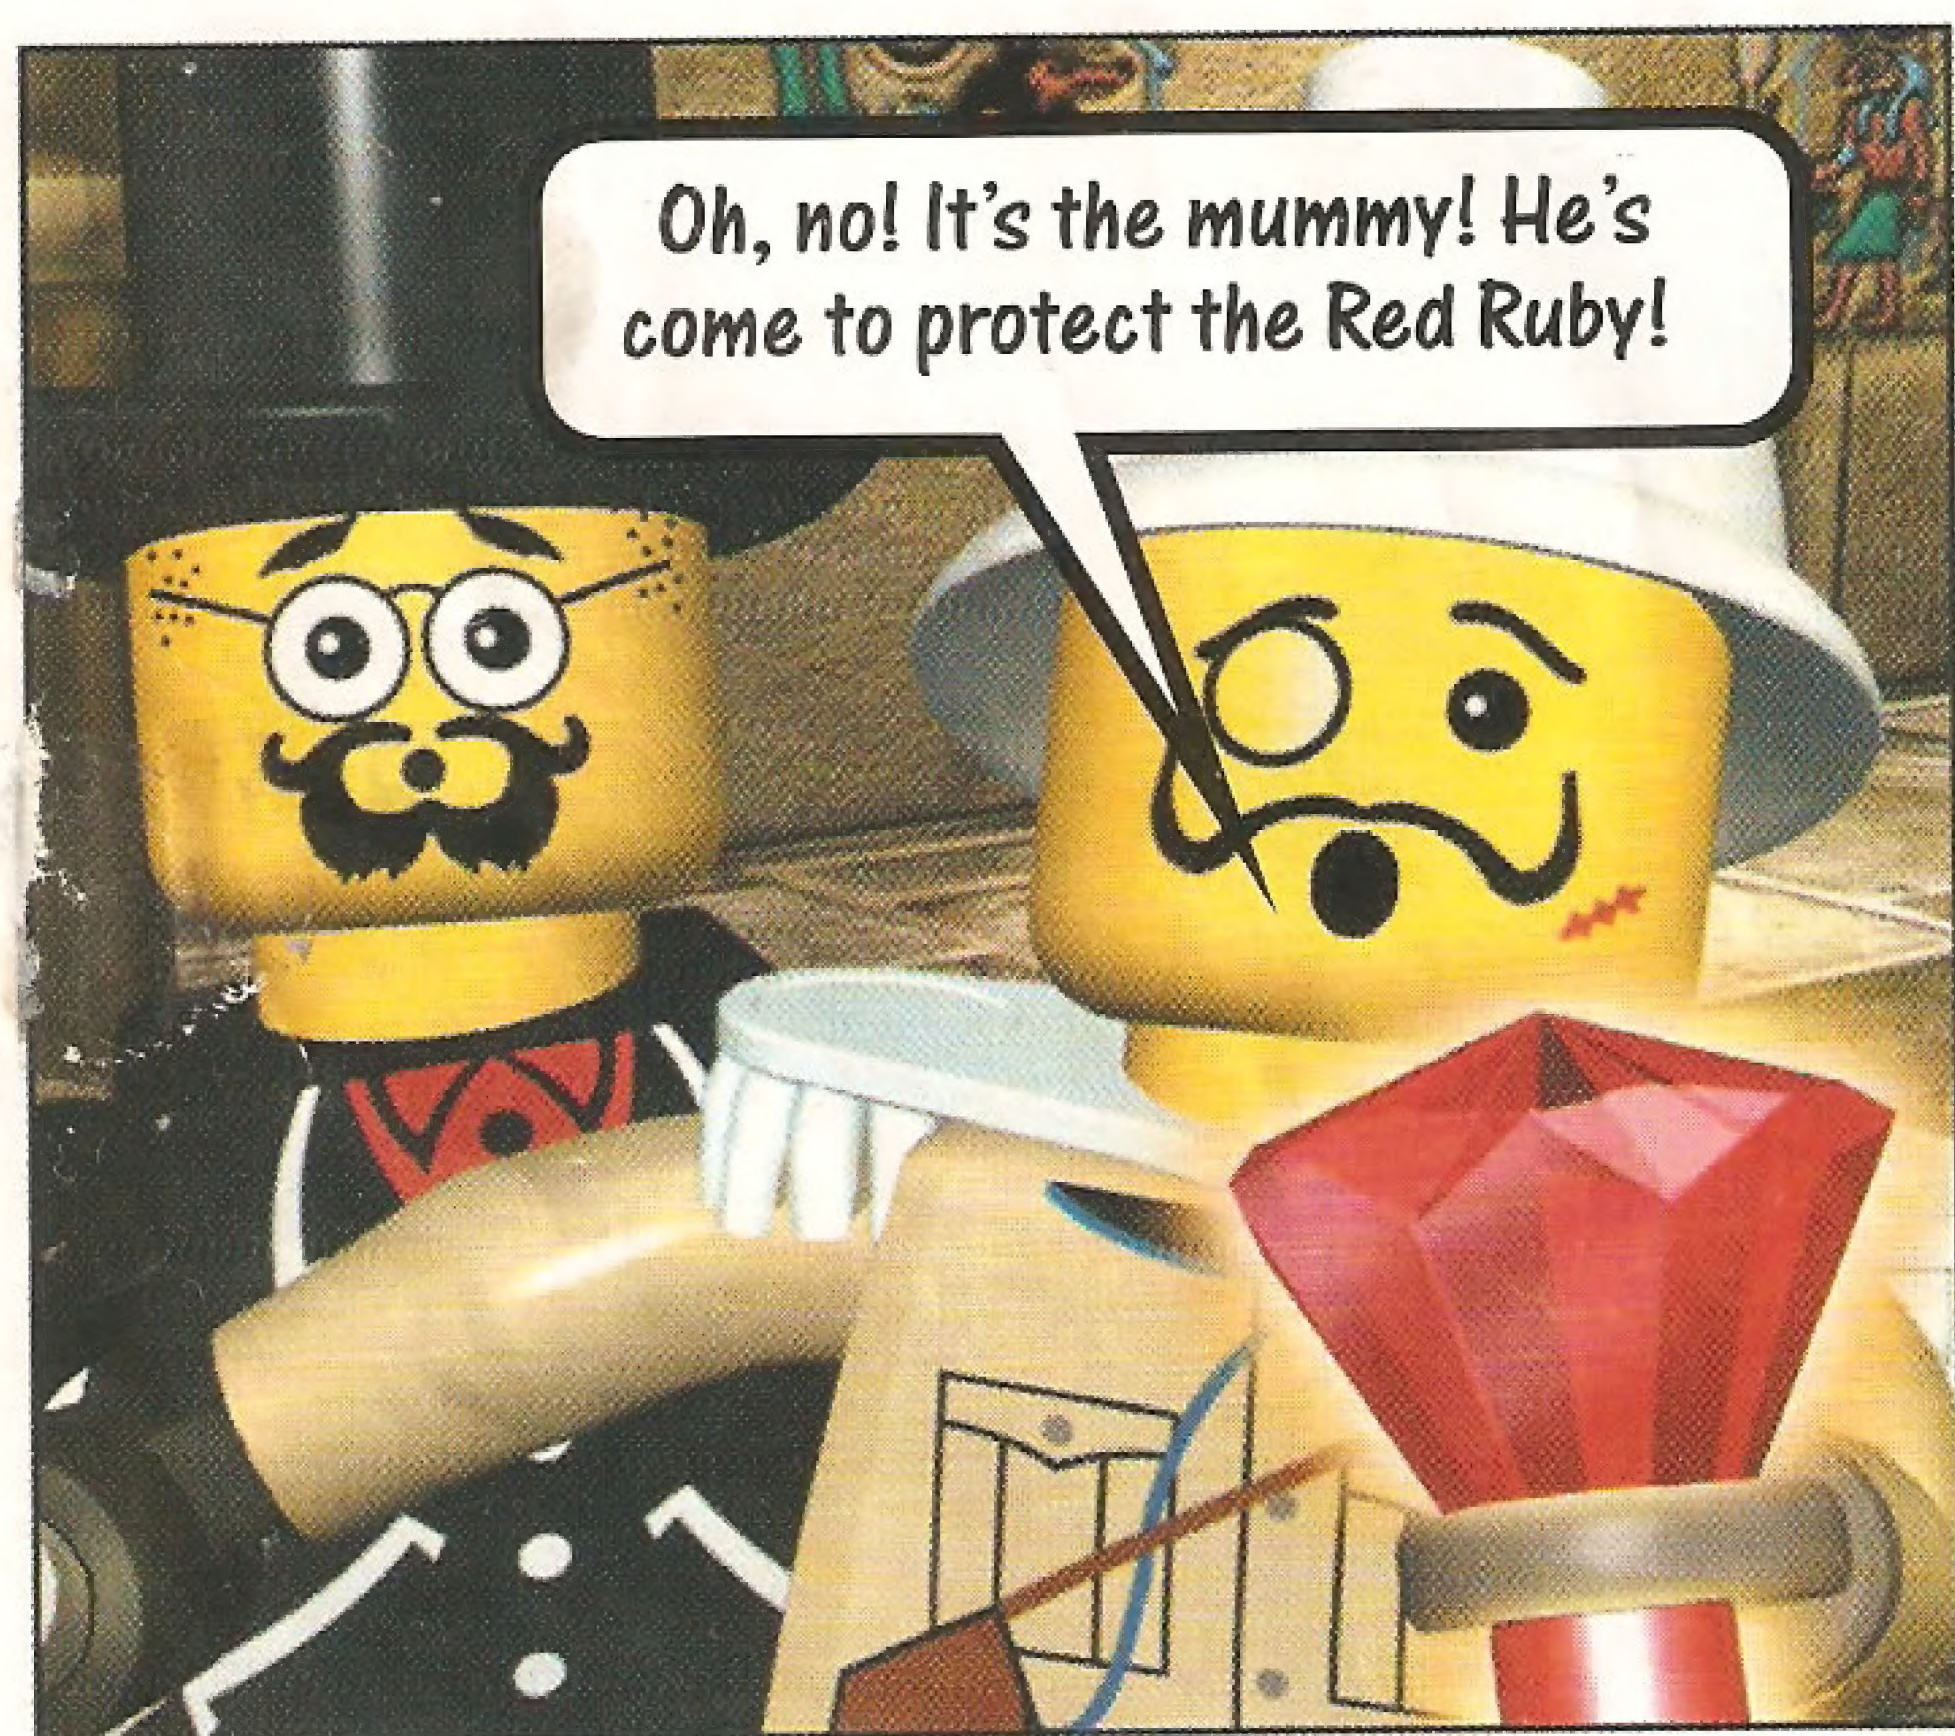

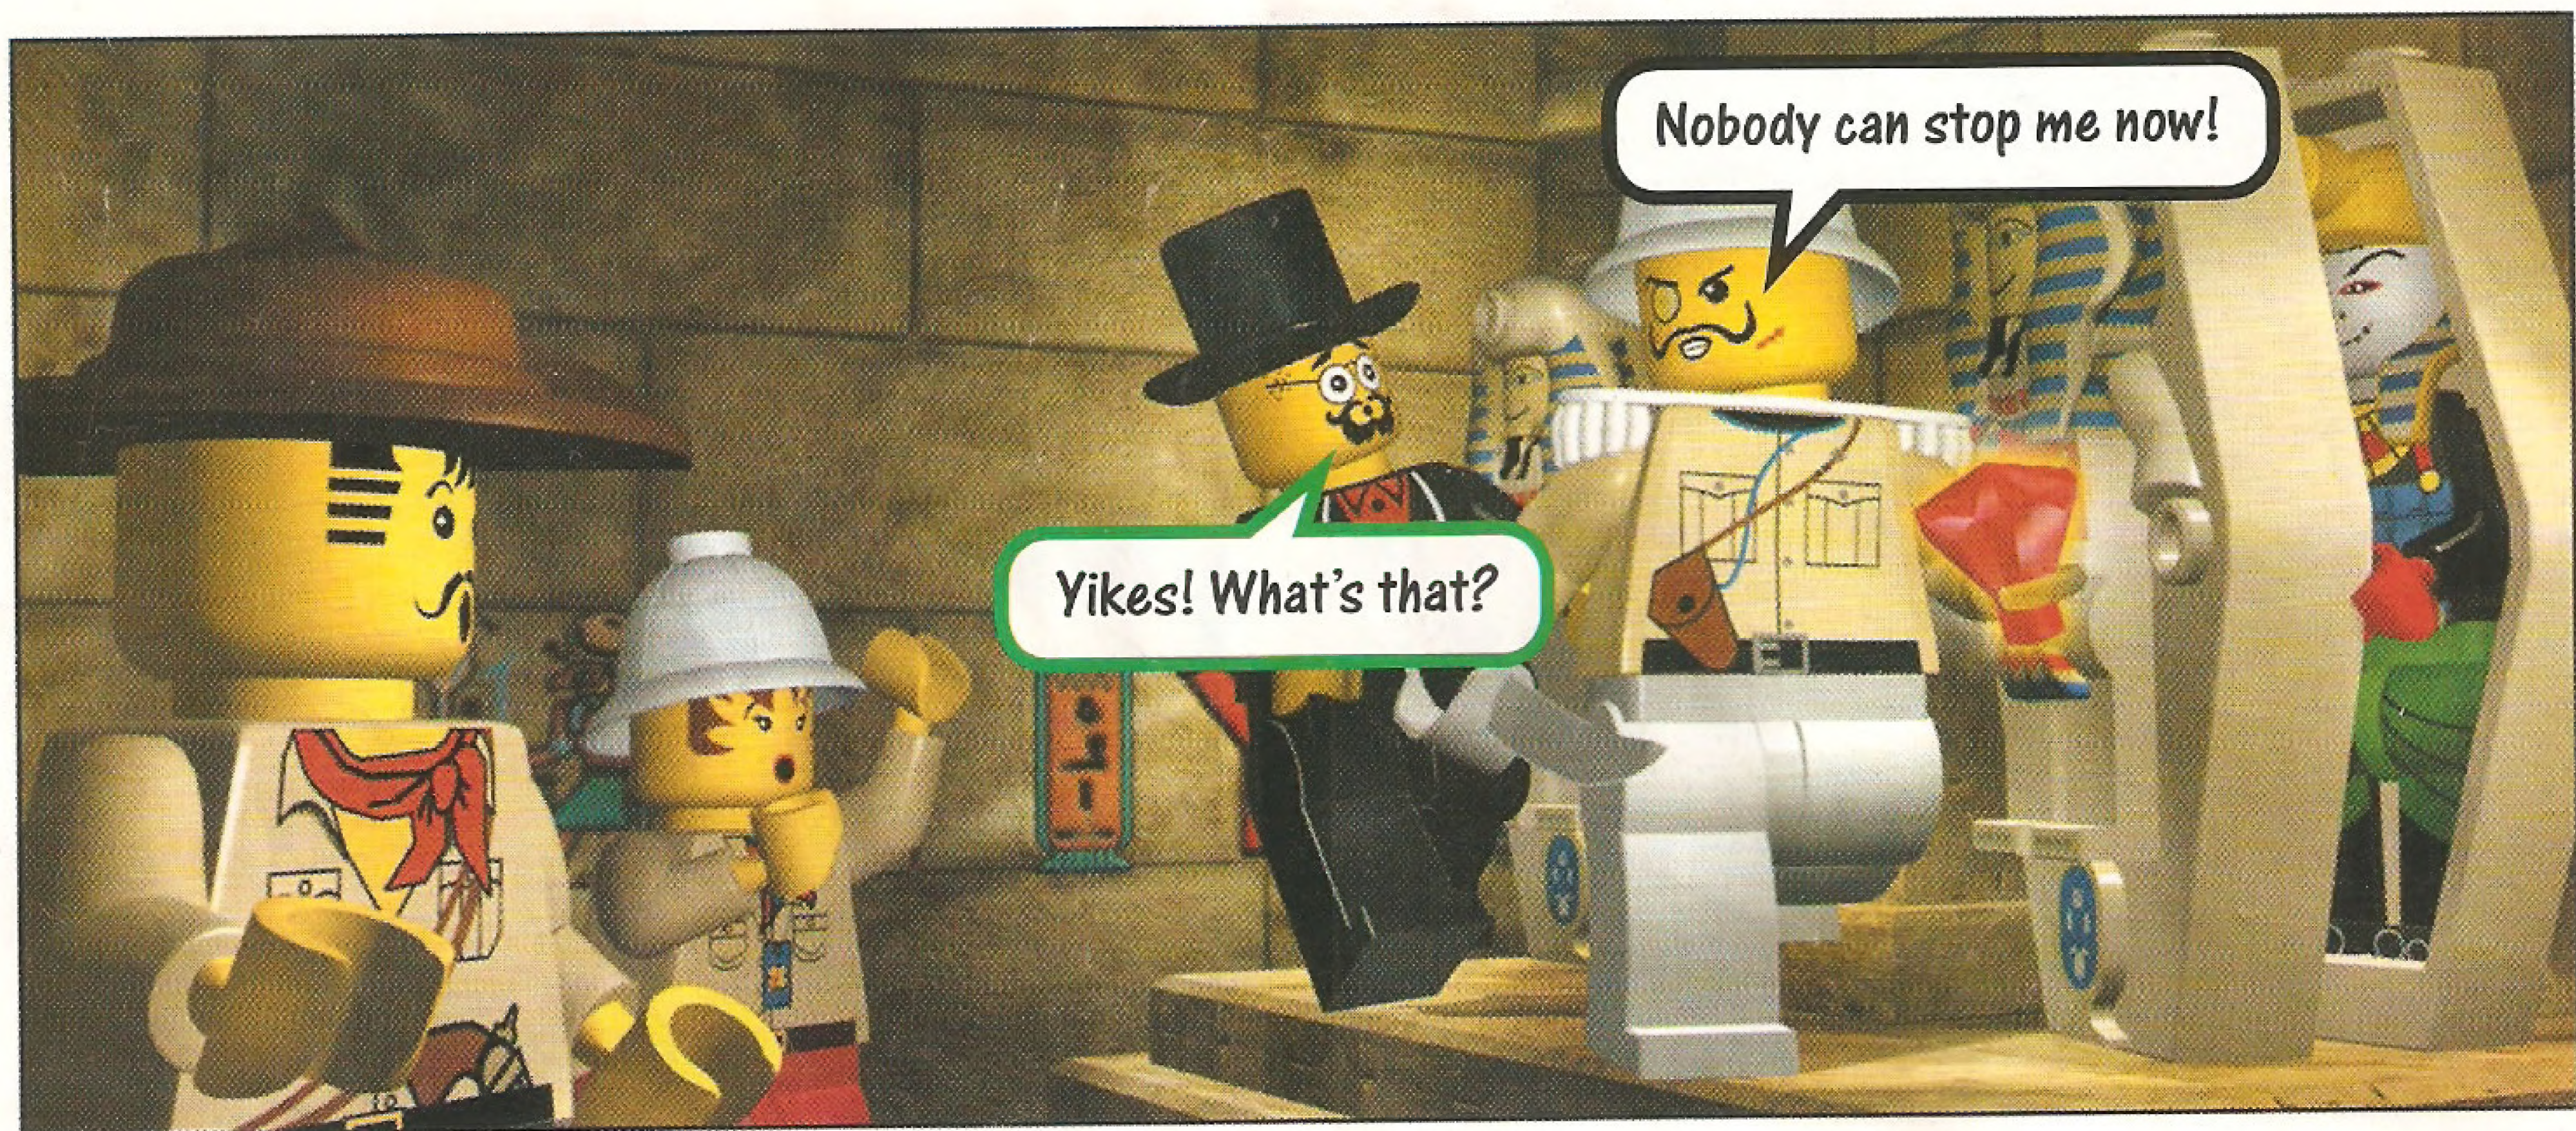

Moments later...

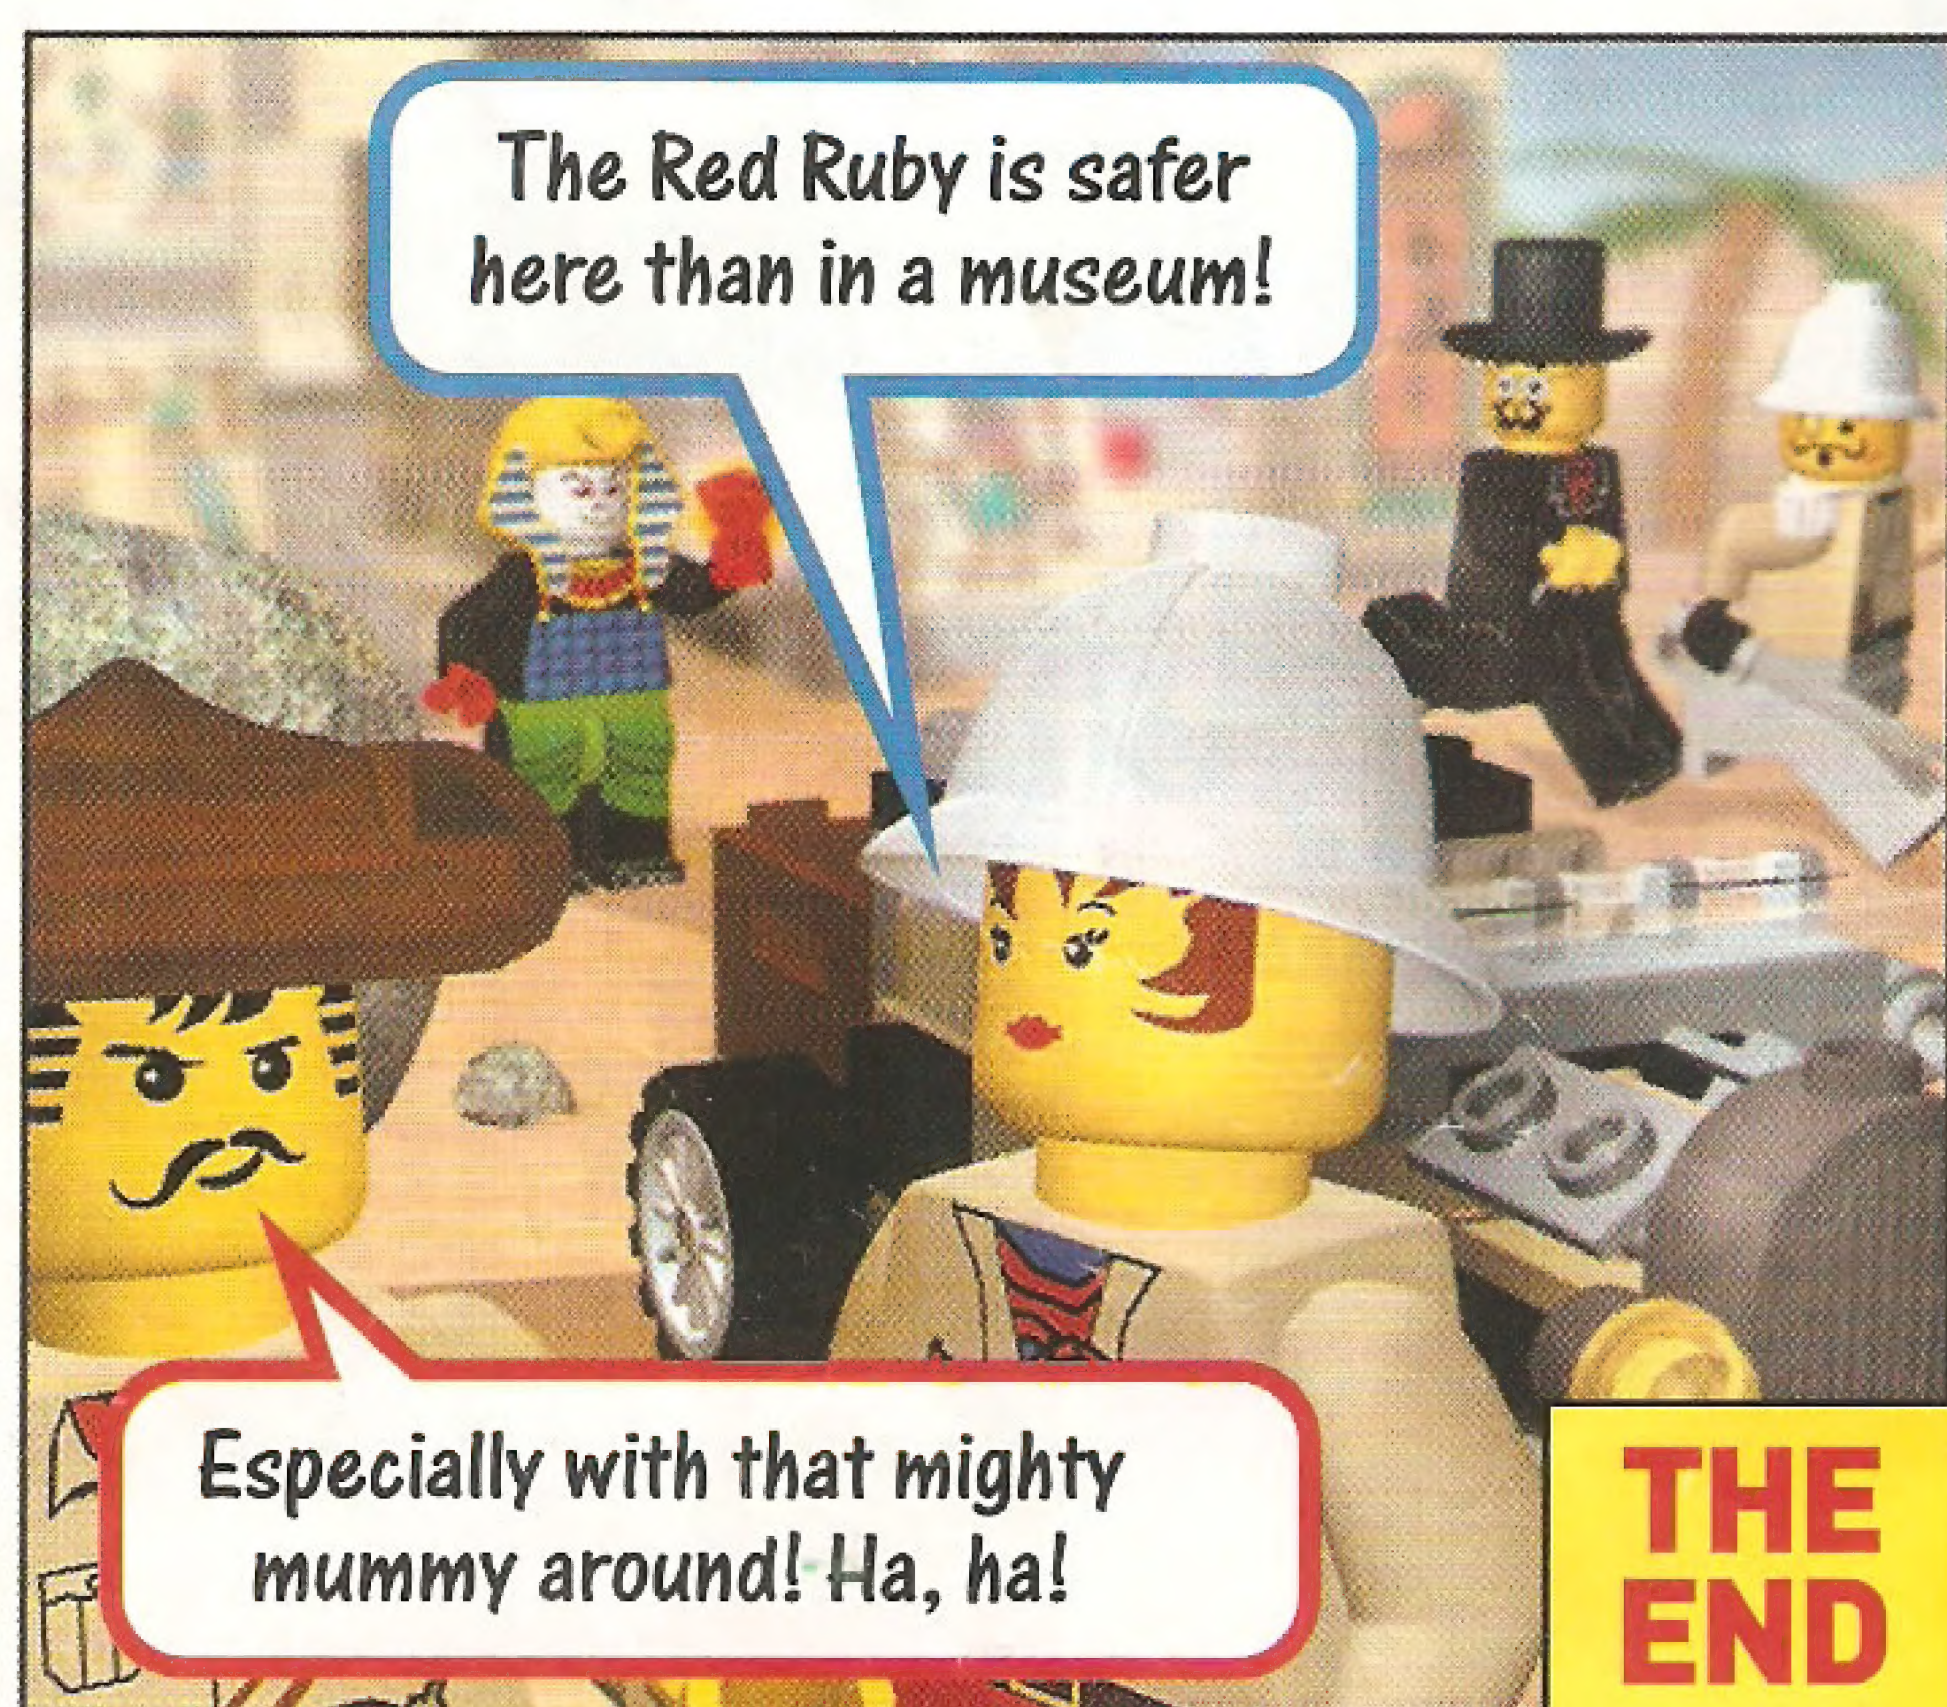

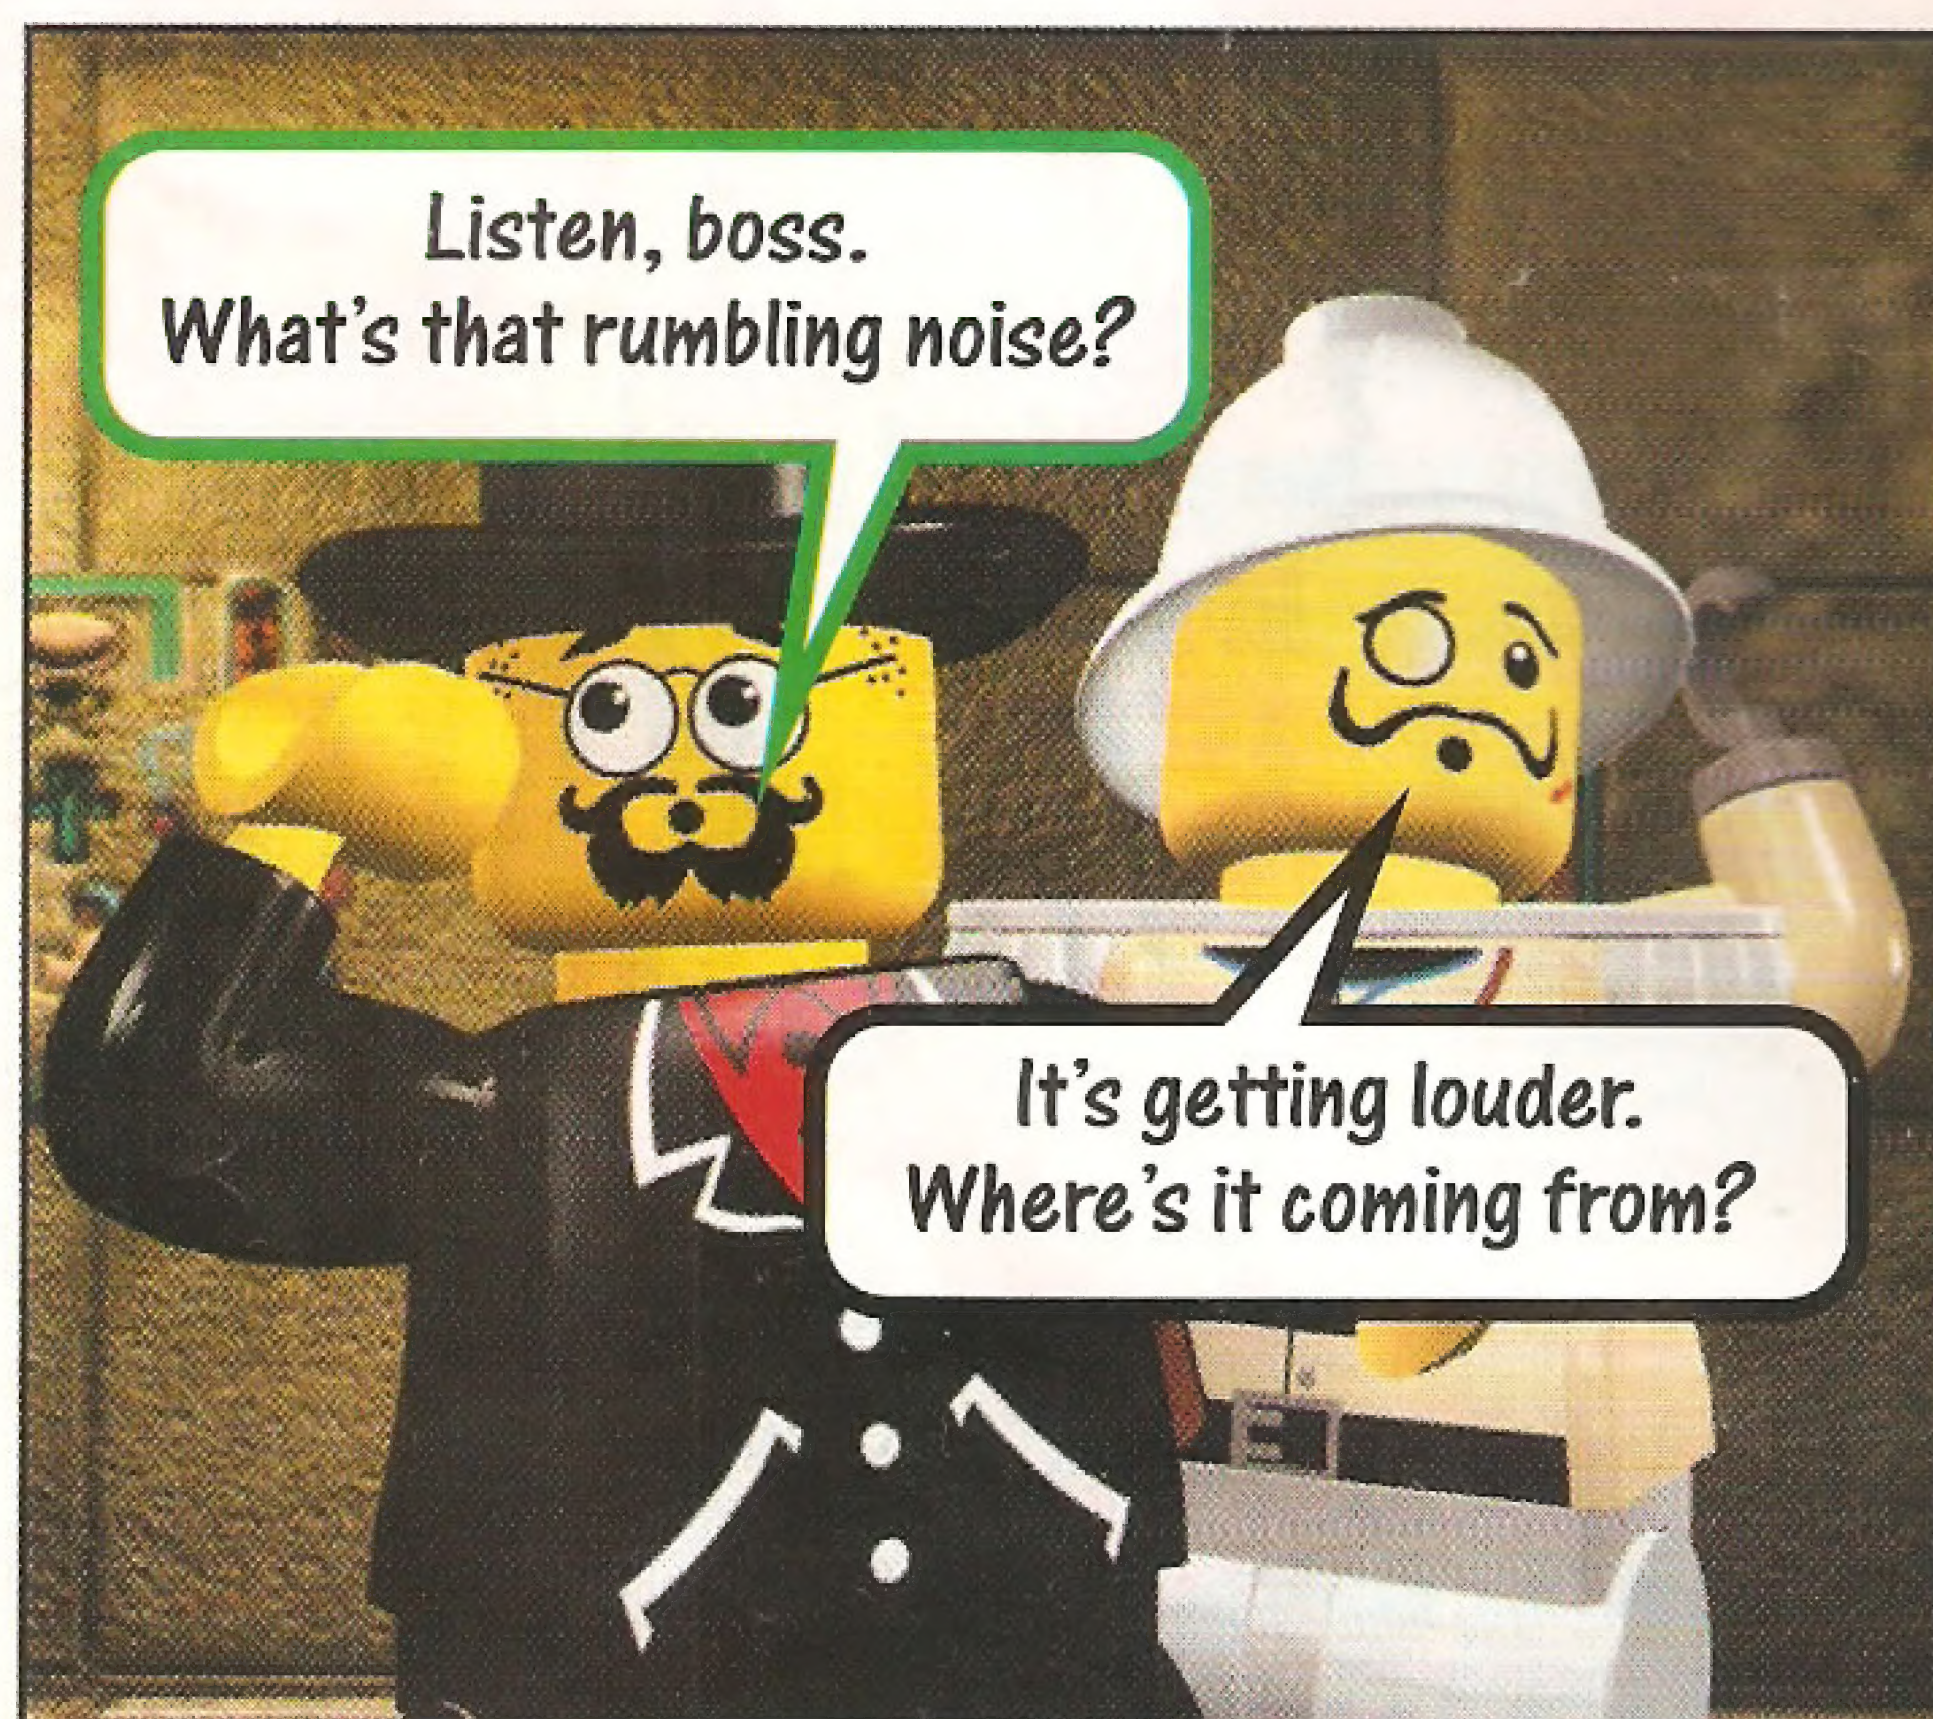

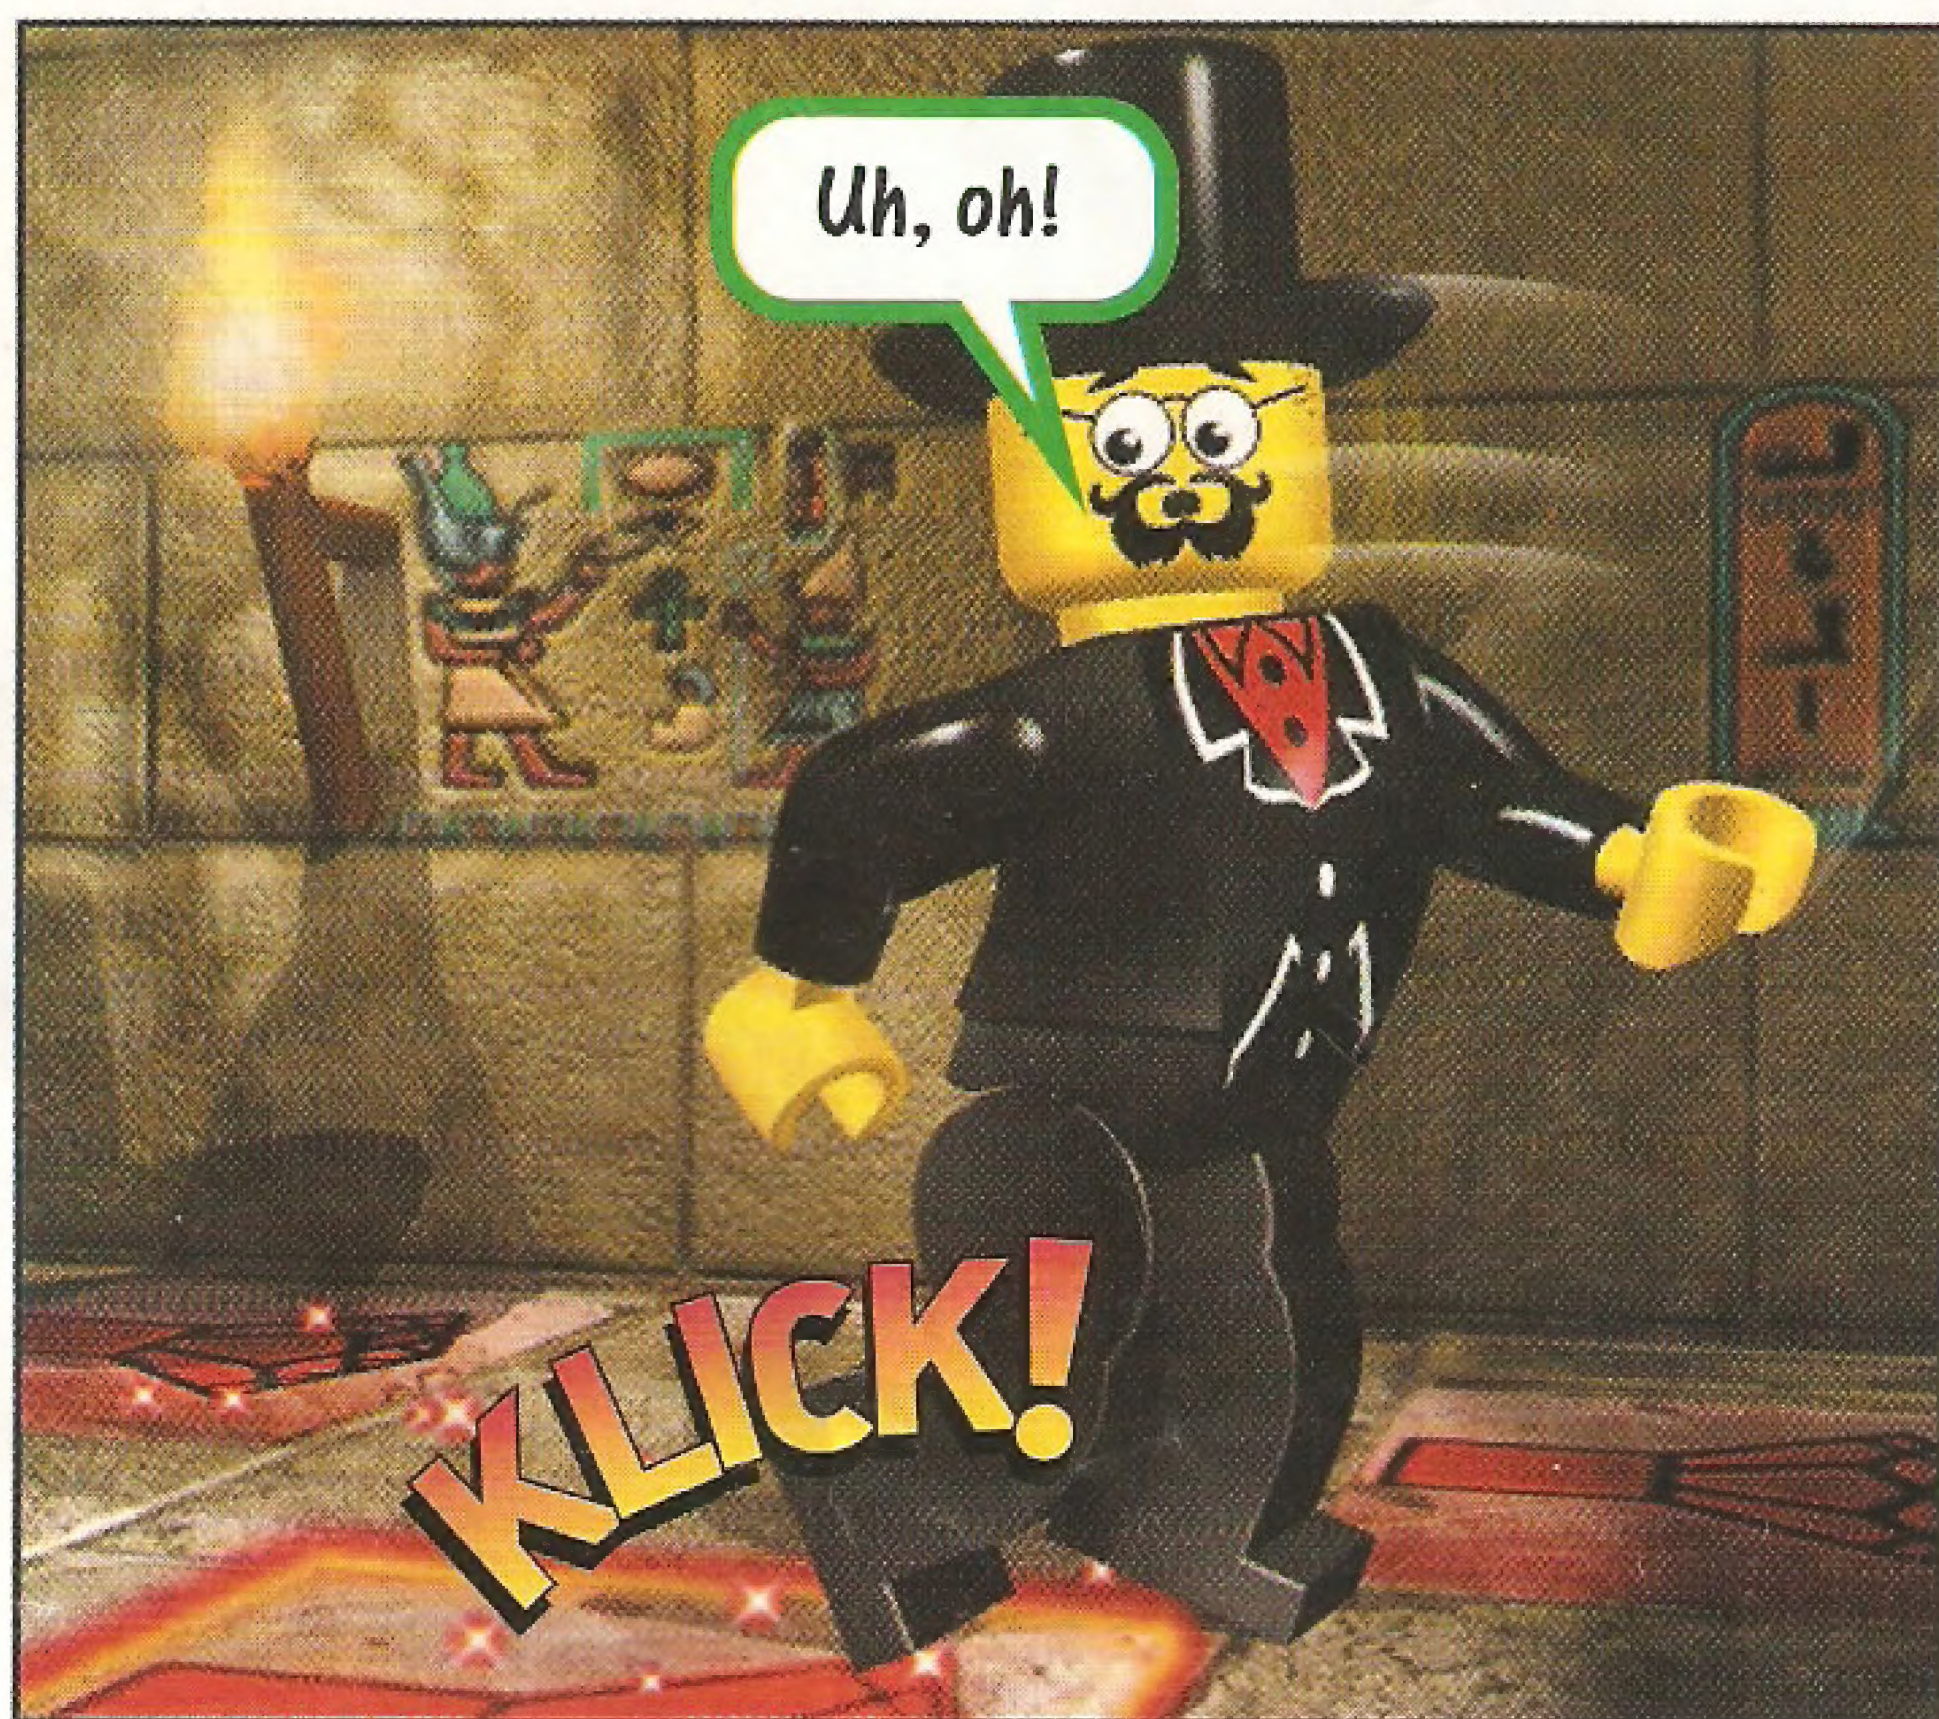

Mind if I take this? Ha, ha!

It's Hates! He's snatched the Red Ruby!

Adventures

An ancient civilisation existed in Egypt over 5,000 years ago. Let's take a look at some of the amazing things the Egyptians built!

Egyptian kings were thought to be gods in human form. They were given the title of pharaoh (fair-oh), which meant "Great House". This golden mask was made for the boy pharaoh, Tutankhamun!

Ancient Eg

The ancient Egyptians invented a form of picture writing known as hieroglyphics (high-ro-gliff-icks).

When a pharaoh died, he was turned into a mummy by being wrapped in bandages!

Pyramids are massive stone tombs built to house the mummified bodies of pharaohs. They still stand to this day!

Picture credits: Pictor International, Robert Harding Picture Library, Tony Stone Images.

Obelisks are tall, pointed columns made from hard stone. They were monuments to Re, the ancient sun god worshipped by the Egyptians.

gypt

The ancient civilisation of the pharaohs began on the banks of the Nile River, which provided water and fertile soil.

The Sphinx is a huge stone statue of a lion with a human head!

Quick-build

Egyptian Mu

This mummy was made using Basic and Freestyle LEGO pieces.

This large piece holds the mummy's legs together.

We've made our mummy walk, but you could make him standing still.

This base piece helps the figure stand up straight.

You could try adding coloured pieces for eyes.

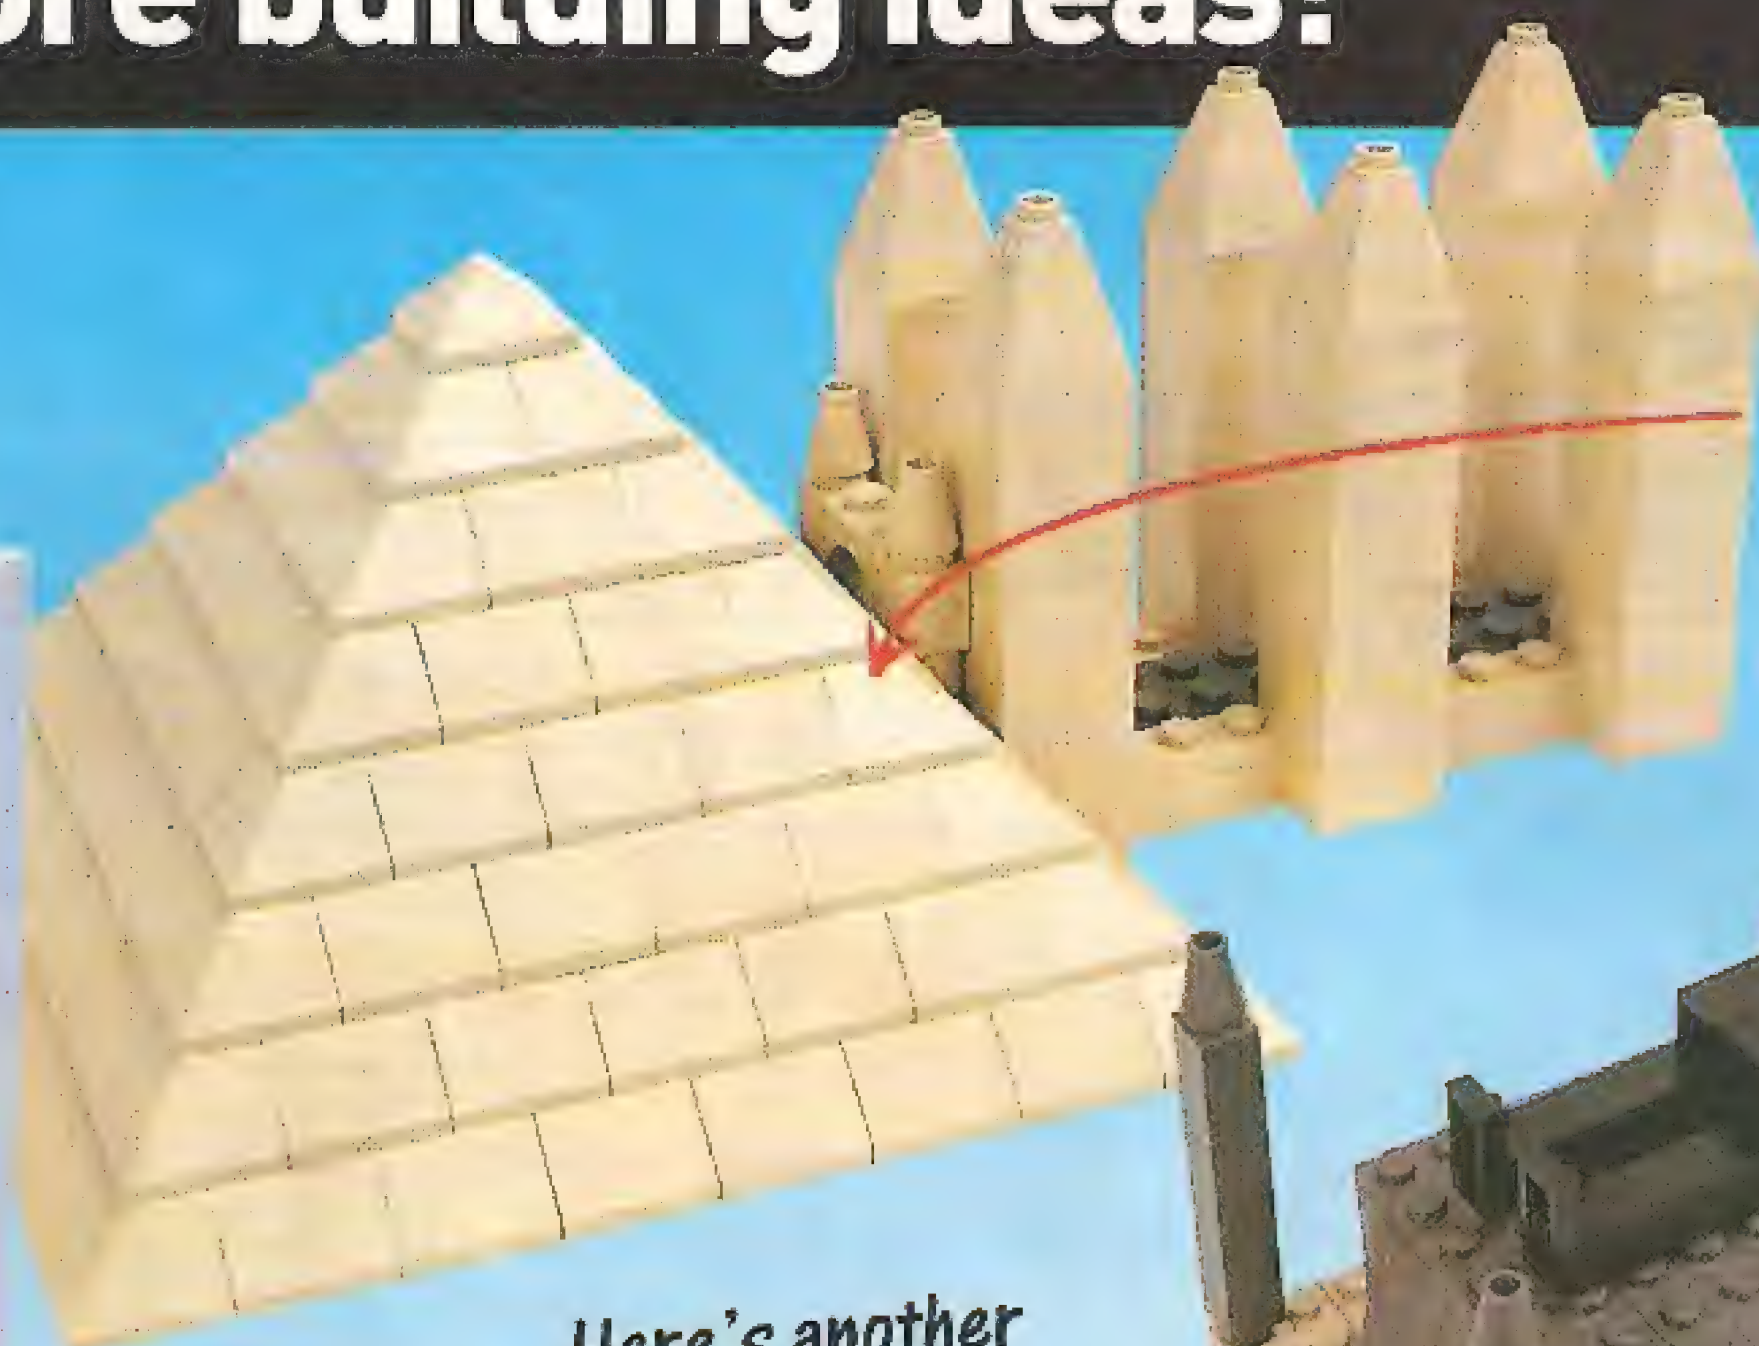

You could try giving your mummy a special crown or headpiece.

Our mummy has outstretched arms, but you could make him hold a jewel or treasure!

mmy

More building ideas!

This fantastic pyramid looks just like the real thing!

Here's another mummy resting on an Egyptian burial tomb.

Try making your own hieroglyphics from LEGO bricks!

We've used simple pieces for our quick-build plans in LEGO Adventures!, but don't worry if you don't have the same bricks. Be Creative!

Don't forget to send your own photos to LEGO Adventures!

Instead of this base, try making a pyramid for him to stand on.

Puzzles

If you get stuck,
turn to the answers
on page 35!

How many differences can you spot on the racing car on the right?

Join the dots to discover what vehicle Anakin Skywalker is piloting!

Have lots of fun colouring in this fantastic LEGO action scene!

Update

Bluewater is situated off the A2 in Kent, just a mile from Junction 2 of the M25. By train, the nearest station is Greenhithe, from which there is a FREE shuttle bus to Bluewater.

New LEGO Shop opens!

We blast into space this month with a LEGO news story that's out of this world! There's also a fantastic reader offer - A LEGOLAND Windsor money-off coupon!

The first ever LEGO brand store opened on August 2nd in the Bluewater Shopping Centre, Greenhithe, Kent. The store will be packed with lots of exciting LEGO books, clothes, watches and software and even a MINDSTORMS robot!

LEGO League Launches!

LEGO bricks have been used to build all sorts of spaceships, but a LEGO model has never actually been into space - until now! NASA's recent Discovery Mission STS-96 included a crew of seven humans and one specially designed LEGO robotic arm. The model (right) was brought on board to launch the FIRST LEGO League.

Astronaut Daniel T. Barry.

The FIRST LEGO League is a friendly, high-tech sporting event in which teams of kids use the LEGO MINDSTORMS Robotics Invention System to design, build and test their models in tournament competitions.

Here's a fantastic selection of LEGO models to build.
Don't forget to send your own model pictures in to us!

Keyboard

This is a great miniature keyboard, but try building an even bigger one!

LEGO Alien

This strange alien creature was made using a few simple LEGO bricks.

We've made this great candlestick holder using red LEGO bricks, but you could use any coloured pieces.

Candlestick

Cheeseburger

This great burger looks really tasty, but don't try eating it!

You could make more LEGO playing cards and play a game of snap!

Playing Cards

American Flag

We've made an American flag, but you could try making flags from other countries.

Train

Build this tiny train and then try making carriages and a track!

Picture Frame

Drill

Try making other tools as well, such as a hammer and screwdriver.

Magma Moon Marathon!

Starring...

Rocket Racer

The fastest racing driver in the LEGO universe!

Veronica Voltage

Grand-daughter of Professor Voltage, famous LEGO inventor!

Captain Redbeard and Batlord

The most cunning pirate on the seven seas, and a dark knight!

On the mysterious Magma Moon...

Inside Veronica Voltage's laboratory...

I've beaten everyone there is to beat, Veronica. There's no one left to challenge me!

But you've only beaten the best in today's LEGOLAND! There's a whole history of LEGOLAND racers out there...

My warp machine allows people to travel across space and time.

We can transport the greatest racers in the history of LEGOLAND so you can race against them!

The warp gate is activated...

Ahoy, there, Rocket Racer. The title's mine!

No way, pirate boy!

Uh-oh! Maybe this isn't a good idea, Rocket. They look pretty mean...

Don't worry, Veronica, I'll be too far in front to see them!

The Magma Moon Marathon begins!

3, 2, 1... GO!

VVRRROOOOMM!

Phew! I wish my armour was air-conditioned!

Out of my way, Redbeard!

Not a chance! I'll be the fastest driver in the universe!

WV RO OOM MM!

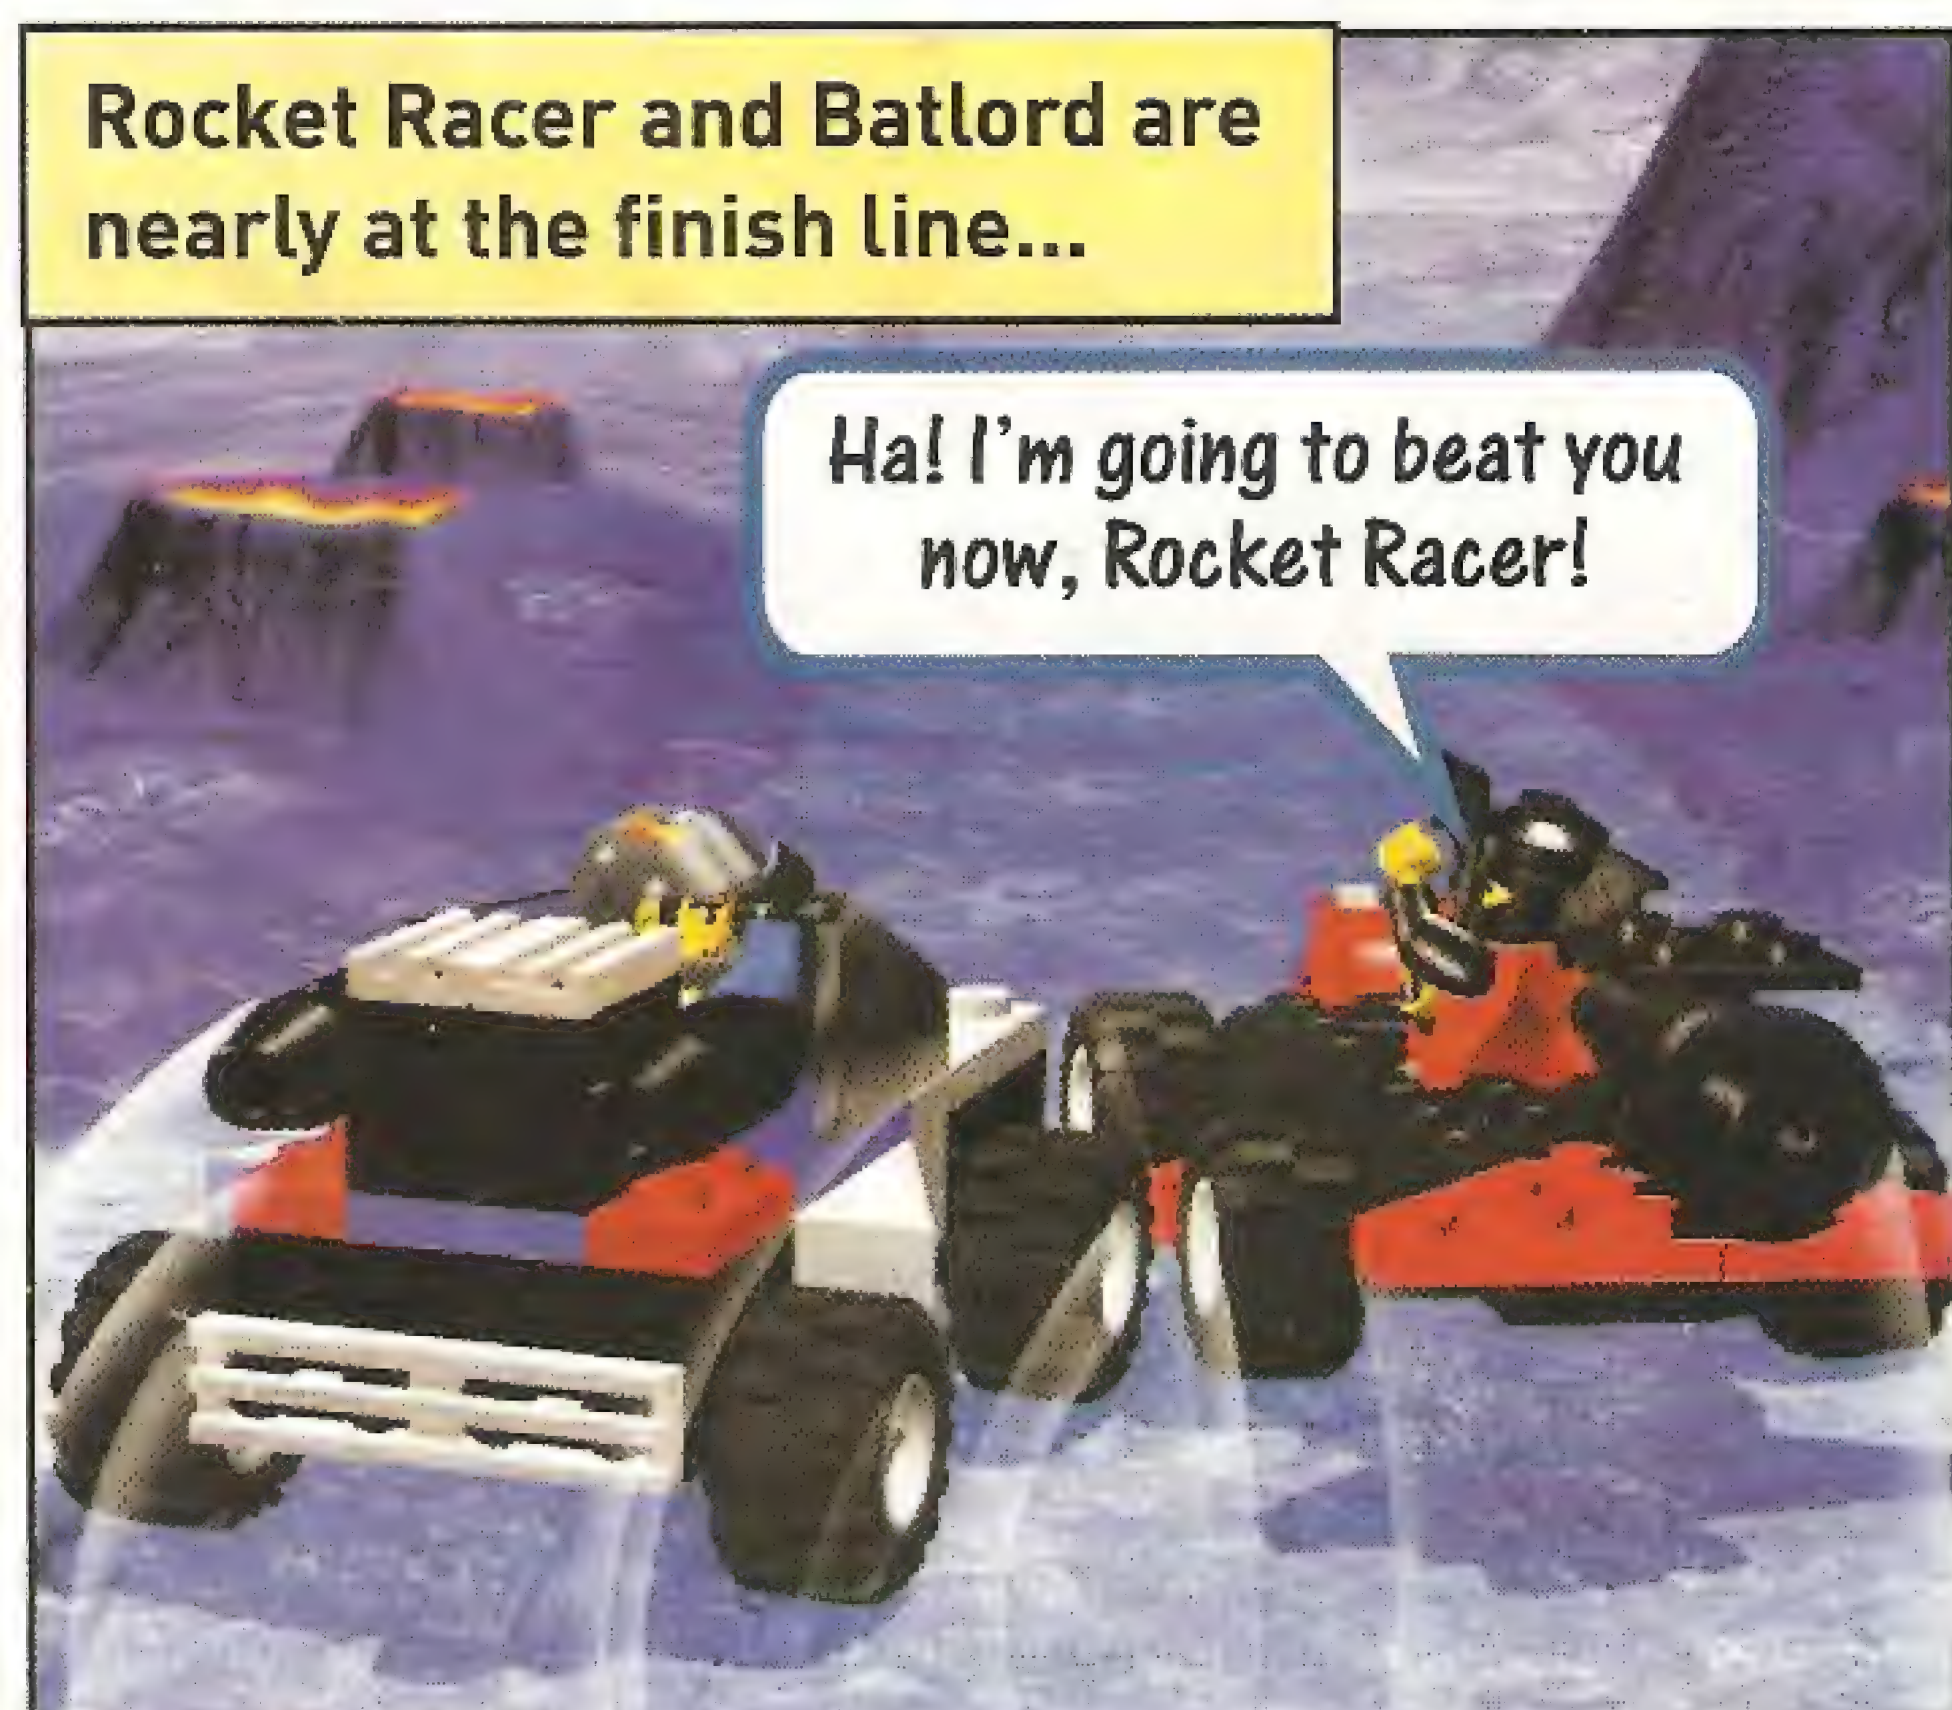

Just then...

Thundering typhoons! A volcano!

KA-BOOOOM!

Ouch! What a crash. Now I'll never win this race!

Rocket Racer and Batlord are nearly at the finish line...

Ha! I'm going to beat you now, Rocket Racer!

Suddenly...

RUMBLE!

Look out! The noise of our engines has set off a dust avalanche!

Oh, no! It's going to hit us!

Time for a speed boost!

Rocket Racer barely makes it in time...

YEEAAGGHHH!

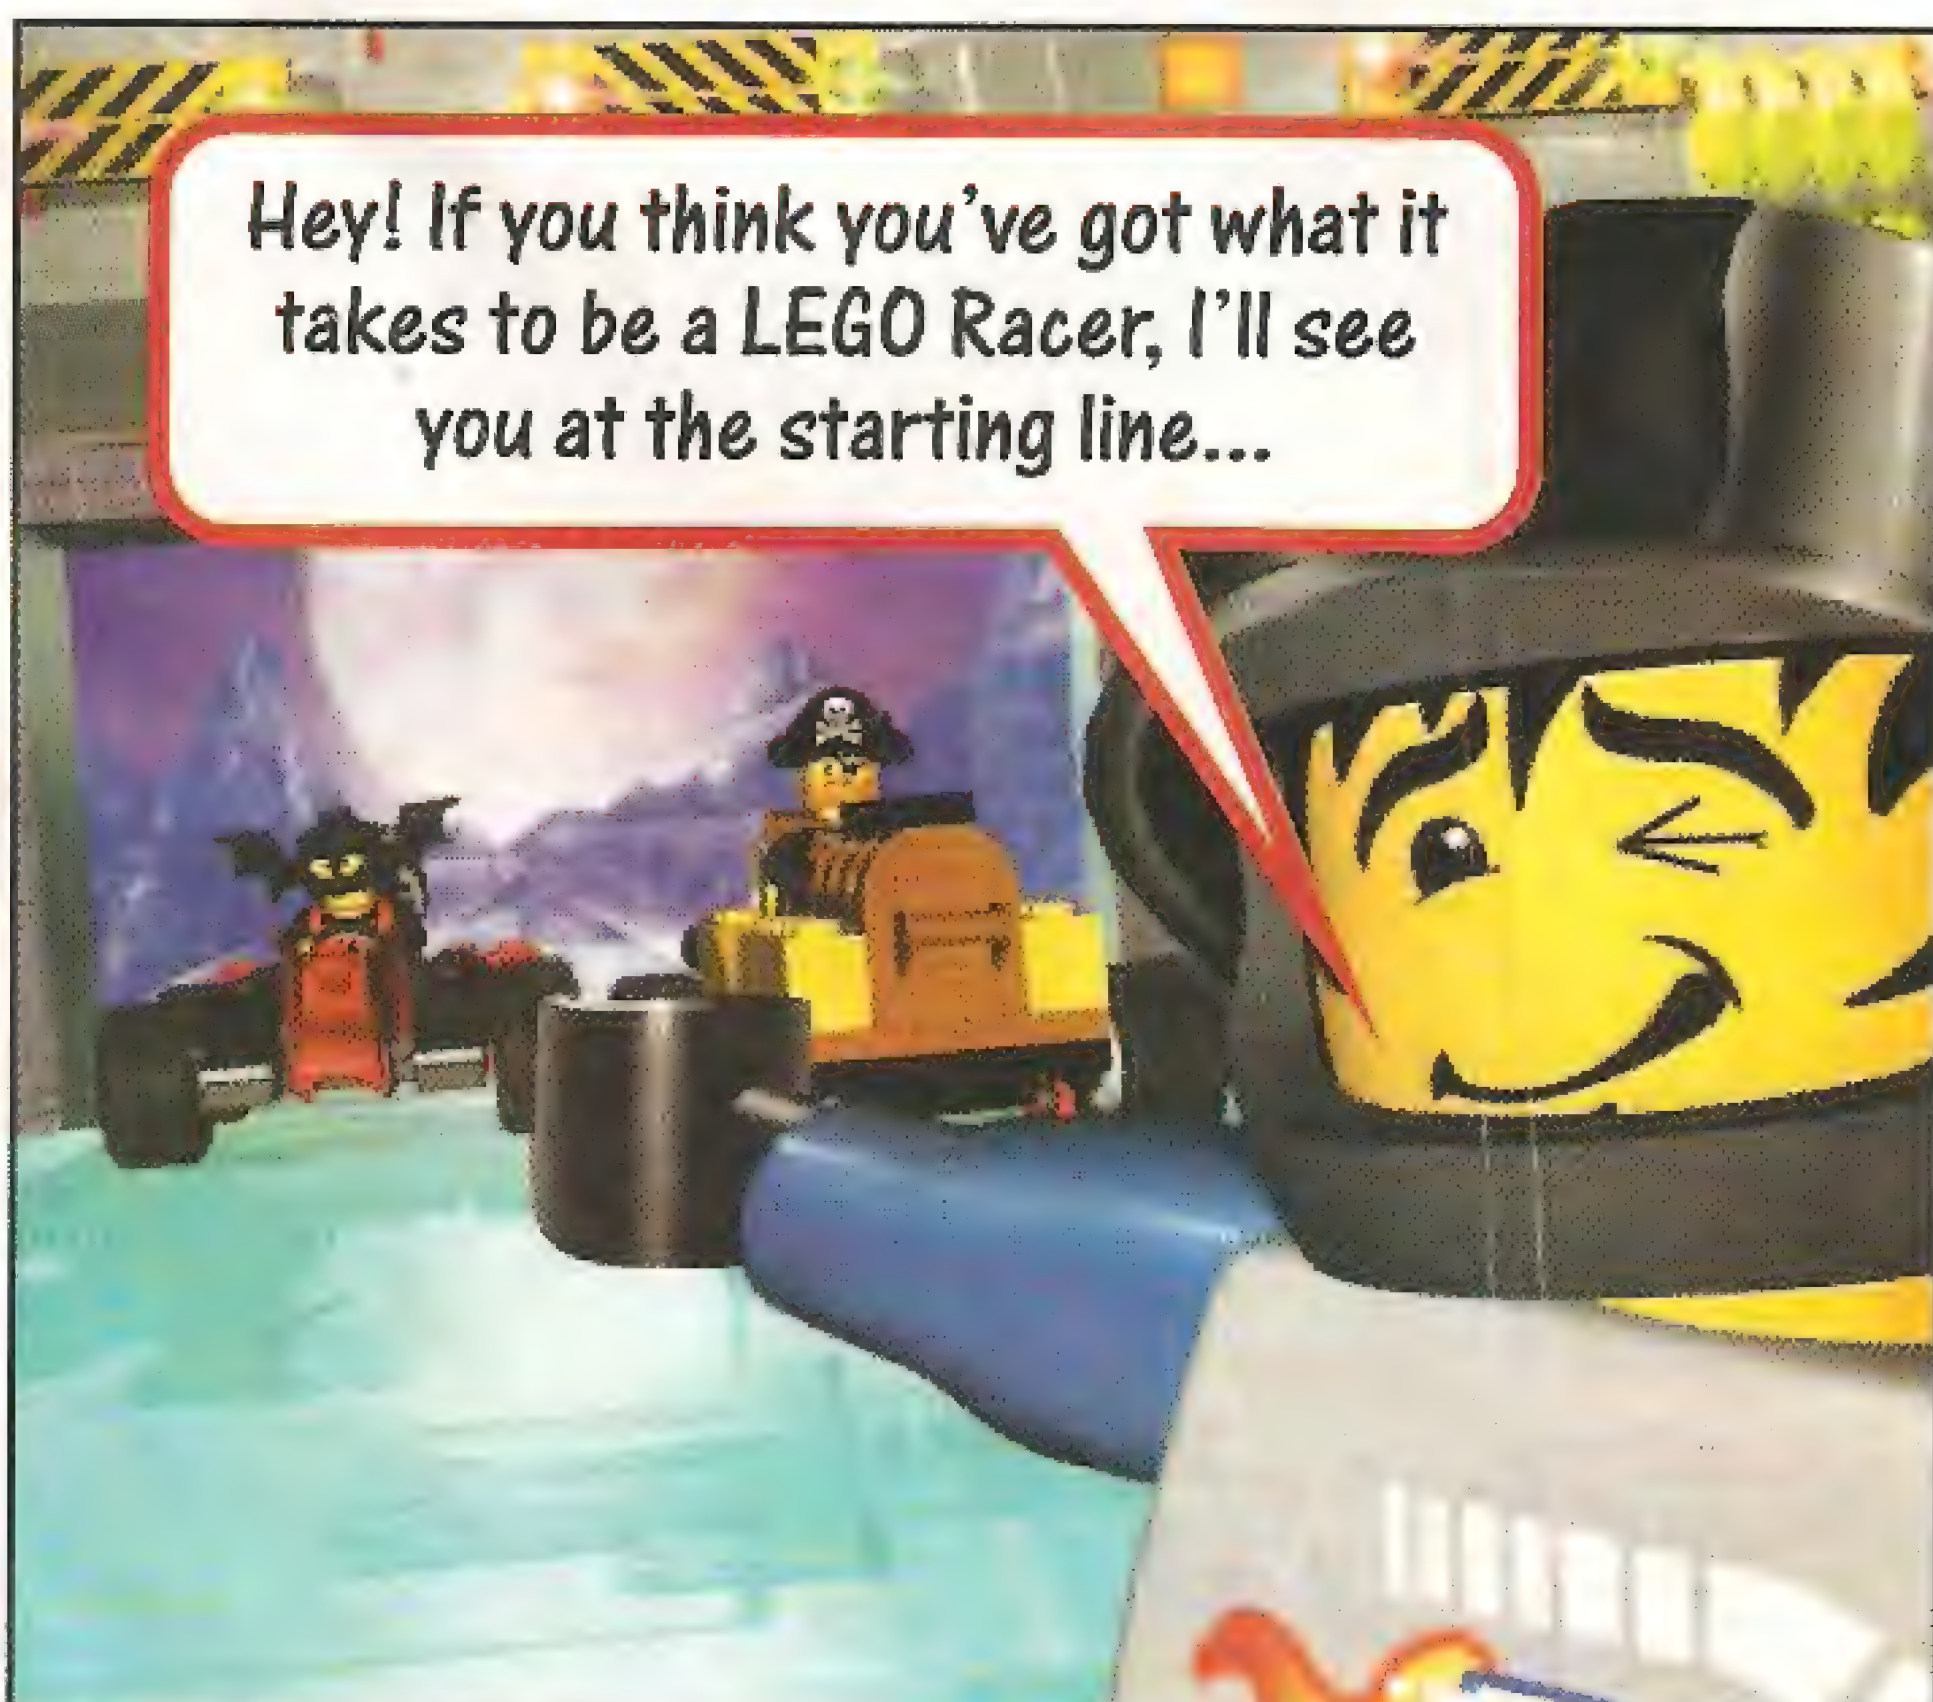

Yee-hah! I missed the avalanche, but the others weren't so lucky!

Back at Veronica's laboratory...

Hooray! Rocket Racer is the winner! What a race!

Call that a race? I didn't even reach my top speed!

Hey! If you think you've got what it takes to be a LEGO Racer, I'll see you at the starting line...

Catch me if you can!

ZOOOOMM!

Adventures

Formula 1 racing is one of the most popular sports in the world. Drivers race incredibly fast cars and try to beat each other to find out who is the best!

There are many famous motor racing events and races around the world. Some of the most well-known include the

Le Mans 24 Hour Race, Silverstone and Monaco.

There are two sets of wings, or aerofoils, on a Formula 1 car that lift the vehicle and help it go faster.

Racing Cars

Racing teams have their own workshops at the side of tracks, called the pits. During a race, cars stop here to get more fuel and change tyres.

Timing is important during races, so pit mechanics are trained to work at lightning speed!

Racing drivers keep in touch with their crews thanks to small radio transmitters built into their helmets.

Formula 1 cars can travel at incredible speeds of over 200 miles per hour!

If a race track is dry, cars are fitted with treadless tyres, called slicks. These allow more of the tyre to be on the track, making a car more stable.

Quick-build Racing Car

Build this fantastic racing car in six easy-to-follow steps!

Build the racing car's base first.

Now construct the next section of the car.

Fix the top section of the car to the base.

Add a steering wheel for your LEGO driver.

These two tube pieces help protect the LEGO driver.

This racing car has four wheels, but you could try adding more to your model.

This racing car mostly uses Freestyle pieces, but also uses special bricks from other sets. Don't worry if you don't have the same bricks. Be Creative!

Take a picture of your own racing car and send it to us!

We've added two great exhausts to our racing car.

More building ideas!

This cool racing car has two huge exhausts!

You could add a big engine to your racing vehicle.

You only need a few LEGO pieces to make a great racing car!

Puzzles

Behind the Scenes

The oldest LEGO model shop can be found in LEGOLAND Billund in Denmark. It was started in 1971 and now has 24 model designers and builders, constructing such amazing models as New York's Statue of Liberty!

The model is constructed in four separate sections, around a central column for support.

Expert Tip!

LEGO model makers have special work areas with all the equipment and bricks they need close at hand. They use glue guns to stick the finished models together.

In real life, people enter the Statue of Liberty through an entrance at the back and climb internal staircases.

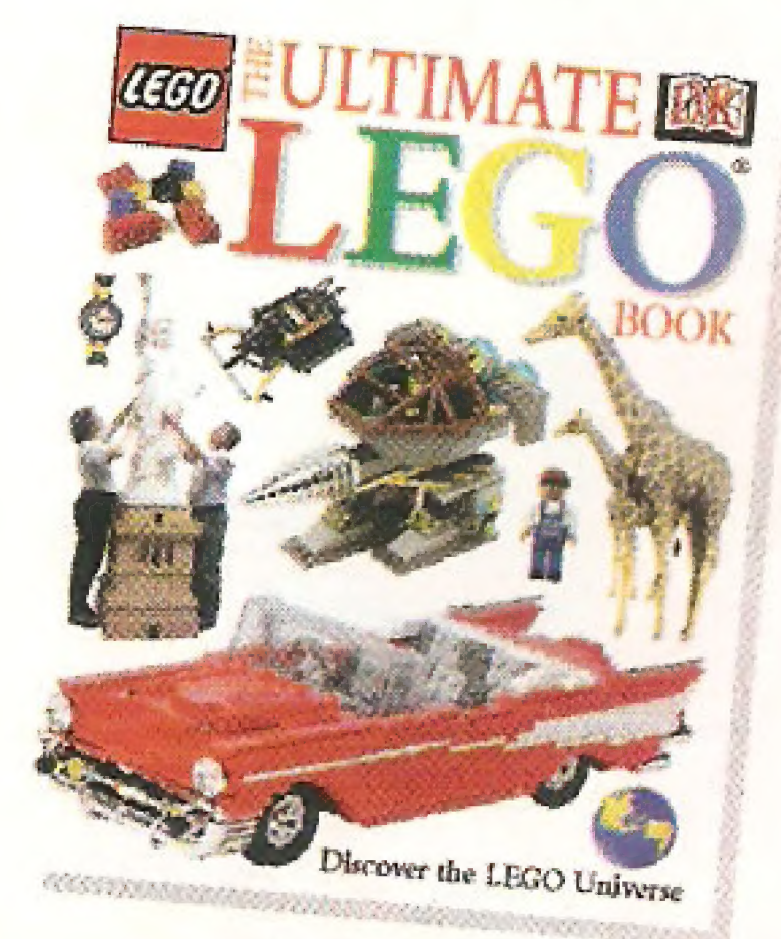

Translucent bricks are used for the Statue of Liberty's torch to allow the light to shine through.

Viewing gallery lights in the statue's crown shine brightly.

The model's head is able to bow to welcome visitors!

The Statue of Liberty model weighs 190 kg and contains 12,200 LEGO bricks!

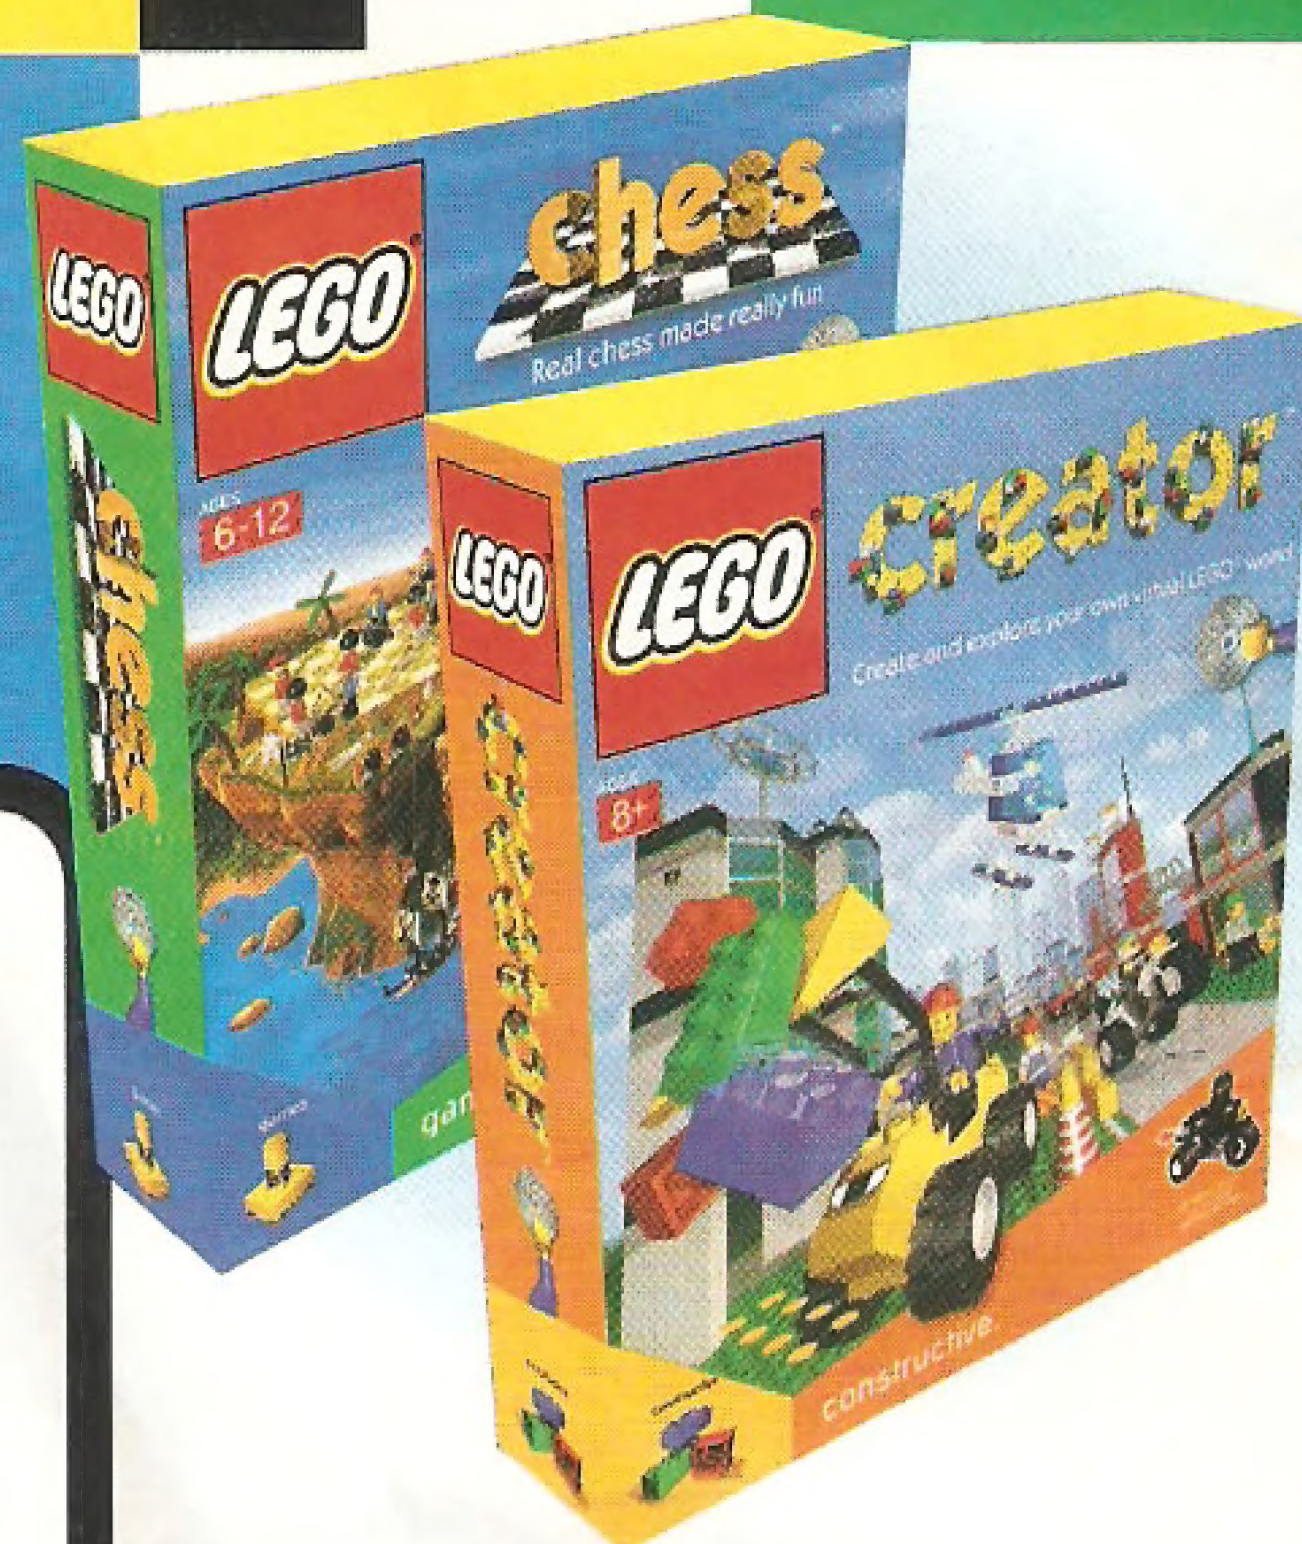

Taken from the Ultimate LEGO Book, due to be published by Dorling Kindersley on August 26th priced £12.99.
Available through DKFL from May 1st.
Call Freephone 0500 235351 for a DKFL advisor.
Also available from LEGO Clothes 'n' Stuff at LEGOLAND® Windsor from April 1st.
